THE REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION

Last Wednesday the Republican party of Massachusetts held their convention in Boston to nominate candidates Governor, Lieut. Governor and other offices, which important duty they performed in grand style. The convention was large, entirely harmonious, and enthusiastic to an unusual degree. It was evident too, that the young blood that is engrossed in the praise-worthy work of providing cushioned arm-chairs in the rear for the "wheel-horses" that are becoming superannuated, permeated the convention, and gave it more life than any similar gathering has shown for years. It was a very encouraging omen.

The candidates nominated were: For Governor, Hon. Oliver Ames of Easton, who received 945 votes out of 994, the whole number; for Lieut. Governor, Hon. J. Q. A. Brackett of Boston was nominated on the second ballot; Secretary of State, Henry B. Pierce; Treasurer, A. W. Beard; Auditor, Charles R. Ladd; Attorney General, E. J. Sherman.

The Republican Sixth Councilor District convention is to be held in Jackson Hall, Lowell, next Monday, October 4, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, as will more fully appear by the notice of the Chairman and Secretary of the Councillor Committee published elsewhere in this issue of the JOURNAL. There will be two principal candidates before the convention, Jewett of Lowell, and Trull of Lawrence, with the chances for the nomination strongly in favor of the former. We have been informed that both are worthy gentlemen and will fill the office with credit, but Lowell is entitled to the candidate this year, and there is a disposition to let her have it.

The Middlesex County Republican convention will be held at Lowell next Wednesday at which a full county ticket will be placed in nomination. There will be some strife over the vacancy occasioned by the expiration of the term of one member of the Board of County Commissioners there being several candidates in the field for it. Our hope is that the convention will have the good sense to nominate E. E. Thompson, Esq., of this place, than whom a better man for the office could not be selected.

The Bay State Agricultural Show and Fair will open in the Mechanic Charitable Association building on Huntington Avenue, Boston, on next Tuesday, and will continue until Friday night. The managers expect it will be a very large and excellent exhibition of Bay State products, agricultural, horticultural, mechanical, art, etc., and that it will be patronized by hosts of people. The entries already received warrant such a conclusion.

The Democratic Congressional convention to nominate a candidate for the 5th District will be held in city building, Cambridgeport, on Wednesday, October 13.

The following named gentlemen representing the Woburn Republican committee to confer with the Reading Republican committee concerning the matter of Representation in the General Court by the two towns: N. W. Titus, P. G. Hanson, C. F. Spear, F. A. Buckman, E. E. Thompson. A conference will be held this week, and the matter definitely settled.

On account of the absence of some members the Republican Town Committee postponed their organization from last Monday to next Monday evening. It is about time they had a regular meeting and the team started. We expect the "new broom" will sweep all before it this fall, but to do so they must be up and dressed early, and always on hand like a "picked-up" dinner.

Mr. Kelley of Burlington was jogging along in his wagon near the Sun Light Co's factory in this village, last Monday evening, when all of a sudden so to speak the mare leaped and struck out for freedom, which upset the wagon and threw Mr. Kelley promiscuously like all over the premises. His head and neck were badly cut by the fall and he was taken into Leeds's drugstore in quite an unavoidable condition physically and a doctor called. The horse broke loose from the carriage and with one shaft ran up Main street to the loop street railroad where he had the biggest kind of a time among the large heaps of stones, gravel, lanterns, scatting and other impedimenta, and was finally caught in a very demoralized condition farther up the street.

Not much business of vital importance was transacted, at the regular meeting of the School Board last Tuesday evening. The most important was the resignation of Miss Hudson, and some cases of insubordination. The Superintendent's monthly report was made, accepted and filed. BRITISH BOOKS IN AMERICA.

An Englishman Who Sees Much to Complain in His Own Countrymen.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton is in correspondence with a number of eminent women of England and America for the purpose of organizing a committee to undertake still another partial revision of the Scriptures. She writes: "We propose to bring into the compass of a small volume all that is said of women, with commentaries thereon. The material covers only a tenth part of the Bible. As we propose to make this a valuable, learned volume, and to be all done by women, it is important to find thorough Hebrew and Greek scholars as well as those capable of scientific and philosophical research. As this will be a labor of months, or perhaps years, it is important to organize as soon as possible." Mrs. Lucy Stone-Blackwell editorially comments thus: "There is no doubt the texts of the Bible have been used to hold women in subjection, just as they were used to keep the slaves in their chains. But there is also no doubt that a proper rendering of these very texts do, in many cases, make an entirely different meaning. When Oberlin College, half a century ago, admitted women to the study of Greek and Hebrew, I well remember the eagerness with which the texts were studied and searched on which gave special instruction for women. Nor shall I forget the delight with which we hailed the fact that a fair rendering would have put an entirely opposite meaning to many of our passages which, as now translated, make Paul, the great apostle, utterly inconsistent with himself and with decent women. A 'revision' which would give the world the benefit of these truer renderings, would be invaluable. Nevertheless, the eternal right existed before texts were written and is independent of them. Slowly but surely all questions are coming to be settled not by texts only by authority, but by their inherent right. When they are so settled, and in the case of the slave, or of the divine right of kings, the texts are no longer heard of. So it will be in the case of texts that have subjected women; they will go out of sight and out of mind."

A woman who commences life with a soundly trained mind and well-developed capacities will be fitted to perform, with greater efficiency than had she been badly trained, whatever duties, public or private, may devolve upon her. The word "wife" is included in the word "woman," therefore the object of girls' education should be to produce not good wives merely, but good women. A woman is seldom or never so weak as to possess no influence over her husband; in some degree, either for better or for worse, she is sure to exercise some control over the tenor of his life and thoughts. A woman whose whole life is bounded by her own domestic circle and who has no thought or care for anything outside it, is certain to infect her husband with this sort of selfishness, to damp and perhaps destroy his public spirit and sense of public duty. For constant companionship with a person of inferior and ill-developed capacities must deteriorate the most powerful mind.—Millicent Garrett Fawcett.

"Hans Brinker," the admirable juvenile of the popular editor of Saint Nicholas, Mary Mapes Dodge, has been translated into Dutch, German, French, Italian and Russian. The French Academy has awarded Mrs. Dodge a prize of 1500 francs.

WHO OWNS THE BABY?

Under this caption, H. B. B. writes in a recent "Woman's Journal": "In Massachusetts the husband has the sole custody of the child or children. He is their sole legal guardian; the sole head of the family. So long as husband and wife live together the custody and control of minor children vest exclusively in the husband. He may remove them from their mother. He may place them in the charge of strangers. In order to obtain any control over them, as against his will, the wife must first break up the home. She must leave him and take steps for a separation from him. Then she may apply to the court and the judge may at his discretion give her the children or he may give them to the husband. There is nothing to prevent any father from sending his children away from the mother to another State or to a foreign country. This legal power has repeatedly been exercised, and may be again. The fear of losing their children keeps many women from leaving their husband, and this fact is often stated by lawyers and legislators as an excuse for leaving the law unchanged. The father has even the power appointing a guardian other than the mother by will; the mother has no such power so long as her husband is alive. But in that case the mother has a right to the society of her fatherless children and the court may make the necessary orders or direct from time to time in relation to such custody or possession." Massachusetts is not yet the commonwealth in which ignorant mothers can afford to sit by the wheels of social justice and reform by "shaving all the rights they want." Kansas, Nebraska, Michigan and New Jersey are the only States in which mother and fathers are equal guardians of their children.

The Orchards of California.

One of the most delightful sights is to be enjoyed in driving from Sacramento to Walnut Grove, upon the river. The road for miles is on top of the levee, broad and smooth. One is constantly associate the mountains with scenes of death and devastation. Not even in the transparent air of the Libyan desert, flickering over the burning sands behind the huge pyramids of Gizeh, are the splendors of the dying sunset more glorious. The hidden furnaces would seem mysteriously to add an intensity of sympathetic reflection to those celestial fires of orange and crimson, till the fading lights, fading down, and the broken precipices blaze in what may be prosaically described as great breaths of purple pickled cabbage. No artist has ever caught those tints, which are simply inseparable by pen or brush.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Pear orchards, also in full bloom, and intermingled with those of apricot and plum.—Chicago Herald.

Consumption can be cured.

Not by any secret remedy, but by proper, healthy exercise and the judicious use of oil. The best oil is the Oil of Cypress, with its properties, containing the healing, strengthening, and purifying qualities of these two valuable specifics in their fullest form. Prescribed universally by physicians. Take no other.

Teach self-denial, and make its practice pleasurable, and you create for the world a destiny more sublime than ever issued from the brain of the wildest dreamer.

100 Doses One Dollar.

Is inseparably connected with Hood's Saraparilla, and is true of no other medicine. It is an unanswerable argument as strength and economy. It is a safe remedy, and should be abandoned as worse than failures. The medical profession has been slow to learn this. Nothing satisfactory can be accomplished with poultices, snuffs, powders, syringes, astringents or any similar application, because they are irritants, and should be avoided as worse than failures. A multitude of persons who had for years borne all the worry and pain that catarrh can inflict testify to radical and permanent cures wrought by Ely's Cream Balm.

Very Remarkable Recovery.

Mr. Geo. V. Willing, of Manchester, Mich., writes: "My wife has been almost helpless for five years, so helpless that she could not turn over in bed alone. She used two bottles of Electric Bitters, and is so much bettered, that she can now turn over in her own bed. Electric Bitters will do all that is claimed for them. Hundreds of testimonials attest their great curative powers. Only fifty cents a bottle at Wm. H. Willing's."

The Tea of Formosa.

I have recently explored and traversed the island between Tamsui, Twatutsa, and Kehung, in boats, sedan chairs and on foot, crossing it from sea to sea, and going around the north end of it in a steamer, and have never seen a region possessing greater attractions and advantages in surface, soil, and products. The valleys of the Tamsui and its tributaries, including the lower Kehung, the broad level plains, covered year in and year out with crops which are harvested, but the hills are everywhere in sight, and in many cases are covered to the very top with tea plantations, producing large quantities of the Formosa oolong, or black tea, now so rapidly and deservedly gaining favor throughout the United States.

It is perfectly pure, uncolored and unadulterated, and is carefully prepared and packed under the supervision of foreign houses. It is grown upon virgin land, and is peculiarly rich and smooth in flavor. As some would say, there isn't a headache or a nervous tremor in a hoghead of it. It is surely replacing both Amy and Japanese tea, and the output is increasing at the rate of about 22 per cent. per year. Its cultivation was begun only a few years ago, but since nearly all the hill and mountain regions of the island are arid, its growth is evident that any quantity required by the world can be supplied. The soil of the tea fields is a reddish, clay-like loam, which at a distance contrasts strongly with the green covering of the unplanted hillsides. The plantations are generally small, containing, as a rule, from a quarter of an acre to three or four acres.—Foreign Cor. New York Sun.

Facts Concerning Fur.

According to my informant there is not the money in furs as in former years. Competition has had a tendency to drive down the price of skins, such as fox, marten, raccoon, and coyote, undergo an interesting softening operation. They are plunged in huge vats of rancid butter and after having been thoroughly permeated are taken out and placed on a clean surface. They are then kneaded and made pliable by the bare feet of workmen. To eradicate the grease, the skins are rubbed down with heated sand and hardwood sawdust. The principal skins in use are those of the otter, beaver, marten, fox, mink, raccoon, Siberian squirrel and mink. Robes are made from the skins of bears and Bengal tigers. The last named animal's skin is worth from $100 to $500. The skins of all natural furred animals make handsome robes and rugs. The belly cuttings of fur-bearing animals make the finest trimmings. In former years the wearing of furs was confined to the wealthy, but now all classes, both rich and poor, are fond of furs.

Death Rate of Various Nations.

In France 45 per cent. of the deaths are of persons over fifty years of age; and what is more remarkable, 25 per cent. are of persons over seventy years of age. The French present the best showing, except, perhaps, the Irish, or any nation as regards long life. Only about 26 per cent. of their deaths are of children under five years. About 6 per cent. only are of persons from five to twenty years.

In France 45 per cent. of the deaths are of persons under twenty years of age. About 25 per cent. are of persons over fifty-five years. One-half of the deaths are of persons over forty-five years. In England and Wales only 33 per cent. of the deaths are of persons over forty-five years, while in the United States only 30 per cent. are of persons over forty years of age.—Cor. Brooklyn Eagle.

Rotation of Forests.

Rotation of forest growth has long been the subject of speculation—for example, how the oak, taking 200 years to ripen, after the latter is cleared off. In a paper contributed to The American Naturalist Mr. John T. Campbell gives some notes of his own observation on the agency of birds and animals in this respect. Of these he gives the palm to the crow. "I have seen crows," he says, "gather by the hundreds and have a regular pow-wow or mass convention. As they start to fly away, if not all, will drop something. I have found that other birds, walking, hawks, buzzards, hawks, gannets, gulls, ticks, egrets, shells, pebbles, etc. As a crow leaves an oak he will pluck an acorn, which he may fly five miles, and light on a beach tree, where something else will attract his attention, when he will drop the acorn, and may be pluck a pod of beech nut, and fly away somewhere else."

The Jews' Quarter in Rome.

The Jews' quarter in Rome will in a week or two time be a thing of the past. From the sanitary point of view the demolition of the Ghetto is no doubt highly desirable; but the traveler seldom troubles himself about the health of the people whose streets he visits, and he will probably be glad to see that the Jews will be gone. He will, however, be sorry to see the pictureque ruins creeping up beside the ancient monuments, leaning against the gate of Octavians, swarming with an active and industrious folk who lived, we are told, on their doorsteps.

The Jews had made themselves there a sort of second fatherland; their habits, their traditions, had followed them here, and they were a little town to themselves. The present government dispossesses them, and gives them wide streets, and Israel is again dispersed. Paul M. Gazette.

Sellie Grant Sartoris' Life.

The country will be glad to learn that the extravagant stories of the alleged life of Sellie Grant Sartoris, the daughter of Gen. Grant, and her cruel treatment by her husband and his family, are altogether without foundation. It is stated on the authority of the Grant family, that her life abroad is a cheerful one, and that she is happy in it, and instead of being poor as has been alleged, the senior Sartoris is wealthy, and is besides thoroughly fond of his American daughter.—Frank Leslie's.

An examination of the carcasses of the jack-rabbits which are dying by thousands in the eastern part of Nevada shows that the animals are filled with tape-worms.—Western Letter.

Consumption can be cured.

Not by any secret remedy, but by proper, healthy exercise and the judicious use of oil. The best oil is the Oil of Cypress, with its properties, containing the healing, strengthening and purifying qualities of these two valuable specifics in their fullest form. Prescribed universally by physicians. Take no other.

A slave could be bought for about seventy-five cents in ancient Rome. This was at the time of the conquest of Great Britain, and one single Roman family owned as many as 400 slaves. Among them were some well-educated and superior people. Some were doctors, some were tutors to the children and some were artists.

Teach self-denial, and make its practice pleasurable, and you create for the world a destiny more sublime than ever issued from the brain of the wildest dreamer.

Facts Worth Knowing.

In all diseases of the nasal mucous membrane the remedy used must be non-irritating. The medical profession has been slow to learn this. Nothing satisfactory can be accomplished with poultices, snuffs, powders, syringes, astringents or any similar application, because they are irritants, and should be abandoned as worse than failures. A multitude of persons who had for years borne all the worry and pain that catarrh can inflict testify to radical and permanent cures wrought by Ely's Cream Balm.

It is often said that second thoughts are best. So they are in matters of judgment, but not in matters of conscience.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, OCT. 8, 1886.

The JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of S. Horan, 30 Main Street, A. Bush, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 25, Cummings Street, Samuel E. Wyman, North Woburn, Cooper's News Stand at the Centre Depot, and at G. P. Brown's, Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 a. m. Thursday forenoon.

The Middlesex county Republican convention was held at Lowell last Wednesday, and the following were the candidates nominated: for Sheriff, Henry G. Cushing of Lowell; District Attorney, W. B. Stevens of Stoneham; County Commissioner, William S. Frost; Special Commissioners, Edward E. Thompson of Woburn, Lyman Dike of Stoneham; Commissioners of Insolvency, F. T. Greenhalge, George J. Burns, John C. Kennedy; County Committee, C. H. Richardson, H. W. Pitman, W. A. Alley, Lyman Dike, J. L. Sargent, J. W. Kimball, A. D. Fessenden, George C. Bent, J. M. Russell.

On the morning of the 3d instant appeared the first number of the Boston Sunday Record. Although acquainted with the enterprise of its publishers and talent of its editors we examined our copy with considerable surprise for there was a great deal more of it than we had expected to see. The quality of course we knew would be of the best, but we were not prepared for quite so much of a good thing. Kept right up to the high standard of its initial number the Sunday Record will be as great a success as the Evening Record has been.

Henry Cabot Lodge's address to the Republican State Convention last week, of which he was the president, proved him to be a gentleman who has a sound head and finished education. It was a very able and polished production. The opposition papers have said but little about the speech because after a careful perusal they failed to find a point which could be successfully assailed.

At the 6th Councillor District convention held at Lowell last Monday, Francis Jewett, Esq., of Lowell received the nomination by a good working majority. The Lawrence people fought nobly for their candidate, Mr. Truall, but failed to make the connections. We are credibly informed that Mr. Jewett is a good man for the honorable and responsible position.

Attention is called to the card of Miss E. F. Mahoney. She is an artist in hair, has had large experience, and our people will find her worthy of patronage.

There is not a paper in Middlesex county that has as many new ads. each week, by fifty per cent, as the JOURNAL. The way they pour in is truly wonderful.

Mr. J. B. Sawtell has purchased the Smith farm opposite his home. It is said he bought it cheap and will make money on it, as he does on all his real estate purchases.

There was a slight fire at Mr. Estbrook's bakery last Friday which was extinguished with a good deal less damage than would have been done had it occurred in the night.

Moses Given rescued Jacob Richardson from perilous situation under the wheels of one of last Sunday evening's trains from Boston. As it was Mr. Richardson was considerably cut up.

Capt. McKay of Woburn's last year's polo team went down and played a game with the farmers of Haverhill last week. Or, perhaps it was the Newport agriculturalists after all.

The Woburn Workers will hold their next meeting in the vestry of the Congregational church, Saturday, Oct. 16, at 3 o'clock, p. m. There will be recitations, singing, etc. at 4 o'clock.

A nice little boy baby came to brighten up and make more lively James Collins's house the other day, with which he is tickled almost to death. He is going to make a cornet soloist of the lad.

Mr. Cooper has received a permit from Supt. Mellen, and will sell the daily papers in the depot every morning until 8:20, and the Sunday papers until 10 a. m. Sunday. The public demand is great.

Last Wednesday forenoon Bernard Murphy of No. Woburn was all dressed up in his best Sunday-go-to-meeting clothes and as happy as a clam. It was a 13-14 girl. Cigars all hands round!

Gage & Co. have one of the best stocks of cloths for men's suits that has ever been brought into this town. The styles are the very latest, the fabrics are of great variety, and quality unsurpassed.

The Rev. Henry S. Nash, professor in the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, will officiate in Trinity Episcopal Church on next Sunday morning. The rector will officiate in the evening.

A complimentary concert will be given to Master Lawrence Read at Lyceum Hall next Sunday evening, for which the very best home and foreign talent has been provided. It will be a very fine one.

The ladies of the Baptist Church will have a Harvest Festival and supper on the 21st and 22nd of this month. Great preparations are being made to make this one of the most attractive events of the season.

Dr. Gage was taken suddenly ill at the church last Sunday morning and had to be conveyed home. The trouble was a violent pain in his side which confined him to his bed several days. He is now a good deal better.

Messrs. James Bush & Son, to whom was given the contract by the authorities, have put steam-heating apparatus into the Municipal Building, and it is an excellent piece of work. The Buels are experienced machinists.

Mr. S. T. Brigham and his workmen have painted the Armory and Municipal Building in good style. The colors of body and trimmings make a nice contrast, and the work gives the buildings a neater and more substantial look.

Mr. J. P. Cobb of Boston published a card in this paper in which committees on entertainments, clubs and societies will be interested. He is a well-known and popular vocalist and humorist, and we hope to see him out here this season.

Mr. Gilman F. Jones and lady have gone to Niagara Falls for a visit. Our informant, Mr. Benjamin Hinckley, says that the physical and mental wear and tear of building the street railroad made it absolutely necessary for Mr. Jones to take a vacation and get some rest.

Capt. Crane started up his factory last Monday and is now busy at work. His shut-down was in deference to the sentiment entertained by the Manufacturers' Union, and as few of its Woburn members stopped work on Oct. 1, Capt. Crane resumed operations at his factory.

Hon. B. F. Whitemore's talk on the West, at Board of Trade Rooms, last Tuesday evening, was so full of rich, sweet, juicy meat, and his audience were so pleased with it, that the honorable orator was invited to repeat it before a promiscuous assembly, which he accepted. Due notice of time and place will be given.

Mr. Newton, agent for the Woburn Coal Company, would respectfully inform the people of this town and vicinity that the Company is fully stocked with all the best kinds of coal that are mined for all purposes to which coal is put. In quality, prices and promptness of delivery Mr. Newton asks no odds of anyone.

The Thirtieth Anniversary.

Last week the JOURNAL gave notice that the 30th anniversary of the first installation of Rev. Daniel March, D. D., over the First Congregational church of Woburn, would be duly celebrated on Friday evening, October 1st, at the church, and the same was done. A reception was also given to Dr. March in honor of his birthday, the 70th anniversary of which had occurred a few weeks previously. The two were merged and it required several hours to carry out the interesting programme. The affair originated with a few of the leading members of the church and warm personal friends of the worthy pastor, who held a meeting and appointed the following committees to execute the plans agreed on for the celebration:

Church Committee: Deacons G. R. Gage, G. A. Beau, Alvah Buckman, O. F. Bryant, J. G. Pollard, E. L. Thompson, A. Thompson, Arthur B. Wyman, Messrs. L. H. Allen, J. K. Murdoch, Charles E. Richardson, C. Willard Smith. Parish Committee: G. R. Gage, L. W. Fowle, J. B. McDonald, J. G. Pollard, L. W. Fowle, O. F. Bryant. Music: G. R. Gage, E. E. Thompson, John C. Bush. Deacons: J. K. Murdoch, W. Smith, H. E. Strong, B. McDonald, Dr. Geo. S. Dodge, F. A. Flint, C. M. Strout, J. Howard Nason, C. F. Lyford, F. B. Richardson, Mrs. C. S. Dodge, Mrs. H. E. Smith, Misses R. M. Leath, Marion Howland, Polk: E. E. Thompson, Carriages: L. H. Allen. Reception: J. G. Pollard, L. W. Fowle, O. F. Bryant, G. R. Gage, E. E. Thompson, A. Thompson, A. Buckman, L. H. Allen, J. K. Murdoch, A. B. Wyman, C. W. Smith, F. A. Flint, Usieurs: F. A. Flint (chief), R. H. Chamberlain, J. W. Fox, W. A. Prior, M. Stratton, H. N. Conn, F. B. Richardson, Fred J. Brown, J. F. DeLoria, C. F. Lyford, C. W. Marion. Invitations to be present and participate in the celebration were given to members of the First Church, clergymen and members of local churches, and many prominent citizens of Woburn; members and former ones now away; to several clergymen in neighboring towns, and others, several hundred of whom responded to a personal appearance of Dr. March, in whose honor these public exercises were held:

Daniel March was born in Millbury, Mass., July 21, 1816, graduated at Yale College in 1840, studied Theology at Yale Theological Seminary, was ordained as pastor of the Congregational Church, Cheshire, Conn. 1843. He was afterwards pastor of the First Church in Nashua, N. H., of the 1st Church in Woburn, of the South Church, Brooklyn, N. Y., of the Clinton Street Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia, and again of the First Church in the Unwritten Word. In three seasons of foreign travel he visited all the capitals of Europe, together with Egypt, Arabia Petreca, Syria and various parts of Asia Minor. He has published various books illustrating the Bible—Walks and Holes in the Bible, "Night Scenes in the Bible," "Our Father's House or the Unwritten Word," "From Dark to Dawn," "Home Life in the Bible," "Days of the Son of Man." He was installed as Pastor of the First Church of Woburn Oct. 1, 1856. Of the thirty years since that date, he has been absent and serving in the ministry elsewhere fifteen. During his pastoral of fifteen years in Woburn five hundred and eight have been received to membership in the church. The band of which he has been a part since 1856 has been greatly enlarged and improved.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Selectmen was held last Tuesday afternoon. Kenney was seated. Chairman Read presided, and Clerk Hill kept the records.—The monthly reports of the Chief of Police, Inspector of Milk, etc., and Collector of Taxes were received, accepted and ordered placed on file.—J. J. Carroll was granted a license for billiards.—

A legal opinion was received from the Town's Attorney, J. G. Maguire, Esq., on the matter of Treasurer Dow's refusal to pay what is known as the Kerrigan bill (fully discussed in former issues of the JOURNAL) against the protest of his bondsmen and citizens, which sustained the Treasurer. The opinion was elaborate and exhaustive.

Voted to pay the Police weekly account to the statute.—Bills of the month allowed.—Adjourned.

The celebration of the 60th anniversary of Mr. George W. Kimball's birthday, at his residence on East street, last Monday evening, was the occasion of a large gathering of the numerous friends of Mr. and Mrs. Kimball, and a very pleasant time.

Wednesday, Sept. 22d.—Lovely morning. Woburn is a great place for English from Winchester for Falyan; arrived there at about 4:30 P. M., after a pleasant journey; took our quarters at White Mountain House. House is a great one of us took a pleasant walk to Falyan House, and from our hotel; obtained a fine view of Mount Washington; the summit was white with snow which fell Monday and Tuesday; the views of other mountains and surroundings were very fine. The weather was beautiful. The writer spent a few young ladies and gentlemen spent some time in the evening playing a game.

Thursday, 23d.—Threatening weather; wind east, and a great deal of rain. Took a walk to see the falls, about half a mile from our hotel; a young lady of Woburn and her cousin of Natick, Mass., were gathering some beautiful colored leaves. The writer, who had been with the lady and the writer slipped on smooth rock by the falls, fell down and the lady had her middle finger sprained, and the writer hurt his elbow, like a piece of red wheat, but not severely. A young man, Mr. Fred. Brown, exclaimed, "I am a son of Osgood's, Fails and Chamberlain, Slide, Lower Ammonoosuc River," and Mr. Brown has great interest in seeing the wonders of the Notch and its beautiful surroundings. We took the car to the Summit House for Falyan where we took the closed car for Mount Washington, arriving at the Summit House at 6:35. The ascent was made on a steep grade, and the road was very rough, and the action of this sand and highly carbonized bi-carbonate of soda that generates the gas allotted to; and these ingredients are so pure and so perfectly fitted, that they are not to be equalled.

I suffered for a year with an inflammation in my left eye. Three ulcers formed on the ball, depriving me of sight, and causing great pain. After trying many remedies, and failing to find any that would be of service, I turned to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After using this medicine a short time I was completely cured.

My eyes are now in a splendid condition, as well as my health as ever.

Mrs. Williams, G. C. Ayer, and others, who have been much misinformed as to the value of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, will be sure to know that it is the best of blood purifiers.

A Yankee Trick.

A six-foot Yankee, seated upon a load of brooms, drove his team up before the door of an establishment where he expected to find a purchaser. Jumping from his seat he entered the store and the following colloquy took place:

Yankee—"Can't I sell you a load of brooms to-day, mister?"

Dealer—"No, don't want any."

Yankee—"Better take 'em—sell 'em dog cheap."

Dealer—"Don't want 'em; got enough brooms."

Yankee—"I'll tell you what I'll do. If you'll take the lot, I'll let 'em go for a dollar a dozen; you know they're worth double that."

The dealer stroked his chin for a moment as if in deep thought and then replied: "Well, I don't want any brooms as I told you, but I don't mind making a trade with you."

Yankee—"What sort of a trade?"

Dealer—"Well, I'll take your whole load at a dollar a dozen, and pay you one half cash, you take the other half in trade."

Yankee—"No, you don't, mister! You'll charge me such an offed profit on the other half that I might come out at the little end of the horn."

Dealer—"Oh, no, I promise you that you shall have the goods at just what they cost me."

Yankee—"Wall, mister, that's what I call square dealin'. It's a bargain." And he commenced to unload the brooms in a pile on the sidewalk. When he got through he walked into the store. "There you are, mister; fourteen dozen, which I calculate makes just $7 comin' to me."

Dealer—"Yes, that's right; there's the money. Now what goods do you want for the other $7?"

Yankee—"Wall, I dunno—You see, mister, I hadn't much posted in your other truck, so I guess I'll take brooms!"

"Ninety and Nine."

Sankey, the revival singer, tells of his favorite song and the way it originated:

"The Ninety and Nine" I place at the head of the list. I well remember how I came to compose the music to the words. It was done on the spur of a great and exhausted feeling. When I was going from Edinburgh to Glasgow I picked up a paper on the train and came across the words. They at once struck me as being full of feeling, so I hid the paper away in my pocket. The words rang in my ears. At Glasgow we had a glorious meeting. Mr. Moody preached from the twenty-third psalm of David. He touched the hearts of the people. When he was about to close his sermon I did not know what to sing. I wanted to select something appropriate to the sermon, but I found nothing suitable. Those grand words, full of poetry, simple, yet beautiful: "He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; he leadeth me beside the still waters; he restoreth my soul; he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake," as Mr. Moody closed with them, acted as an inspiration. I hastily pulled the crumpled newspaper from my pocket and sang the words of "The Ninety and Nine" to music that came to me then and there. I did not know how the accompaniment would go. The feeling of the moment carried me through, and I afterwards wrote the music.

Ostrich Peculiarities.

Te ostrich is an anomaly, a fond parent at one time, and again devouring its offspring, showing an idiotic gentleness now, and again kicking one of its little ones into kingdom come. It will scan the horizon with ten wisdom of an astronomer, and tumble headlong into a muck hole at its feet.

A single wire will keep it in bounds at ordinary times and a jack rabbit will drive it into a spasm of terror. There is nothing on earth like it, I do believe, unless it may be a woman trying to cross Kearney street on a Saturday afternoon. Their squeak on their launches and stretch out their ungainly necks almost level with the ground, and sway them from side to side, making a strange drumming sound somewhere in their true inwardness. When grown they are the ugliest things on record, and look all leg. They are connoisseurs in metal buttons, vinegarettes, and even hairpins, and will not hesitate to transfer one or more at a gulp from your person to their own cast-iron stomachs, with a knowing wink of their red eyes; but it was a game of give an take, for in retaliation the visitor would make a grab, and many valuable plumes were lost in this way.

Very Remarkable Recovery.

Mr. Geo. V. Willing, of Manchester, Mich., writes: "My wife has been almost helpless for five years, so helpless that she could not turn over in bed alone. She used two Bottles of Electric Bitters, and is so much improved that she is able now to do her own work." The medical man that is claimed for them. There is a man in Italy who avers that he discovered in Africa a concoction of herbs which renders the human body insensible to hunger or thirst or poison, without at the same time destroying life or injuring the body in any way. After taking a quantity of the concoction he entered upon a long period of fasting, taking into his stomach only four glasses of water daily. A number of physicians became interested in his case, and followed it curiously. At last the experimenter had expressed himself as feeling very well, and was about to take poison.

LITERARY NOTICES.

Few numbers of THE CENTURY have appealed to so wide an audience with topics of such general interest as the October issue. It is important for what it promises is no less than by what it gives. An editorial in Topics of the Time announces that in the November number, will be given the first chapters of The Authorized Life of Lincoln, by John G. Nicolay and John Hay, who were the President's private secretaries.

As Lincoln is the greatest figure in American history, so are his chosen biographers by opportunity, no less than literary faculty, best qualified to make the story of his life a gain to American literature. Readers who have not the personal interest of the veterans of the war in the battle series, will find in the history of Lincoln, as it appears serially and carefully illustrated, the blending of literary charm, the romance of genius and the interest of momentous events; soldier-readers, as the war series becomes less and less prominent as a feature of the magazine, will in the biography of the civic chieftain a larger a motive of the leading personalities and motives of the struggle.

Ignorance and immaturity generally laugh at science, but this time the scientist's symptoms endorsed them. A pain, about the size of a man's hand, slapped the top of the assistant state entomologist, Jones, assistant state entomologist, spectacles on nose, microscope in hand, glowing with enthusiasm, pimpled with heat.

Professor Timotheus N. Jones was a great genius, but even the immature young potatoes in the adjoining field must have winked their blind eyes at the man who would kneel in that tempest of sunshine without a cabbage leaf in his hand.

When Timotheus recovered consciousness he was in a cool room. He took the pleasure of tearing his clothes with muslin curtains. The swaying motion of these adornments made him dizzy, so he closed his eyes again.

"Don't speak," said a voice. "Lie perfectly quiet till the doctor comes."

He had no intention of speaking, but this moved him to inquire, "Where am I?"

"At my house," said the voice, which emanated from a comfortable, middle-aged farmeress, who was applying mustard plasters to the soles of his feet. "My son found you over in the cornfield, and brought you in. He's gone for the doctor now. S—h! don't talk. You ain't dead."

The virtues of St. Jacobs Oil, as proclaimed by millions of restored sufferers, should induce everyone to supply his house with this great specific. It conquers pain.

A vermin exterminator of Boston recently offered to clear a large brewery of a vast quantity of flies which had collected by the million in the beer hogheads, for $250. The proprietor agreed to the terms and the man went to work. "Roll these barrels into the ice-room," he said. The barrels were rolled into the room where ice was made. "Freeze 'em" said the vermin exterminator. The brewery men were surprised that they had not thought of that simple remedy. They tried it, and in a short time swept out countless numbers of frozen flies.

RENOMINATED.

Last Monday afternoon the Republicans of the 5th Congressional District held a convention in Boston and renominated Hon. E. D. Hayden a candidate to represent them in the next Congress. There was, of course, no opposition to him and will not be enough at the polls in November to prevent his re-election. Mr. Hayden was the best man the party could select for their Congressional standard-bearer, and it would not be stretching the truth to say he is the best man in the District for the place. Public interests have been carefully and intelligently looked after by him in the last two years and it is safe to say that they will not suffer a hindrance in the future.

Mr. Hayden's election in November is assured. No matter who the Democrats nominate their candidate can by no conceivable probability be chosen, because, first, the District is largely Republican; and, second, Mr. Hayden is popular with all classes, and will draw large reinforcements from the Democratic party and Mugwump faction.

ROBERT TREAT PAYNE AGAIN.

The Democrats of the 5th Congressional District held a convention at Cambridgeport last Wednesday to nominate a candidate. Mayor Russell of Cambridge declined to allow the use of his name, and Robert Treat Payne of Waltham was nominated by acclamation. He was not present, and whether the committee will be able to find him remains to be seen. At any rate, whether Payne accepts or not, Mr. Hayden will have an easy walk-over.

The prohibition party of this town will hold a caucus to nominate a candidate for the Legislature and for the transaction of other business, at Fraternity Hall, on next Monday evening, October 18, at 8 o'clock, to which all are invited.

Revs. Fr. Qualey and McDonnell of St. Charles church, this place, attended the funeral of Rev. Fr. Donnelly at Medford, last Monday, which was also attended by a large number of clergymen from the city and surrounding country.

We call attention to the card of Mr. Stephen Grover in this paper. He comes highly recommended as a tuner of pianos and in every way a reliable gentleman. His work is everywhere approved, and we have no doubt our officers do.

The Democratic Senatorial convention for this District will be held at Ayer Junction next Tuesday. We hear that the party in the centre and west parts of the District and a good many in Woburn want Thomas H. Hill, Esq., to accept the nomination, but whether he will or not we are unable to say. The K. of L. and laboring class will support him cordially and want him for a candidate, and it is probable he will be the man in the right place.

The Woburn Coal Company would like to have the people compare the different kinds of coal which they keep for all purposes with that sold by other dealers and pass judgment on the same. Mr. Newton, the agent, thinks such a comparison would result very favorably to the coal of his company.

There is a good deal of uncertainty as to labor matters here. Things are trembling in the balance. It may be peace, harmony and good times; and it may be a long, bitter and unprofitable fight. We understand the K. of L. will put up with almost anything but a general reduction of wages.

We have on hand for next week "The Rime of the Ancient Tennis-Player," written expressly for the JOURNAL, which will make a stir among the tennis-players of Woburn. It is a rather—more fun in it than a horse can haul—and every tennis gentleman and lady will want a copy of the paper, or should have.

If the father of the town who has charge of such matters will give some attention to removing the hydrant on Market Square in pursuance to the vote of our people an accident and consequent damage for the town to pay may be avoided. There is hardly room for a carriage and street car to pass abreast of that hydrant.

The Woburn Republican Town Committee and the Reading Republican Town Committee have had a conference and settled on the basis of legislative representation for this year. They agreed that each town should have a candidate and that arrangements for the future should be left until the exigencies of the case demanded their settlement.

The complimentary concert given to Master Lawrence Read in Lyceum Hall, last Sunday evening, was patronized by a crowded house. The young gentleman has hosts of friends and they all turned out to give him a lift and enjoy the very excellent concert. It was a very fine musical entertainment in which some of the best home and foreign talent participated.

Previously there has been a great deal of noise in the railroad yards between 12 and 3 o'clock at night, and yesterday we learned the cause of it: the cargoes of coal shipped by Mr. J. B. McDonald are nearly all received here at night, and unloading the long trains of cars keeps the engines at work, and their ringing and whistle-blowing is the origin of all the commotion we hear.

Mr. F. B. Richardson gave a most interesting sketch of his present tour at the meeting of the First Woburn C. L. S. C. last Tuesday evening.

An inmate of the Soldiers' Home at Chelsea writes to us as follows: "If you will inform your readers that we would like to have them send us a few eating apple or pears, if they have any that they have any that they would like to donate to the Home we will be very much obliged to you for your kindness, and also to them, if they send any. Please inform them to direct to No. 1 Pemberton Square, Boston, where our market-man will take them." We hope that those of our generous hearted people who read this item and have fruit will send some of it to the Home for the veterans.

The Republican Town Committee have called a caucus to be held on Friday evening, Oct. 22, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the Legislature. We expect to witness a warm work at it. Headquarters ought to be filled to overflowing.

We are indebted to Mr. Dean Dudley, author of several historical works, for part one of "A History of the Dudley Family," recently issued by him. To collect the material for the book must have cost a good deal of labor and pains, for some of which we remember the author spent some time in England years ago. The mechanical work is well done and in good taste.

— It is just as easy for a good police force to enforce a license law as it is a prohibitory law. We thought the Chief of Police of the town of Woburn was a terror to the rummellers and that every violator of the law was brought up with a snap. But then we read in the same paper an item to the effect that Chief Nelson had been off fishing which may account for it.—Peabody Press.

— J. T. Freeman & Co., employ twenty men in their machine shop, and have work enough for a good many more. They need about double the room now used, a blacksmith's shop and other conveniences in order to enable them to promptly fill all orders for new machinery and repairs, and these they will probably have before long. The business of the firm has increased wonderfully in the last ten years.

— The Woburn reporter for the Boston papers have been on the qui vive this week for news ament labor affairs and although they succeeded in gathering in only a stray straw here and there the yarns they have rattled off for their respective journals have been quite bulky. They are very supine in invention, the editor of the Advertiser thinks, who, by the way, deals only in cold, solid facts. He's a brick!

— The last issue of the Somerville Sentinel which, by the way, is a neat, handsome and sprightly newspaper recently established at Somerville, contained a very interesting illustrated article descriptive of the paper, its numerous editors, editorial rooms, subscribers and other things connected with the establishment, which went to show that the proprietor is an enterprising person, was a mighty good thing, which can also be said of the entire Sentinel outfit.

Rev. Wm. Barrows, D. D., will preach in the Congregational church next Sunday, morning and evening. Evening subject: "The Great Northwest."

The No. Woburn Street Railway Company have petitioned for a right of way to extend their line to the Medford boundary, which prayer will probably be favorably answered. Street railroads have come to stay and grow up with the town.

Mrs. S. J. Nowell and L. L. Blood are members of the general State committee on the festival and bazaar to be held in Music and Bumstead Halls, Boston, December 13-19 next under the auspices of the Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association, and the Suffrage clubs and leagues of the Commonwealth.

What is Winchester's loss in Boston's gain. Gen. Corse is going to be postmaster of Boston and of course will be obliged to abandon his residence in this town and make a new one at the Hub. The General is a good citizen and we don't like to give him up, but perhaps Chairman Brine won't cry. I extend to Gen. Corse my right hand in token of good fellowship; am glad he has got the rich feast at the public crib, and wish him "many returns of the same."

B. Atkinson &amp; Co., the largest house-furnishers in New England, are selling all kinds of furniture, carpets, bedding, stoves and ranges at prices that defy competition. The particular attention of housekeepers is called to their system of doing business on the part of the housewife, which relieved from any railroad freight station in Massachusetts. Particulars of some remarkable bargains will be found in another column.

HUBBARD'S ELIXIR OF OPIUM.

"Don't you sleep nights? Are you nervous, irritable, and easily fatigued? Are you constipated? Use this valuable production of chemical science. It will provide the most reliefing sleep; it will cure the fits of rheumatism, the neuralgia, and cure the headache. The delicious and safe elixir is Hubbard's Elixir, and it is a safe household medicine. Price, 25 cents a bottle. Sold everywhere. Dr. Stetson, Druggist, Boston."

Woman's Column.

Twenty thousand people, and streets gay with bunting, greeted Madame Patti at Swansea, after her singing had enriched the local hospital by the sum of $10,000.

In Iowa 955 women own and direct farms, 4 own green-houses, 90 manage market gardens, 13 serve as county superintendents, 37 manage intermediate institutions of learning, 125 are physicians, 49 are registered pharmacists, 5 attorneys at law, 10 ministers, 3 dentists, 10 professional nurses and 1 is a civil engineer.

Gratifying evidence of the advance of woman in England appears in the statement that of about a thousand students, from the Liverpool region, examined in science and art at South Kensington, more than two hundred were women. Two young girls passed in magnetism and electricity, twelve in inorganic chemistry and two in agriculture. One lady, who passed the elementary examination last year in machine construction and drawing, was again successful in a more advanced stage of the same subject.

Writes a Southern editor, "Woman remains where the deference of man placed her; subordinate in public life, but the God to whom every knee bowed." It should be a very choice type of womanhood which has been developed under such grave influences. There are women enough in the North who are nobody's idol, God knows; women whose sweetness and beauty fade away in the daily struggle to keep the wolf from the door. There are young girls who know no real girlhood, and are worn and old before their time. There are widowed women who must not weep because the children must be fed.

Is there, then, none of this at the South? We have heard of that ideal state of society where woman's only mission is to be beautiful and bless the world with noble sons and lovely daughters. Have we found the paradise where such a condition of things obtains? We go further to investigate. Let us see what is precisely the status of woman in that portion of the South under our eye; let us see where the "defender of man" has placed her."

At the door of your boarding-house you meet a tall, slim girl of about eighteen. She has a tow sack slung over one shoulder and held by one hand and in the other she carries a lean chicken by the two feet, head downwards. You think of the society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals as you answer her question. No. You don't want to buy a chicken nor the peck of potatoes she has in the tow sack. How far has she brought these things? Five miles. Walked? Yes. Her brown ankles are bare and her feet show through the gaping holes in her old shoes.

Another tall girl, decently dressed this time, meets you in the hall. You don't know when Dr. —— will be in," you reply to her question. "Have you read the card on her door?" you ask.

"No ma'am! I never could read with her," she replies, as blithely as if it were not a shameful confession.

At the post office a middle-aged woman accosts you.

"Please give ten cents for my tobacco?"

It is the first time you have ever been begged of in any public street in the United States by a native.

They wear calico dresses and calico cap-bonnets. They never had anything better than a calico dress—not one in a hundred of them—in all their lives. Not one in a hundred of them can read or write. Not one in a hundred ever attended school three months. They stand about at the street corners, gazing at the passers-by with wide, staring, incurious eyes. They "trade" at the general store their rag-carpeting, their tallowy butter, their homespun yarns for tobacco, Rio coffee, calico of gay colors. They sit about on upturned boxes in the stores, their trading finished, till it pleases poterfamilias to start for home. Not infrequently you may see one on either side of the husband or brother, who has got at the bar-room closer by than he can carry, supporting his staggering steps, and hoisting him into the wagon, where he lies in the straw upon the floor while the women drive home. She knows nothing of the niceties of cooking, nothing of dainty house-keeping. She was raised to field-work. She milks the cows, feeds the hogs, ploughs, hoses corn, builds fences, hauls logs, pulls puffs, digs potatoes; is short, does any and all the work a man may do, its amount only limited by her strength. If her hard, rough life has left small room for the graces of life, what wonder? Into her darkness and ignorance no household journal comes, with its sympathy and stimulus. Should her husband sell a piece of land, she makes her mark in the proper place. Her little girls are growing up just as their mother did. There is a poor apology for a school, taught during two, three or four months in the year, somewhere two, three, or four miles away. That even this, rightly used, would lift them out of the slough where the "defender of manhood has placed them," how should they know? How can you teach them and lift them to a higher level?

A Captain's Fortunate Discovery.

A Capt. Collier, schr. Weymouth, playing horse in Boston City N.Y., was much troubled with a cough so bad that he was unable to sleep, and was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It not only gave him instant relief, but allayed the extreme soreness in his heart. His children were sick, and he had a single dose of the same happy effect. Dr. King's New Discovery is now the standard remedy in the Coleman household and on board the schooner. Free Trial Bottles of the Standard Remedy at W. W. Hill's, Drug Store.

He Drew the Line.

"Well, Charley, I hear you don't call on Miss Jones any more."

"No, I've quit."

"What's the matter? Did she go back on you?"

"No. That wasn't it. The luxury was becoming too expensive."

"Expensive. I thought Miss Jones was a model girl, never ate ice cream, oysters or anything of that kind."

"She doesn't. It was the dog that made it so expensive."

"The dog?"

"Yes. He kept me all the time paying tailor bills. I had to wear a Prince Albert coat and fasten the tails together at the bottom. I tried pins once but never again. I kept them sewed after that, but it spoilt the fit of the coat and made me look like a balloon getting ready for an ascension. I would have sacrificed much for that dear girl, but I can wear out trousers enough on my own account without calling in the assistance of a pig-nosed canine that is two-thirds teeth."

I am an Old Man.

Shall be 79 years of age next June, and for the last six years have suffered from general debility and old age. At times I could not get out of bed without help. I have taken Sulphur Bitters. In a week I felt strong again and my appetite was restored. I still continued their use, and today I walked over three miles without feeling tired, something I haven't done for five years before. Sulphur Bitters is a right smart medicine.—George Brown, Keokuk, Iowa.

The entire assessment of Dakota Territory is $130,000,000.

Pike's Peak, Col., has been climbed by 1,259 persons this season.

Another tall girl, decently dressed this time, meets you in the hall.

You don't know when Dr. —— will be in," you reply to her question. "Have you read the card on her door?" you ask.

"No ma'am! I never could read with her," she replies, as blithely as if it were not a shameful confession.

At the post office a middle-aged woman accosts you.

"Please give ten cents for my tobacco?"

It is the first time you have ever been begged of in any public street in the United States by a native.

They wear calico dresses and calico cap-bonnets. They never had anything better than a calico dress—not one in a hundred of them—in all their lives. Not one in a hundred can read or write. Not one in a hundred ever attended school three months. They stand about at the street corners, gazing at the passers-by with wide, staring, incurious eyes. They "trade" at the general store their rag-carpeting, their tallowy butter, their homespun yarns for tobacco, Rio coffee, calico of gay colors. They sit about on upturned boxes in the stores, their trading finished, till it pleases poterfamilias to start for home. Not infrequently you may see one on either side of the husband or brother, who has got at the bar-room closer by than he can carry, supporting his staggering steps, and hoisting him into the wagon, where he lies in the straw upon the floor while the women drive home. She knows nothing of the niceties of cooking, nothing of dainty house-keeping. She was raised to field-work. She milks the cows, feeds the hogs, ploughs, hoses corn, builds fences, hauls logs, pulls puffs, digs potatoes; is short, does any and all the work a man may do, its amount only limited by her strength. If her hard, rough life has left small room for the graces of life, what wonder? Into her darkness and ignorance no household journal comes, with its sympathy and stimulus. Should her husband sell a piece of land, she makes her mark in the proper place. Her little girls are growing up just as their mother did. There is a poor apology for a school, taught during two, three or four months in the year, somewhere two, three, or four miles away. That even this, rightly used, would lift them out of the slough where the "defender of manhood has placed them," how should they know? How can you teach them and lift them to a higher level?

A Captain's Fortunate Discovery.

A Capt. Collier, schr. Weymouth, playing horse in Boston City N.Y., was much troubled with a cough so bad that he was unable to sleep, and was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It not only gave him instant relief, but allayed the extreme soreness in his heart. His children were sick, and he had a single dose of the same happy effect. Dr. King's New Discovery is now the standard remedy in the Coleman household and on board the schooner. Free Trial Bottles of the Standard Remedy at W. W. Hill's, Drug Store.

The Woburn Journal

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of S. Morton, 106 Main Street; A. Robie, 105 Main Street; John Cummings, 54, Cummingsville; Samuel E. Wyman, North Woburn; Cooper's News Stand at the Centre Depot, and at G. P. Brown's, Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.
All advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

GRAND RALLY.

The Republicans will hold a Grand Rally in Lyceum Hall, WEDNESDAY EVENING, OCT. 27. Speeches will be made by Dr. Loring, Hon. J. Q. A. Brackett, and other distinguished gentlemen. A full accompaniment of band music, flags, banners, etc.

The Republican Senatorial convention for this District was held at Ayer on last Friday. It was attended by about fifty delegates and was a quiet affair. Hon. Lyman T. Jeffs of Hudson was nominated by acclamation for a seat in the State Senate; Capt. Moses P. Palmer of Groton was chosen a member of the State Central Committee; and a Senatorial District Committee, consisting of the Chairman of the Town Committees, with Capt. Palmer, Chairman of the same, was elected. Mr. Jeffs has served one term in the Senate with credit to himself and his constituents. According to a rule that prevails he was entitled to the nomination. He will be elected by about 1000 majority.

Reports from headquarters are to the effect that Henry Cabot Lodge is likely to win in the race for Congressional honors in the 6th District. Loring is not nearly as popular with the laboring classes as he was two years ago while Mr. Lodge has been steadily growing stronger with them and all other thinking men during that time. The District is Republican by a good working majority; the Congressional committee is a strong and efficient one; the party is perfectly organized; and the election of Mr. Lodge scarcely admits of a doubt.

Ames and Brackett was a people's nomination in every sense of the word. The case of Mr. Ames was settled by them some time before the convention, the delegates to which merely executed the popular will, and Mr. Brackett's nomination is as satisfactory as that of Mr. Ames. The ticket gains strength daily and will no doubt poll a larger majority on the 2d of November than any gubernatorial candidates have received for several years past.

—Mr. James L. Fowle is building a nice dwelling-house on Auburn street.

—Congressman Hayden will please accept our thanks for valuable public documents.

—That Republican Rally that is coming off next Wednesday evening will be a rouser.

—Meetings of the Union A. M. E. church will hereafter be held in G. A. R. Hall, 202 Main street.

—B. E. Bond, Esq., has returned from his annual month's shoot in Vermont, and reports a good time.

—A good thing about Josiah Leath's boot and shoe store is that repairing is done in the very best shape there.

—Capt. C. W. Converse, being about to move South, offers his nice residence on Plympton street for sale. See card.

—The Republican that fails to take in the Grand Rally in Lyceum Hall next Wednesday evening will miss a splendid thing.

—We can't tell whether "A murder prevented by a dog" was intended by the sender of it for "Our dumb friends" column or not.

—If the ladies of Woburn and vicinity would learn something to their advantage let them read Mr. Burgess's card this week.

—The sons of Walbridge Brothers, 37 Friend street, Boston, are often seen in this village loaded with household goods for our people.

—The Woburn "Bargain Store" is booming. Household goods are sold there cheaper than in Boston. It is a splendid place to buy good at.

—We have in hand a communication from "E" which would be all right if the distinguished citizen is an applicant.

—Fr. Murphy, who once ministered to the spiritual needs of the St. Charles church in this place, now of Hopkinton, was in town last Tuesday evening.

—We real in the Saganaw (Mich.) Courier of last Sunday that Miss Lizzie Ellard of Woburn was then visiting at the residence of E. R. Gay in that city.

—Mr. Harris Monroe bought the Nichols residence on Court street which was sold at auction last Tuesday. It is a good place, and Mr. Monroe got it cheap.

—An advertisement of Mrs. West's laundry may be seen in our business columns. This laundry has been running several years and gives the best of satisfaction.

—Rev. D. D. Winn will officiate at All Saints Chapel, Montvale, next Sunday. Service at 3 o'clock; seats free. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend.

—The Harvest Festival of the Baptist society began last evening in their vestry and will close this evening. Reports say it is first-rate: everybody should attend it.

—Farmer Allen's Woburn Directory will be issued very shortly now, and when it makes its appearance every family and business place in town should have a copy.

—People contemplating the purchase of household goods will save money by reading the advertisement of Mr. C. H. Barnes, 512 Washington street, Boston, in this paper.

—The Boston Clothing Company are strong on overcoats this week. It would be a good plan to call at their store and see what Mr. Buck and the boys have to offer in that line.

—Capt. John P. Crane went to Richmond, Va., with G. A. R. Post, of Boston, and returned last Saturday. He enjoyed the trip very much indeed, as did all the boys.

—The "Baby Pathfinder" the neatest and handiest New England Railroad Guide published, has put in its appearance for October. It is issued by the N. E. Pub'g Co., Boston.

—Farmer Allen of the Advertiser sent a thrill of joy through this office one day last week by a generous gift of a basket of very fine grapes. May Farmer Allen's shadow never grow less.

—We hope Miss Buell will secure a good large class for her kindergarten because it is just the right kind of a school in which to train the very young and also because she is a prime teacher and a worthy lady.

—We have always claimed that Medford, particularly the West part of it, is a dangerous place to live in, and now we know it is, for last Monday night snow fell there and destroyed nearly all the garden truck they had in town.

—Mr. Goddard, the sound and popular insurance agent, has issued a corrected time-table of the No. Woburn Street Railway in small card form which is handy to carry in the pocket and very convenient for passengers.

—We like to speak a good word for the Woburn Coal Company because it deserves commendation. Mr. Newton, the agent, is indefatigable in his efforts to please and satisfy the people, and has all kinds of coal, lumber, etc. to do it with.

—Voters will do well to bear in mind that the Board of Register will be in session this evening from 7:30 to 9 o'clock, also, tomorrow and Monday and Tuesday evenings. Let every legal voter see that his name is properly entered on the lists.

—Carter is putting into his skating rink larger steam-heating machinery, the boiler taken out not being of sufficient capacity to properly heat the immense room. He is bound to have things very nice and comfortable at the Academy this winter.

—The regular meetings of the St. Charles C. T. A. S. will be held on Thursdays next after the 21st of the month. This society is in a prosperous condition and doing a good work. We trust its beneficial influence will be felt in the next town election.

—Just the tip-end of the great Western blowout hit this region last Saturday and sent the mercury to quite not be severe at all nor did it last long. Very pleasant weather followed and everything was severe again.

—The Harvest Festival of the Baptist society began last evening in their vestry and will close this evening. Reports say it is first-rate: everybody should attend it.

—The Woman's Christian Temperance Union held its first regular meeting on Monday p. m. in the vestry of the Baptist Church. The attendance was encouraging and the ladies seem thoroughly interested in their work. The next meeting will be held on the first Monday in November in the Methodist church at 3 p. m.

—Between 5:55, a. m. and 10, p. m. 17 trains leave Woburn for Boston daily, which is one train every 55 minutes on an average. Between 6:55, a. m. and 11:10, p. m. 19 trains leave Boston for Woburn every day, which is one train every 51 minutes. It seems as though our people ought to be pretty well accommodated.

—An entertainment under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. will be given at their hall on Tuesday evening next, Oct. 26, in which Mr. Lawrence B. Greenwood, a well-known humorous vocalist, will participate. He has an excellent reputation and always draws well. The price of admission has been put at only 10 cents. The hall should be filled.

—Mr. H. E. Strout has sold his printing business to Mr. F. W. Legg and will give possession tomorrow. Mr. Strout has been the chief artist in this line here for quite a number of years and has been successful. He is master of the art, and his work is as good as any made in Boston. The public will be loth to part company with Mr. Strout.

—On next Thursday evening, Oct. 28, the ladies of the Methodist church and society will give an entertainment and supper in the church, for which have provided on liberal scale. The price of supper and entertainment will be 25 cents, and to the entertainment alone 10 cents. The ladies are determined to give each patron his or her full money's worth.

—So far not a name has been added to the voting list, while several hundred are scratched off, mostly for non-payment of taxes. Of course these are largely among Democrats, which fact has given the Republicans courage to believe that they can elect their candidates—W. Rep. Boston Globe. Rather a singular admission for a Democrat dyed in the wool to make.

—As showing what the soil and climate of Santa Clara Valley, California, can do for the growth of trees and vegetation a friend from there tells us that he has a rose-bush in his garden, planted by himself a few years ago, which now measures 31 inches in circumference, a short distance above the ground. It bears roses as large as common saucers, and is still growing and blooming.

—Next Wednesday evening a stereopticon exhibition of views in India accompanied with a lecture will be given by Mr. Leitch in the Congregational church, to which all are respectfully invited. Mr. Black, the famous Boston photographer, pronounces these pictures the best ever taken of views in India, and there can be no doubt that they will greatly please and interest the audience.

Obituary.

Died in Woburn, Oct. 16, at the residence of her uncle, Dr. J. M. Harlow, Mrs. Helen E. Little of Acton.

Early in September she made a short visit to Boston, where she died of a cerebral hemorrhage, and her remains were brought back to Woburn. She lingered along for nearly four weeks expecting death at the end. The virtues she exercised in her life were those that had characterized her whole life. She was a patient, unselfish in spirit, carrying sunshine wherever she went. Duty was her enthusiasm, Christ her first love and labor for others her second. Her aims were of the highest and clearest kind. She was modestly and unobtrusively and with no much genuine earnestness and good cheer, that she won the affection of every one who came under her influence.

She was one of the best books and loved the Bible for above all. She was a deep thinker and a life-long student, especially interested in natural science. The cause of religion and philanthropy in the world she was born, lived and was born to serve in her place. Her friends and neighbors will never cease to mourn her absence until they see her once more in her Father's House.

The Why of the "Whine."

To the EDITOR of the JOURNAL:—I see by the "Whine" in last week's paper, that Woburn is still dissatisfied with its railroad accommodations. Whether this dissatisfaction is just, is not for the writer, a citizen of Woburn, to say. It occurs to me, however, to remark that Woburn people seem to be very short-sighted in managing their case with the officials of the B. and L. RR. We in Woburn have always obtained pretty much what we have asked for; and the reason is that we have always approached the railroad authorities through the proper channels and by the proper advocates. Our influential citizens have usually taken matters in charge and the managers of the railroad have given their requests the consideration due to their influence and position. In Woburn, on the contrary, if I am rightly informed, the men of prominence and wealth, the men having large business dealings with the road, the men whose requests the road would hardly dare refuse, are not the men who are selected when a favor is desired of the road. Indeed, I learn from inside sources, that of late a man of no commercial standing and in nowise representative of Woburn's interests, who up to a recent date was endeavoring to get a favorable hearing for his cause, was the man who was selected to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, said County of Middlesex, on the second Tuesday of November next, at which time the cause, if any, was to be heard.

That the Secretary be directed to accept the resolution of the Association, and specifically refer it to the plan of principles unanimously adopted by the Republican party of Massachusetts at their recent State Convention held in Worcester, Temp. Boston, especially that part of the same referring to the subject of temperature endorsing the antisocial movement and favoring the submitting to the people a constitutional amendment in favor of prohibition, and further say that the Republicans of Woburn do endorse the principles as adopted by said convention.

Respectfully yours,

Per order of the Woburn Republican Town Committee.

H. E. STROUT, Secretary.

SCROFULA

I do not believe that Ayer's Sarsaparilla has an equal as a remedy for Scrofula.

It is pleasant to take, gives strength and vigor to the body, and produces permanent, lasting result than any medicine I ever used.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla in my family, and know, if it is taken faithfully, it will eradicate this terrible disease.

It is a safe and reliable medicine and completely cured.

Woman's Column.

Now is the time for the woman suffragists to be busy. Doubtless the readers of this column are already informed regarding the Suffrage Festival and Bazaar to be held in Music Hall, Boston, Dec. 13 to 18, by the Massachusetts Wom in Suffrage Association. Work for this, if not already in progress, should be begun at once. The circular issued by the executive committee calls for articles of almost every description. All suffragists should make their own contributions as early as possible and also solicit articles from their friends. Communications concerning the Bazaar should be addressed to Miss Clara Scott Pond, No. 5, Park St., Boston. Remember that all the proceeds of the Bazaar will be used for woman suffrage work within this State. While soliciting contributions to the Bazaar, we may also obtain signatures to the municipal suffrage petitions. Begin this work also in good season, so a large number of signers may be obtained and none omitted, on account of haste and bad weather, by and by.

At the time of elections, women are most forcibly reminded of their political disabilities. "A disenchanted class is always a degraded class," says Susan B. Anthony. We may not generally realize this, yet it is true. Despite the unending prattle concerning "queens of the home," "sovereigns of the realm of hearts," etc., etc., women occupy a subordinate position in business, in society, and in the home as well as in the affairs of the state.

The disadvantage at which women are in regard to their political rights is shown by an incident that occurred to a pleasure party. They were passing through Barre. The school for feeble-minded youths is there. Overtaking a man who was walking toward the town, they inquired the way. He volunteered information, among other things, about the school for feeble minded youth, and begged the party to call and see the wonders that were done. "Why," said he, "they get them so they can be sent of errands; they can read and some of them vote."

"Isn't it rather hard for the wise women who are their teachers, and who are never allowed to vote?" asked one of the party.

Immediately the man asked, "do you want to see women shoulder a musket and go to war?"

It never occurred to this man that a male half-idiot who could not do military duty should be deprived of the ballot. But he was shocked at the idea of a ballot in the hand of an intelligent woman. Up to this hour, the "feeble-minded" male has the advantage of the wise woman in the state. There is a lead of ignorance and prejudice that women have to lift before they can be secure in their just rights.—Woman's Journal.

Neither in England or America has the right to vote been made to depend on the ability to fight. If only they were enfranchised in America who are physically able to do military duty, a large proportion of the voting men of the nation would be deprived of suffrage.

"But when a nation goes to war, it claims other services of its citizens, both women and men, than that of fighting merely. "Did any Englishman who rode into the jaws of death at Balaklava serve England more effectively than Florence Nightingale?" asks George William Curtis. They who serve the armies of a nation, who discharge the duties of the hospital, and keep in repair the military force, as it wastes from sickness and wounds, who maintain the sentiment at home, of loyalty to the Government, and uphold that supreme moral force necessary to the success of a people in its hour of struggle—they are as important as the army itself."

"Said Abraham Lincoln, at the opening of one of the great sanitary fairs: "I am not accustomed to use the language of eulogy. I have never studied the art of paying compliments to women. But I must say, that if all that has been said by orators and poets since the creation of the world in praise of women, were applied to the women of America, it would not do them justice for their conduct during this war."—Mary A. Livermore.

An End to Bone Scraping.
Edward Shepherd, of Harrisburg, Ill., says: "Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. Have had a running score on my leg for eight years; my doctor has advised me to have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I used instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes Bucklin's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well." Electric Bitters are sold at fifty cents a bottle, and Bucklin's Arnica Salve at 25c, per box by Wm. W. Hill.

Where Good Citizens Come From.

The country boy or girl is face to face with practical realities. He sees how slowly money is made on the farm; he is taught from youth up the need of economy; he has the nature of saving first explained to him every day in the week; he is not exposed to the temptation of the saloon or bazaar, and he is not so much of a lad's man before he has occasion to use a razor on his downy cheeks. He may be a trifler rule: he may not feel easy in company, but in the long, closely crowded hours of life it is the chap that trudges to school bare footed in summer and in soggy winter, whose mother cuts his hair with the sheep shears, who leads the chap that goes to the city school with starched shirt front and fancy slippers, and whose head is shaved with a lawn mower at the barber shop. Such is the result of our ob-servance, and we think we know what we are talking about.—Iowa Homestead.

The Five Hills of Corn.

"Did you ever notice that little plat there?" remarked a railroad worker at the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago crossing on Penn avenue the other day, as he pointed to a small enclosure of ground of about twelve by fifteen feet, surrounded by a high fence which guards the little corner from desecrating hands.

"Can't say that I have," remarked the pencil shaver.

"Well," said the railroad worker with a smile, "there is a rather pretty story connected with it, and I've often wondered how little is ever thought of it by passers by."

"Why, what is it?" asked the reporter, expecting to chronicle some dark deed or at least unravel a pretty romance.

"Well, young man," said the gatekeeper, "you may be disappointed—it's only devoted to five lonely hills of corn, which, as long as I can remember, have grown there, and every autumn the corn is plucked and given to the widows and children of two deceased railroad men who had met their death in the employ of the company."

The corn plot is right on Penn avenue and the five tall, green stalks are notable for their striking contrast to the black and dingy look of freight cars and watch houses all around it. A peculiar place to grow corn, surely!—Pittsburg Gazette.

Be Your Own Doctor!

It won't cost you half as much. Do not delay. Send three two-cent stamps for postage, and we will send you Dr. Kaufmann's great work, fine colored plates from it, on disease, its cause and home cure. Address, A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

There is no period in which we are more accessible to friendship than in intervals of moral exhaustion which succeed to the disappointment of the passions.

The editor of the Corsicana, Tex., Observer, Mr. C. P. Miller, had a severe attack of rheumatism, left his chair, which became so swollen and painful that he could not walk up the stairs. He writes that after a few applications of St. Jacobs Oil, the pain entirely disappeared, and the knee assumed its normal proportions.

Friendship improves happiness, and abates misery, by the doubling of our joy, and the dividing of our grief.

The experience of years furnishes the most convincing evidence that thousands of lives are annually saved by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It speedily cures all afflictions of the throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs.

The yellow gold is tried in the fire so the faith of friendship can only be known in the season of adversity.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Friendship is a strong and habitual inclination of two persons to promote the good and happiness of each other.

Friendship is constant in all other things save in the office and affairs of love.

Friendship's the wine of life.

The next two additions to the "Famous Women" series are to be a "Life of Mrs. Siddons" and a monograph on "Madame de Staél."

The first object of laudable ambition is to obtain a character as a human being, regardless of the distinction of sex.—Mary Woll-owna.

Mrs. Livermore says "It is a mistake on the part of our daughter that the corset will give her beauty of figure. The corset will give her only stiffness of appearance, and interferes with that grace of motion which is one of the charms of girls." Canon Kingsley says, "The Greeks whose figures remain everlasting as I unapproachable models of human beauty, wore no stays."

A Boston daily says "A new high class magazine for ladies will be published next month by Cassell & Co., under the title of 'The Lady's World.' It will be illustrated and deal with things in the sphere of fashion and society." "A lady's world?" Fashion and society? What food for grand thinking in the association of title and matter!"

The first two items in the will of Samuel Adams, the great American patriot, were bequests to his wife, giving in one instance, the books which were hers previous to marriage, and, in the other, her own wearing apparel. It was not till 1879 that women of Mass., were legal possessors of their own wardrobe—and now the value cannot exceed two thousand dollars.

The daughter of Jenny Lind Goldschmidt is said to inherit her mother's beautiful voice.

Clara Barton has just returned to Washington from Charleston, S. C., where, as President of the American National Association of the Red Cross, she has been personally observing the extent of the late disaster and the human needs occasioned by it.

A Newport lady has organized a club for the study of the Eighteenth Century. Miss Maude Howe and Miss May Wardwell, correspondents respectively of the Boston Transcript and Herald, are among the members.

I insist that the majority of women have not so many real duties to keep them indoors as is commonly in dress, decoration and other display—* which keeps women in close rooms and constrained positions day in and day out. This is especially true of the American woman, and certain it is that in no other country is there so much of dress and extravagance—often incongruous and out of place, but still costing almost endless labor and trouble—as here.—Dr. Lucy Hall.

We copy the following interesting item: "Mrs. Jennie H. Southworth took the oath of office at the Boston Custom House last Monday morning, and has entered upon her duties as inspector of customs, succeeding Mrs. Hannah Moore, resigned. The work so far has been only the examination of the persons of suspected women travelers, but hereafter it is to include the examination of the baggage of women who may prefer having this done by a woman. This will necessitate attendance upon the arrival of every passenger steamer from foreign ports."

It is said that the Imperial outlook in France is so hopeless that the Empress Eugenie has withdrawn the pensions which she has hitherto paid to supporters of the Napoleon claim.

Never Give Up. You will be surprised at the rapid improvement that will follow, you will be inspired with new life, strength and activity—will return; pain and misery will cease, any howard you will rejoice in the praise of Electric Bitters. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Wm. H. Hill opp. the Common.

Catarrh. Is a very prevalent and exceedingly disagreeable disease, liable, if neglected, to develop into serious consumption. Being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional remedy like Hoad's Catarrh, which, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the system, effecting a radical and permanent cure of catarrh in even its most severe forms. It is the general belief that the poet is always soaring in the clouds; this is fallacy. There is not much soar to him when the landlord comes in by the back way with the monthly rent bill.

A fine constitution may be ruined by simple neglect. Many bodily ills result from habitual constitution. There is no medicine equal to Ayer's Pills for restoring the system to natural and healthy action.

LITERARY NOTICES.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE for November presents a very fine table of contents. Many of the papers are handsomely illustrated, one of the most interesting of which is that treating of the literary men of New York which is accompanied by a large number of their portraits.

The Literary Movement in New York, The Tragedy Story of Burns, Haloween, How I formed my Salem, A Plea for the Grassay Road, The American Cowboy, Springfield, The Constabulary, Their Pilgrimage, and the Editorial Departments, etc. Harriet's is sold at the Old Woburn Bookstore by S. Horton.

LITTLEL'S LIVING AGE. The number of THE LIVING AGE for the weeks ending October 16th and 23d contains, The Scotland of Mary Stuart, Ernest, King of Hanover, Hero-Worship, Alexander Hamilton, Early Newspaper Sketches, Masings Without Method, Geography, On a Hilltop, Some Notes on Fletcher's Valentine, The Terrible Dictation, Wild Bees and Bee-Hunting, Liszt's Life and Works, The Influence of Women, Monsieur Gabriel, Poor Dear Theresa, A Friend of the Family, and poetry and miscellany. For fifty-two numbers of sixty-four large pages each (or more than 3,300 pages a year) the subscription price ($8) is low; while for $10.50 the publishers offer to send any one of the American $4.00 monthlies or weeklies with THE LIVING AGE for a year, both postpaid. Littell & Co., Boston, are the publishers.

This first number of the new volume of ST. NICHOLAS is an early realization of the good things promised in the attractive prospectus. Louisa M. Alcott contributes a charming and characteristic story, called The Blind Lark. Then, some of the wonderfully clever tales that Victor Hugo used to tell his favorite grandchildren have been collected, and are here put into English for the first time with capital illustrations by Reginald B. Birch. There is also the opening chapter of Juan and Juanieta, the new serial by Francis Courtney Bayard. Out-of-door sports receive recognition in Richard Carr's Baby, Pictures of Celia Thaxter's study, and Edmund Clarence Stedman's beautiful illustrations of A City of Old Homesteads. E. S. Brooks tells of another Historic Girl and her brave boy champion. There is a capital descriptive paper, abundantly illustrated, on Boring for Oil; C. F. Holden has some instructive and amusing yarns to tell of that absurd bird, the penguin; there are some more Dog Stories; Palmer Cox has more poetry and pictures of Brownie life, this time The Brownies in the Gymnasium. Helen Gray Cone has a beautiful Dolly's Lullaby, set to music by Karl Klauser, and to pictures by Laura C. Hills. Harlan H. Ballard describes the Second General Convention of the A. A. There are poems by Endora M. S. Bustead, Ida Whipple Aebnham, and Edith M. Thomas; a frontispiece by Mary Hallock Foote, and other pictures by Sterner, Share, J. C. Beard, Rogers, Sandham, Drake and others.

Magnum Bonum.

Mr. C. F. Kelley, residing at No. 2 Clifford Place, Brooklyn, E. E., has made a discovery which bids fair to make his fortune. It is called "Magnum Bonum," and is an infallible cure for indigestion, constipation, sick headache and all disorders of the stomach. It is claimed that one-half of mankind suffer from rheumatism and the other half from dyspepsia, hence a remedy insuring health to so many people is a great boon to the human race. Mr. Kelley can be seen at the salerooms of Gileson & Bailey, 20 W. Houston street, New York. As for the remedy, we know of several cases where relief and full recovery have been gained by its use. Give it a trial.—Fireman's (N. Y.) Herald.

THE ELECTION.

The Democratic press of the State had kept up such a burrah and shouting for a week before election that some Republicans became so much demoralized that serious fears were entertained by them that the Democrats would carry the day and elect their candidates for State offices and perhaps a majority of the Congressmen. At what seemed to be a preconcerted signal to be given by the Boston Advertiser every Democratic paper in the Commonwealth set up a yell that after a day or two fairly upset some of the strongest-nerved Republicans and set others trembling in their boots prodigiously. Even the Central Committee were seized with a partial panic and for nearly a week before the election seemed to be paralyzed. By the way, it is the opinion of a great many shrewd, sensible Republican politicians that the Central Committee have made a very poor and inefficient canvass this year, and that, if able and more energetic hands had been at the helm Ames's majority would have reached 20,000 instead of the meagre margin he came out of the fight with. One thing in favor of the committee may be said however and that is, the Democrats were never before so lavish with their money as they have been this year, while the Republicans, believing in clean elections, have spent it only for legitimate campaign purposes, and very sparingly for those even.

However, the result is very gratifying indeed to the Republican party. They have elected their State ticket by about 9,000 majority, the heft of the Congressmen, and both branches of the Legislature will send Long to the United States Senate, notwithstanding the Democratic papers had had them "on the run" for a week and was sure of carrying the State for the hermaphroditic combination. We reflect with some pain on the defeat of Ranney by Leopold Morse, although it was expected; on the loss of Ely; not so much on Rice who acted the wet dog towards Bates; but the election of Lodge in the 6th District is a Balm o'Gilead that goes a long way in healing our wounds. That splendid victory alone was worth more than the whole campaign cost the Republican party. On the whole the Republicans did nobly last Tuesday and won a victory over which they have a right to feel proud when the opposition composed of Democrats, Independents, Mugwumps, Prohibitionists, and the Lord only knows what all, is taken into account.

In other States in which elections were held on the 2nd the Republicans did better than they expected to do.

Almost everywhere outside of the land of Mugwumps, meaning Massachusetts, the Republicans made great and glorious gains last Tuesday. Two distinguished Democratic leaders were beaten in their run for re-election to Congress, namely, Speaker Carlisle of Pennsylvania, and Morrison of Illinois who up to date has been the Democratic leader in the National House. Besides these splendid results of the election, the Democratic majority in the House was whittled down from 45 to 13 by brilliant Republican victories in Congressional contests. This does not look very much as though the Grand Old Party were petering out.

Munroe's hats are in great demand by all well-dressed people.

The next Y. M. C. A. entertainment will be in about two weeks.

There are about 30 young men on an average who visit the Y. M. C. A. rooms daily.

Mr. W. W. Hill makes a cough remedy that is superior to any in use. Read his card.

The Chapman place on Beach street has been bought for Mrs. G. V. Lewis by her father.

Buy the "New Tariff," or "Quaker," Range if you want the best sold by C. M. Strout.

Monahan and Mathews are raking in the prizes in the races at Carter's Academy. They are good ones.

Mr. S. B. Goddard offers some property for sale in our advertising columns which should attract attention.

There is to be the biggest kind of a polo game at Carter's to-night. Every lover of the sport should attend.

Last evening a runaway horse knocked Elbridge Pierce down near the JOURNAL office and injured him severely.

Judge Adams ought to have been elected for he is just the kind of a man Woburn will need in the next Legislature.

Mr. J. W. Hammond advertises overcoats very extensively this week. He has a pile of them, and is selling very cheap.

The voters of Woburn took the advice of the JOURNAL and gave Mr. Hayden a rousing vote. We knew they would do it.

The prevailing hot weather this week has been a serious setback to all kinds of trade in town. The clothing dealers feel it especially.

We hear of many people in town searching for houses. Albeit a great many have been built this season there are but a few empty ones.

Mr. Mark Allen's Woburn Directory makes a very neat volume and as valuable and good looking. Every extra copy he has ought to be taken at once.

There was quite a visitation of thunder and lightning here last Saturday evening. In some places not very remote it was a good sized thunder storm.

As Mr. Amos Cummings's symposium will close this evening doubtless his store will be visited by throngs of ladies this afternoon and evening. The symposium is a novelty in these parts, but it takes well with the ladies, for whom Mr. Cummings is always planning something unique and pleasant.

Editor Allen, it is reported, voted for the two Reading candidates for the Legislature last Tuesday, which, considering Editor Allen's oft-repeated ideas on patronizing home men, industries and products, was just a bit singular. Such eccentricities are however quite common among independents and mugwumps.

Miss Buell has removed her Kindergarten to No. 11 Montvale Avenue where she is meeting with excellent success, both in number of pupils and progress.

Thomas H. Hill was "scratched" last Tuesday because he voted for Nelson, Chief of Police last spring. Temperance men ought not to forget this at the next town election.

Leeds will open out his hot temperance drinks the first cold snap we have. It is a good thing to have such drinks provided, and they are helpful to the temperance cause.

Mr. Thomas H. Hill, candidate for Senator, came up smiling on Wednesday morning and said that, having materially reduced his opponent's majority, he felt glorious enough for anybody.

Before election the JOURNAL said Mr. Hayden's plurality in the District was 3,500. It was 3,457—just 43 short, and some folks will be mean enough to say we only guessed at it.

When the new Polo League gets into full operation Carter's Academy will be the scene of some rare sport. The management of the rink will be such as to attract the best of society.

The Prohibitionists are entitled to the credit of electing Lang to the Legislature who has carried run enough into Reading from Boston to float a 74-gun ship from one of those places to the other.

It was a glorious day for election, and no complaints about the weather were heard on any hand. It was just a little warm for those who worked hard at the polls, but they did not mind it much.

Smith & Son's carpet room is large, light, clean and nice in which goods are shown to good advantage. Their rapidly increasing trade demands an addition to the room, which will be made in due time.

When we were told of the plan to defeat Moreland by several Democratic leaders we thought Republican votes would be necessary to carry it out. But none were asked for or offered. The Democrats did it.

To Charlie Rosenquist is due the honor of doubling the Prohibition vote in this town last Tuesday. He espoused the cause and then went for his fellow-countrymen and prevailed on them to vote that ticket.

It was a cute scheme on the part of the Democrats to defeat Moreland and it worked to a charm. And it will do to strengthen the friendly feelings that exists between the several factions in the Democratic party.

It was a very quiet, nice orderly election, showing that Woburn can behave herself decently when she has a mind to. There was no fighting or quarreling, but in their stead harmony and good feelings reigned.

Perseverance Division, S. of T., will give a basket-party next Tuesday evening, to attend which a general invitation is extended. The ladies are expected to take baskets to the party which will be sold for the benefit of the society.

Superintendent Jones reports that the business of the street railroad exceeds the expectations of the Company by a good deal. The people like and patronize it liberally. The No. Woburn and Winchester people regard it in the light of a boon.

While Mr. W. A. Hanson and daughter of No. Woburn were driving to the Centre yesterday noon their team ran into another one producing quite a smashup. Mr. Hanson's carriage was badly upset, but the occupants escaped serious injury.

The proposed lease of the Massachusetts Central railroad to the Boston & Lowell railroad company for 99 years was submitted to the stockholders of both corporations last Saturday afternoon, and the polls will be open for votes tomorrow.

It was amusing to see the Globe let itself down easy the morning after election. The Globe can accommodate itself to all sorts of circumstances without an effort and seems to like it. It is a victory, it is happy; if a defeat, it is nowise cast down.

Mr. D. H. Richards has sold his fine residence on Salem street to Mr. Martin V. Hayward, and moved into his new house on Fairmount St. Mr. Hayward has a large number of men at work putting his new home into first-rate shape outside and in.

On account of internal difficulties L. W. Perham Hose Company, No. 1, has disbanded, and a new company organized. Its officers are: Foreman, Amos Langill; Clerk, Patsy Coughlin; Treasurer, Amos Bryant.

The Board of Trade ought to enquire into the matter of fares between Wilmington and this place. The people of Wilmington say they can go to Woburn, and Lawrence nearly as cheap as to Woburn, but preferring to trade at Woburn, they ask to have the fares reduced. Woburn for her own interest should demand commutation tickets between Woburn and Wilmington.

The voters of Woburn took the advice of the JOURNAL and gave Mr. Hayden a rousing vote. We knew they would do it.

— The prevailing hot weather this week has been a serious setback to all kinds of trade in town. The clothing dealers feel it especially.

— We hear of many people in town searching for houses. Albeit a great many have been built this season there are but a few empty ones.

— Our railroad correspondent at the Highlands lays down the case very clearly and with considerable spirit. If we should tell Mr. Tuttle—that we shall not of course—that our correspondent is one of Woburn's fair ones perhaps it would induce him to do better by the Highlands in the way of trains.

— As Mr. Amos Cummings's symposium will close this evening doubtless his store will be visited by throngs of ladies this afternoon and evening. The symposium is a novelty in these parts, but it takes well with the ladies, for whom Mr. Cummings is always planning something unique and pleasant.

— Editor Allen, it is reported, voted for the two Reading candidates for the Legislature last Tuesday, which, considering Editor Allen's oft-repeated ideas on patronizing home men, industries and products, was just a bit singular. Such eccentricities are however quite common among independents and mugwumps.

— The train service at Winchester doesn't seem to be the fair and altogether lovely thing that a JOURNAL correspondent from there said it was. Contrariwise, there is growing at Winchester about the trains, for one thing that they only have two trains to Lowell in the forenoon, and for another thing, there are "gaps." Another thing which is happening is that of our own knowledge, namely; that it is more difficult for Winchester people to catch the ear of the B. & L. RR. officials than it is for the Woburn people. We thought at the time that our correspondent was a good way off from his eggs.

— The handsome Republican vote polled in this town last Tuesday was mainly due to the splendid work put in by our Town Committee, and Mr. Hayden doubtless feels that his running ahead of the general ticket was the result of that work. From beginning to end they managed the campaign admirably which the result shows. The boys knew they had a reputation to make in this contest and therefore put in big licks from the drop of the hat to the close of the polls. The name which they made for energy, pluck and sound judgment was a good one, and we all feel that high praise in due time.

— The Republican rally in Lyceum Hall last Monday evening was a good one. A full hall listened attentively for a couple of hours to Hon. A. E. Pillsbury, Hon. B. F. Whittemore, Hon. E. D. Hayden, and others. The speech of our esteemed townsmen Mr. Whittemore aroused the enthusiasm of the audience to the highest pitch, and the applause all through it was hearty and at times deafening. His allusions to Blaine was the signal for the widest cheering, showing that that distinguished statesman occupies a warm place in the hearts of Woburn Republicans. Mr. J. Simonds, Chairman of the Republican Town Committee, presided and get it.

— We would respectfully suggest to the Republican town committee the propriety of keeping the ball in motion for next April's Town meeting. Then is when we will all look for the best kind of work by them and a good deal of it. Their plans for carrying this town for temperance and good morals should be well laid beforehand, and everything done in readiness for the fight.

— The Woburn Coal Company, of which Mr. E. D. Newton is the agent and manager, have superior facilities for handling coal and other lines in which they are engaged and one of the best plants in this neighborhood. Any thing in the line of coal, wood, lumber, lime, hay, ement, etc., can be procured by the Woburn Coal Company's establishment in any desired qualities and at fair prices.

— Mr. Frank W. Legg, who recently purchased Mr. Howard Strong's photographic establishment, has had 20 years experience in the business in Boston, Cambridge and elsewhere, and is an artist of superior ability. He guarantees just as good work as that furnished by Mr. Strong or at any establishment in Boston, and hopes by doing so and dealing fairly by all to win a good position.

— The Y. M. C. A. are making arrangements to observe the week of prayer which commences on the 14th. They are pleased to announce that Mr. R. Denning, Secretary of the Boston Association, who is well known here; Mr. Stowell, his assistant; Mr. Coon, Secretary of the Charlestown Association; Mr. Plummer of Cambridge, and others will assist in having charge of the meetings.

— Miss Mabel Ellis gave her young friends a delightful Halloween party at the residence of her parents on Pleasant street last Saturday evening, which was very much enjoyed. The pleasant parlors of the large house were well filled with merry people who spent a charming evening with their courteous young hostess. An elegant spread was one of the very agreeable features of the evening's enjoyment.

— The Y. M. C. A. have made arrangements to have Rev. A. B. Kendig of Boston deliver a course of 3 lectures here in Woburn which he has given before the Boston Association and which are very highly spoken of. They will probably be given in the different churches in December, and will be free. The Association think the people of the town will be pleased to hear them.

— Our neighbor, Mr. Benjamin Hinckley, is a stockholder and has been chosen one of the Directors of the new Stoneham Street Railroad Company. He is a prominent Boston business man and a public spirited citizen of Woburn. Mr. Hinckley is also a Director in the Woburn National Bank, and member of other corporations. He may have to go to Niagara for his health as Mr. Jones did.

— Mr. Edward A. Tufts is a good farmer, and a man after our own heart. The latter clause of the sentence has been especially true ever since last Monday afternoon when Mr. Tufts left this office for the editor's enjoyment exclusively a lot of the fairest, largest and best apples we have laid eyes on or stuck a wisdom-tooth into this season. There were three varieties of them and to tell which was the most palatable we could not save us.

— Last Wednesday evening Mt. Horne Lodge of Free Masons was visited by R. W. Charles H. Crane, Dis. Dep. Grand Master of the 6th Masonic District, and suite. There were many visitors also from Lexington, Cambridge, Somerville, and other places. Work in the Master Mason's Lodge was exemplified. The Mendelsohn Quartett of Boston furnished splendid music, and the occasion wound up with a fine supper in the banquet hall of the Lodge.

— Mr. Martin V. Hayward has sold his fine farm on the east side to Mr. James Wood, of the well known detective firm of Wood & Wiggin, Boston. It is a superb property on which Mr. Wood proposes to make many important improvements that will render it one of the finest country seats in the county. He will build a racing track, fill his stables with a large collection of fast horses, lay out the grounds about the fine residence, and make it a handsome and pleasant gentleman's suburban home.

— The prevailing hot weather this week has been a serious setback to all kinds of trade in town. The clothing dealers feel it especially.

— We hear of many people in town searching for houses. Albeit a great many have been built this season there are but a few empty ones.

the highest importance, to the introduction of manual and industrial training in the girls' common schools. No one who has not seen and experienced it personally, can realize the immense benefit this training has conferred upon the poor, the careless and indigent, how it has improved the home sphere of the very lowest, where the mother can teach her daughters almost nothing. These girls learn how to mend, to darn, to knit, to sew, to crochet, and knowing all these means keeping themselves and their homes orderly. All throughout Germany I have not seen such ragged, unclean, forlorn-looking women as one meets in New York and Boston on the streets. If the German woman's dress is old and faded, it is at least clean and not ragged. Those who are better situated learn to make their own clothes, simple but strong. Every year new household arts are added,—ironing, washing, cooking,—and the consequence will be that ignorant domestics, who are a waste in every household and who try the strength and patience of housekeepers, will belong to the past. As soon as women take the industrial education of their own sex into their own hands, we shall have trained servants and better homes.

We in America make one great mistake, we disregard the intermediate steps. We jump from one thing to another. Because we have had the benefit of trained, educated workers from Europe, we disregard the necessity of sound instruction in the simple arts of life. Because our girls are quick-witted, ready at anything, we forget the importance and value of methodical training. What an immense but grand work is there to do in our large cities for the instruction and occupation of poor women, who are utterly worthless, a burden to the community, because they have never been taught anything! The Woman's Industrial Union of Boston meets a large demand. Its organization is upon such a broad humanitarian basis that it has already done wonders.

Two things we need most urgently: healthy, reliable organizations, and instruction and guidance which will reach down to the very poorest and lowest. We are indeed our sisters' keepers. Every woman in comfortable circumstances has a duty, a humane duty, to perform towards the woman who is less favored than she by circumstances, by birth, or by inheritance.

A Norwalk (Conn.) mother, taking a final survey of her little ones before they started for Sunday School, noticed something unnatural in the hang of a five-year-old's dress. She investigated and found under the short white dress of her promising daughter a lunch basket doing duty as a bustle.

At Gibraltar all beggars are prohibited from begging on any other day than Saturday. On this day they are always recognized, and seldom meet with a refusal, merchants generally putting something by them during the week.

ornaments, set in gold, for ladies to wear. The shores about Nantucket are strewn with bleaching sharks' heads. Sharking parties have been unusually lucky this season. In one day one whaleboat party caught eight that weighed between 400 and 700 pounds each.—New York Sun.

Process of Making Pretzels.

Were pretzels first made? Well, that is a disputed point, but the best claims to the honor of having originated the article are, I believe, put forward by Tyrol, a little town near Munich, in the Bavarian Tyrol, the arms of which are two gilt pretzels tied together with a blue and white cord. The motto I have forgotten. The pretzel is far more popular on this side of the Atlantic, however, than in the Fatherland, and I have more than once been amused to hear Americans say: "Why, I thought the pretzel was an institution over in Germany, but I never saw one there." That is not very remarkable, however, for although a vast number are eaten over there, one seldom sees them sold with beer, and at the fine cafes patronized by foreigners they are almost unknown.

"How are they made? Oh, it's a very simple process when you know how, but it takes some time to learn, and the baker must watch very carefully, so as to get just the right crispness out of his wares, for a soft and doughy pretzel is an abomination to good judges of the article. They take a brisk and hot fire, and the polish is put on with a little white of egg dabbed on before the baking. The main trouble is in forming the pretzel, which is done by hand, and some men work with amazing quickness at turning them out. I see that two men in Pottsville have invented a machine to mould them all ready for the oven. If it turns out to be practicable, and I don't see why it should not, they ought to make a very nice thing out of it, for pretzel bakers are sure to adopt it."—Philadelphia Record.

When Eating Green Corn.

The meal of the corn is perfectly digestible; not so, however, the shining envelope which surrounds the meal and makes up each individual grain. Use your teeth to bruise each grain well; chew your corn, and eat all you choose with impunity. Neglect to use the teeth with which nature has provided you, swallow the grain whole, you can not digest it, it will irritate the stomach and bowels and you will be apt not infrequently to have the same kind of time that was enjoyed by the historic parrot and the monkey. If you are toothless, use your knife and fork to accomplish this purpose.—Annals of Hygiene.

A Common Cold

Is often the beginning of serious affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes, and Lungs. Therefore, the importance of early and effective treatment cannot be overestimated. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral may always be relied upon for the speedy cure of a Cold or Cough.

Last January I was attacked with a severe Cold, which, by neglect and frequent exposure, became worse, finally settling on my lungs. A terrible cough soon followed, accompanied by pains in the chest, from which I suffered intensely. After trying various remedies, without obtaining relief, I commenced taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was

I am satisfied that this remedy saved my life.—Jno. Webster, Pawtucket, R. I.

I contracted a severe cold, which suddenly developed into Pneumonia, presenting dangerous and obstinate symptoms. My physician at once ordered the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. His instructions were followed, and the result was a rapid and permanent cure.—H. E. Simpson, Rogers Prairie, Texas.

Two years ago I suffered from a severe Cold, which settled on my Lungs. I consulted a medical physician and took the medicines they prescribed, but received only temporary relief. A friend induced me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking two bottles of this medicine I was cured. Since then I have given the Pectoral to my children and consider it for Colds, Coughs, and all Throat and Lung diseases, ever used in my family.—Robert Vandever, Meadville, Pa.

Some time ago I took a slight Cold, which, being neglected, grew worse, and settled on my lungs. I had a hacking cough, and was very weak. Those who knew me best considered my life to be in great danger. I continued to suffer until I commenced using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Less than one bottle of this valuable medicine cured me, and I feel that I owe the preservation of my life to its curative powers. Mrs. Ann Lockwood, Akron, New York.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is considered, here, the one great remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs, and is more in demand than any other medicine of its class.—J. F. Roberts, Magnolia, Ark.

As the season advances, the pains and aches by which rheumatism makes itself known, are experienced after every exposure. It is not claimed that Hood's Sarsaparilla is a specific for rheumatism—we doubt if there is, or can be, such a remedy. But the thousands benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla, warrant us in urging others who suffer from rheumatism to take it before the first keen twinge.

"Yes, I had a very narrow escape," said a prominent citizen to a friend. "I was confined to my bed for a year and my friends gave me up for a consumptive's grave, until I began using Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs, and here I am, sound and hearty." Woman's Column.

The following extracts from a letter of Mrs. Clara Neymann will be of special interest to those ladies who had the pleasure of listening to the writer's talk before the Woburn Woman's Club just previous to the European visit which has given occasion for these observations and reflections:

CARL-SHURE, SEPT. 12, 1886.
Editor's Woman's Journal:

Again the alertness and push, the energy and pluck, of the American woman as compared with the inertia, complacency, and self-sufficiency of the average German woman, have impressed me very forcibly. *

The German woman distinguishes herself by the negative virtues, while our American women are strong in the positive line. *

One thing, however, is certain: German women have done better in establishing industrial schools for women than we in America. In every city or town there are People's Educational Societies, whose special task is to help, to instruct, to stimulate and to aid those who have not the means, or the energy, or the ability, to help themselves. I will not direct your attention to their multifrom beneficial works, but would rather speak of what is done specifically for women by women.

The Woman's Industrial Union, which commenced its war sixteen or eighteen years ago, started from Berlin and Leipzig, and is now spreading all over Germany. Nearly every hamlet in Baden has its industrial school where the poorest are taught knitting, mending, darning, sewing, dressmaking and handiwork. In the larger towns and cities, millinery, embroidery, art industry, drawing, designing, book-keeping, cooking, kindergartening, house-keeping, laundering and horticulture are added. Indeed, every occupation which belongs to the so-called woman's sphere is taught in these newly established schools. The training is, as a rule, systematic and according to the most improved methods. The eye and the hand gain in readiness of perception and execution.

These schools are not like those for boys—government institutions; they are the work of women created by them, and kept in excellent condition by their devotion, self-sacrifice and constant attention. They owe their origin to an iron necessity, to the suffering and privation of single women, who, when thrown by the vicissitudes of life upon their own resources, did not know how to earn a cent. The development of these schools proves that German women can work consistently, ardently, and methodically for a given purpose, if that purpose is not too far in advance. As these schools did not conflict with men's sphere of action, men in many instances helped and co-operated in their formation and management. The result has been more than gratifying.

It has led also, which I think of the highest importance, to the intro-

SHARKING AT NANTUCKET.

An Old Skipper's Opinion—Sharking Parties—Getting a Bite.

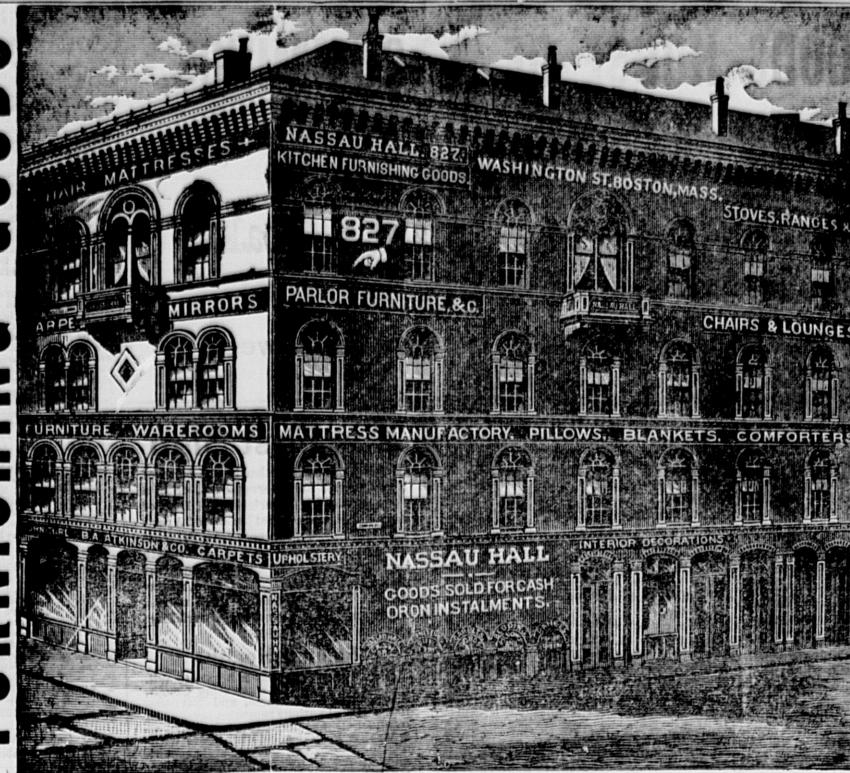

Sharking is the summer craze at this queer old ocean resort. Any one can catch all the sharks he wants at Nantucket. Parties of visitors go out after them each morning, and return late in the afternoon. Ladies are very fond of sharking, and fish daily in their bright holiday attire for them. In hauling in a shark it is estimated that a woman can pull about five pounds and scream 500 pounds, and skippers say she is a very valuable member of a boat's crew.

"Yer see," explained an old captain of a shark boat the other day, "a Naotucket shark never seen such a critter as a woman got up in yer city style, and jest lookin' at her in the bow of a boat, shaking her parasol and lettin' of screeches ter more'n beat a steam tug whistle, sorter paralyzes ter shark and he is willin' ter let yer do most anything with him."

The sharking parties all go to the south side, or to the east end of the island, where the best grounds are. They take a car from this town on the little rusty three-foot gauge Nantucket railroad and rumble and bound over the twisted rails, which often make a rise of several inches in a few feet, to Sconsett, on the east end, where the Norcross brothers have two whaleboats in which to go through the surf to the fishing grounds. They take the sharkers to the deep water of Haulover, beyond the great Sankaty lighthouse, and drop the lines overboard. To catch a shark it is necessary to have a long rope, bigger than a clothes line, to which is knotted a long-shanked, heavy hook, about which string a lot of fat, luscious, round clams. There is nothing that a shark is so fond of as round clams, and when he beholds a string of them dangling before his nose, all divested of their shells, which are rather dyspeptic eating even for a shark, he generously overlooks the hook as an unimportant incident in the spread. He takes right hold, and as he swallows the big hook and then the clams, and begins to reel in his end of the rope with ultimate acquisitive intentions on the boat and other paraphernalia, the sudden sharp tug he gives notifies the fishermen that they have got a bite.

Then they begin to pull on their end of the line, and the double in-gathering process speedily brings the boat and the shark to a point where they can scrutinize each other. Usually six or seven men pull on the rope with one or two ladies to help. A shark almost always, after he has been hooked, comes right along through the water like a log, unresistingly. There is no more sport in him than in a codfish until he gets close to the boat and can see the people in it. Then he begins to make a fuss, dashing hither and thither and splashing the green billows into beaded foam, but his struggles avail little. Quickly the boat is pulled up to his furious front, and a brawny sailor, standing on the prow, brains him with a few blows from a heavy club. After the shark has been butchered, his carcass is towed ashore and left on the beach, and the party return through the surf to set their hooks again. The bodies of sharks go to the mills that make fertilizers. The heads are saved, the teeth being extracted to be fashioned into delicate little

The Mugwumps of Boston and surrounding towns and President Eliot of Harvard, Chief of the tribe, had a grand time with President Cleveland last Monday. The Massachusetts Democracy could not have gotten up a celebration that the President would have honored by his presence, but his ear was wide open to the Mugwump call and he and Dan'l were on hand bright and early. To show the difference in Mr. Cleveland's estimate of the two wings of his party it is only necessary to state that the Democracy, pure and simple, were allowed to shake hands with him in the unaristocratic Old Cradle of Liberty, while the Brevet Democracy, the silver-grays so to speak, or swallow tails as some call them, that is to say, the Mugwumps, had the infinite pleasure of basking in presidential smiles at the high-toned Vendome, from which honest Mr. Rusticus and the rank and file of the party were vigorously excluded. The Mugwumps were happy, and so was Mr. Cleveland, President Eliot, who is trying to convert Harvard University into a free trade Normal School, was also happy. But the real, genuine, double-twisted Bourbon Democracy didn't see very much in the grand celebration and reception to run wild with delight over.

The Boston Evening Record with its accustomed enterprise has made a canvass of the Massachusetts Senators and Representatives elect to find out their standing on the United States Senator question. Responses to its inquiries were freely sent in and the figuring up shows that a large and very gratifying per cent of the Republican side of the Legislature will vote for Long. Mr. Dawes is third in the race according to the Record's returns, our present excellent Governor Robinson leading him by a handsome score. Life and health given him, John D. Long will be elected next winter to succeed Senator Dawes, to which the common people will respond with a hearty Amen.

The celebration of the 250th anniversary of the founding of Harvard College closed on Monday evening in a blaze of glory. Several days had been devoted to the occasion in which there were orations, addresses, music, dinners, and games without end, and to cap the climax President Cleveland and wife and Dan'l came on from Washington to assist in bringing the grand affair to a proper close. "Fair Harvard" hasn't experienced such a season of joy and gaiety since 1836.

The State gives expression to popular opinion when it says in substance that Henry Cabot Lodge has entered public life to stay, and not only so, but that he is destined to become the most conspicuous figure and leading statesman in this Commonwealth. Hour will be old enough to retire when his present term is out and that will be Massachusetts' opportunity to get a statesman into the United States Senate to work along side of Long. Lodge is going there. Young men to the front!

The Democrats lost so heavily on Congressmen at the late election that the "working majority" in the House which now claim may on some important occasions prove a minus quantity.

After all it turns out that Mrs. Cleveland, and not Grover, was the real hero of the spread-eagle affair in Boston last Monday.

For reasons which will become more obvious later on it is thought Mrs. Cleveland will not lead Washington "society" this winter very much.

The Mugwumps of Boston and surrounding towns and President Eliot of Harvard, Chief of the tribe, had a grand time with President Cleveland last Monday. The Massachusetts Democracy could not have gotten up a celebration that the President would have honored by his presence, but his ear was wide open to the Mugwump call and he and Dan'l were on hand bright and early. To show the difference in Mr. Cleveland's estimate of the two wings of his party it is only necessary to state that the Democracy, pure and simple, were allowed to shake hands with him in the unaristocratic Old Cradle of Liberty, while the Brevet Democracy, the silver-grays so to speak, or swallow tails as some call them, that is to say, the Mugwumps, had the infinite pleasure of basking in presidential smiles at the high-toned Vendome, from which honest Mr. Rusticus and the rank and file of the party were vigorously excluded. The Mugwumps were happy, and so was Mr. Cleveland, President Eliot, who is trying to convert Harvard University into a free trade Normal School, was also happy. But the real, genuine, double-twisted Bourbon Democracy didn't see very much in the grand celebration and reception to run wild with delight over.

The Boston Evening Record with its accustomed enterprise has made a canvass of the Massachusetts Senators and Representatives elect to find out their standing on the United States Senator question. Responses to its inquiries were freely sent in and the figuring up shows that a large and very gratifying per cent of the Republican side of the Legislature will vote for Long. Mr. Dawes is third in the race according to the Record's returns, our present excellent Governor Robinson leading him by a handsome score. Life and health given him, John D. Long will be elected next winter to succeed Senator Dawes, to which the common people will respond with a hearty Amen.

The celebration of the 250th anniversary of the founding of Harvard College closed on Monday evening in a blaze of glory. Several days had been devoted to the occasion in which there were orations, addresses, music, dinners, and games without end, and to cap the climax President Cleveland and wife and Dan'l came on from Washington to assist in bringing the grand affair to a proper close. "Fair Harvard" hasn't experienced such a season of joy and gaiety since 1836.

The State gives expression to popular opinion when it says in substance that Henry Cabot Lodge has entered public life to stay, and not only so, but that he is destined to become the most conspicuous figure and leading statesman in this Commonwealth. Hour will be old enough to retire when his present term is out and that will be Massachusetts' opportunity to get a statesman into the United States Senate to work along side of Long. Lodge is going there. Young men to the front!

The Democrats lost so heavily on Congressmen at the late election that the "working majority" in the House which now claim may on some important occasions prove a minus quantity.

After all it turns out that Mrs. Cleveland, and not Grover, was the real hero of the spread-eagle affair in Boston last Monday.

For reasons which will become more obvious later on it is thought Mrs. Cleveland will not lead Washington "society" this winter very much.

Ladies, please read the card of Miss Reeves in this paper. She comes well recommended.

On Thursday evening, 15, the Calumet Club will hold a Ladies' Night.

J. W. Bartlett has sold his Bacon street property to E. D. Bangs for $5,000.

Our esteemed citizen, Gen. Corse, was a distinguished attendant on President Cleveland's Mugwumpian reception at the Vendome last Monday.

M. J. Fitzgerald, who was arrested by officer for an attempted burglary of Mr. C. F. Lam's residence, was fined $15 and cost in the Woburn District Court last Saturday.

There are to be religious services in the churches here on Thanksgiving Day. Services appropriate to the occasion will be preached. There is talk of having a union meeting of all the churches.

A Town Meeting here is better than a play. We have any quantity of them too. If anybody happens to want anything or thinks he does, or if it should strike his fancy that it would be a good thing to have a meeting, then let him do it to go to work and have one. The boys are always on hand for a Town Meeting and it don't make a cent's worth of odds whether there is any need of it or not. There was one held here last Monday. As usual it partook of the nature of a circus. A committee of 21 were chosen to look after the annual appropriation bills for 1887, and report in due time and form. The lot of land at the junction of Washington and Main streets which a few generous gentlemen have purchased and offered to the town for a public square was accepted, and it was a good thing to do. A report of the Swanton street relocation was accepted. But when the proposition to appropriate $10,000 additional to the Town House fund was made then by the band commenced. The first to pour in a broadside against it was our venerable friend Summer Richardson. Then Mr. Tyler had some judicious words to offer; Mr. Vinton followed with an amendment to the motion; Moderator Wilson left the rostrum and aired his eloquence from the floor, and so it went on, Mr. Summer managing to get in seven or eight good, solid speeches before the curtain was rung down. The upshot of the business was, the meeting refused to make the appropriation.

A Boston Knight of Labor high in authority expressed the conviction last week that the strike at Mr. John Maxwell's tannery was altogether unnecessary, uncalled for, and detrimental to the interests of the workmen who left. He expressed that opinion freely after having enjoyed long and exhaustive interviews with the striking laborers and Mr. Maxwell, and I think, from all I can gather, that he was very near right about it. Mr. Maxwell says that not one of the men who left his factory two weeks ago shall ever return to it as an employee; that they went out without the least provocation, and he will not give one of them another hour's work. He evidently means this, and knowing him as I do my opinion is, the men acted unwisely when they left his shop. Maxwell has now 40 men employed and can get just as many more as he needs to do a big business. Last spring he put into his factory new and improved machines to the value of $8,000, which fill the places of a large number of hand-workmen and more will be purchased as operations demand. As for hands Mr. Maxwell says he can easily obtain all he wants, and better workmen than those who so unmercifully left him without cause.

Maxwell has given Mr. George W. Kimball of Woburn the contract for building a large boarding-house near his factory which will be completed and ready to occupy in the course of six weeks. It will accommodate 75 boarders, and will be just the thing needed for his men. He is getting everything in shape to conduct his business independently of outside influences, and to make money.

The above facts came to me straight from Mr. Maxwell, and I have no reason to doubt their correctness. If the other side have any thing to say I should like to hear it.

BURLINGTON.

The fall term of the schools closes, next week.

Mr. S. W. Rodman and family have removed to their winter home in Boston.

Messrs. Lester Skelton and Edward Bennett have recently captured a room, an animal very rare in this region.

The Sunday school proposes to furnish the room which is to be provided for them in the church when it is remodeled. They have adopted a system of weekly offerings for that purpose.

Dea. Clark Sheld of Tewksbury, died last week, was a brother of Abner Sheld, Esq., and a native of this town. A week before his death he sent a general contribution for the proposed repairs of the church in Burlington. It is pleasant to remember that Dea. Sheld, even in the last hours of his life, did not forget his old home.

North Woburn.

We are waiting very patiently for that additional morning train.

Rev. Charles Staples will preach in the Chapel, this village next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. The public are invited.

A temperance meeting will be held in the Congregational church here on next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

Rev. D. D. Winn will deliver an address. The Woburn Orchestra (5 pieces) will lead the praise meeting and furnish music to accompany the lecture. A cordial invitation is extended to the public.

Important.

Dyspepsia can be made happy by using CHIFMAN'S PILLS. Malaria can be avoided by giving them a fair trial. No need to suffer from sick headache any longer. Dr. Chifman's Pills have been tested for fifty years for these troubles. For sale by all Druggists.

Rev. D. D. Winn will deliver an address. The Woburn Orchestra (5 pieces) will lead the praise meeting and furnish music to accompany the lecture. A cordial invitation is extended to the public.

Important.

Blood is absolutely necessary in order to enjoy perfect health. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood and strengthens the system.

Having tried A. W. Thompson's Liniment for Chilblains, Corns and Bunions, can testify to its ability to cure the same. For Bee Stings it cannot be equalled.

It is no new thing with the Royal Baking Powder Company to publish in the newspapers reading notice advertisements which have the appearance of emanating from the editor's pen.

Its most recent effort is an article from the Albany Evening Journal giving a pretended investigation of if made by the Journal of the qualities of the baking powders. The following is from a later issue of the same paper (August 29, 1886) so plainly stamping the whole as simply an advertising dodge of huge proportions that we think the public entitled to the benefit of the expose, and accordingly give it below:

"The Journal has printed analyses and reports of various baking powders as reading notices or advertisements. It has not undertaken to say of its own knowledge which is the best power in the market. Consumers must decide for themselves."

The piece of ingenious advertising on the part of the Royal Baking Powder Company may have had its origin in the evident disappointment of that Company with its extravagant but fruitless advertising efforts to beguile the public into believing that the cream of tarter was in a permanent form. In order to this all fair will be held in Horticultural Hall, Boston, beginning Dec. 6, and continuing one week. Contributions of vegetables, jellies, marmalades, fruits, pickled plants, dried flowers, advertisements of the paper-kitchen ware, in fact, anything used anywhere will be of service.

We appeal to kind-hearted people throughout the State to help us in this lasting effort to a noble object.

All contributions of money should be sent to Charles Irwin, Treasurer, care Chandler &amp; Co., Winter Street. Donations of other kinds should be sent to the Hall, care of F. C. Compton, Saturday, Dec. 6.

Every effort is to be made to make the Fair a success. Let all who are willing to do something for the aged and dependent women in our community, many of whom are very needful, help in this benevolent work.

For further information can be obtained of the Secretary, Box 1871, Boston, Mass.

The Elks' Ball.

For those who have been invited to the Invitation Ball, in Mechanics' Building, Monday evening, Nov. 15, should once make application to some member of the Lodge, as the number of tickets is limited, and will be sold. The Executive Committee will be responsible for this ball the grandest affair that has yet taken place under the auspices of the Lodge, and they will spare no expense to attain this end.

There will be an uninterrupted flow of music from beginning to end, and will be a grand orchestra in the Main Hall, or ball room the orchestra in Machinery Hall will give a promenade selection, which will continue till the next number is given by the grand orchestra; and this interchange will continue throughout the evening.

Local Notice.

Realizing at last that the re-election of Senator Dawes is out of the question the people who started his boom awhile ago have abandoned the hopeless task of keeping it up and are now all flocking to the standard of Gov. Robinson. It seems to make no difference to them that Gov. Robinson has said that under no circumstances will he be a candidate against Congressman Long, and that his verdict has been recorded—they are as earnest in advocating his election and are circulating as lively among the members-elect of the Legislature as if he were really in the race. It is a case that looks very much like "anything to beat Long" with these professed champions of Gov. Robinson.

If Minister Lowell had allowed himself to be interviewed by Reporter Hawthorne before the bottle was brought on instead of after he would have had less cause for regret than he now has. In the controversy that followed almost everyone thinks Reporter Hawthorne came out a long way ahead.

Local Notice.

Ex-President Arthur died yesterday morning after a long and painful illness. Thus another great man is gone.

The Dawes men have virtually abandoned the fight and thrown up the sponge. It was uphill business from the start.

Local Notice.

It is rumored that Governor-elect Ames is pestered almost to death by applicants for office under his forthcoming administration.

Hon. A. C. Coffin is a member of the Board of Commissioners appointed by the Superior Court to assess damage against the City of Cambridge for land taken for a water supply.

If we can believe what we hear, Winchester, Stoneham and Woburn is surrounded with a garrison of horse railroads, all leading to Chelmsford—“Points” in Star. I don’t know exactly what he means by “gorgeous,” but the street cars are coming all the same, and point towards Chelsea Beach.

The Selectmen will give the No. Woburn Street Railway Company a hearing on their petition for an extension of the road to Medford line on Saturday, December 4, at 2 o’clock, P. M. No doubt exists as to their decision—their plan will be granted. It is understood that this extension fore-shadows a system of street railways by which Winchester will be connected with Boston, Woburn, Stoneham, Melrose, Saugus, Lynn, etc., which will be worth more to the town than the steam railroad. It is going to be a grand thing for us and will increase the value of real estate here very much. My opinion is that Mr. Twombly will have an extension to Cambridge street within a year, for he is shrewd enough to see that with street cars running to it, he has got the best land in town for residences. The distance from the business centre and depot would be no objection at all to Mr. Twombly’s location if there was a street railroad running to it, and he’ll have one pretty soon. Public opinion respecting this matter is very different from what it was six months ago.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, NOV. 26, 1886.

The JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of S. Horton, 195 Main Street, A. Robie, 196 Main Street, John Cummings, 2d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, North Woburn, Cooper's News Stand at the Centre Depot, and at G. P. Brown's, Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.
All advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

SHALL WE MOVE FOR IT?

It is the best judgment of some leading people in town that Woburn is in duty bound to make an effort to secure a city charter this winter. We are not entirely sure but that they are right about it. The town has population enough to entitle it to a charter. There can be no doubt concerning that point. According to the return of the Assessors last May the number of inhabitants was 11,876, or within less than half a dozen of that figure, and no one we believe who has taken note of the inflocking of people during the last six months can doubt for a moment that we have population sufficient to entitle us to a city charter with at least 500 to spare. Mr. Allen's new directory contains 5,855 names which according to all rules of computation would give the number of inhabitants largely in excess of the figure required, and other evidence tends to strengthen that belief.

If then this point is settled beyond reasonable doubt we fail to see any good excuse for further delay in applying for a charter. It is generally conceded that a city form of government for Woburn is desirable for many reasons that need not here be stated having been thoroughly discussed in these columns away back along, and for one we are inclined to the opinion that this winter will be a good time, and none too soon, to strike for a change in our local government.

W The death of Charles Francis Adams a few days ago at his winter residence in Boston, at nearly 80 years of age, severed another of the few remaining cords that hold the country's past to the present. He was the only son of President John Quincy Adams, the grandson of President John Adams, and himself a statesman worthy of his parentage and name. Mr. Adams was American Minister to the Court of St. James during the Rebellion, and it is said that the hardships of which he was there subjected undermined his health and shortened his days.

W Some tender-footed Republicans in and around Boston feel uneasy over Mr. Blaine's alleged position on the civil service question, and equally the Mugwumps are delighted. Whatever else Mr. Blaine may be we do not remember of ever having heard anybody say he is a fool. Mr. Blaine believes in practical civil service reform and will give the Nation an exemplification of his ideas immediately after his inauguration in the spring of 1889.

W The State (Boston) is a rugged, able-bodied hater and we like it all the better for being one. There is nothing it hates worse than a Mugwump, and when it writes about that curious political product it dips its pen into the gall-bottle twice to the inkstand once. The State is popular with sensible people.

W Congress will reconvene in a week from next Wednesday, if our reckoning is correct. It was given out some time ago and repeated at regular intervals ever since that it will be no great shakes of a session so far as work and results are concerned.

W From its silence on the subject it is surmised that the Globe has withdrawn Gov. Robinson from the Senatorial race. We didn't think the Globe so chicken-hearted as all that comes to.

The 42d annual meeting of the Massachusetts Teachers' Association will be held to-day and to-morrow at the Girls' High School, West Newton street, Boston. To-morrow will be a good day to attend it.

The Woburn Coal Company, Mr. E. D. Newton, agent, keep all the coal used for heating, steam and domestic purposes, and sell as cheap as any concern in town. They keep lumber, lime, cement, etc.

Since the improvements on his market Mr. Tabor has grown so proud and uppish that he don't seem to care whether he sells fish, oysters, clams, etc., or not. Some people can't bear prosperity worth a cent.

The prospectus of St. Nicholas for 1887 is published in this issue of the JOURNAL, to which we call attention. St. Nicholas stands at the head of juvenile magazines, and is equally well adapted for adult reading.

As there is no such a thing as Thanksgiving week we did not dream that anyone would be misled by the JOURNAL's statement that our schools would stand closed on "Thanksgiving week." Of course it is meant.

We would give considerable to find out whether Editor Allen got his Thanksgiving turkey, or not.

The post-office was closed a part of the day Monday on account of the funeral of Ex-President Arthur.

The old depot is to be finished off into stores. We understand a party in town has rented it for furniture, etc.

Mr. W. H. Cummings, carpenter, is fixing up the Johnson building next to the JOURNAL office in good shape.

It having rained a good share of the time this fall milkmen say it has been an excellent season for their business.

The prospect is fair for a goodly number of first class entertainments here this winter. The more the merrier.

The Business Committee of the Board of Trade propose to reach out for more manufacturers here. It is a good plan.

The grand vocal and instrumental concert in behalf of St. John's Convent will take place next Sunday evening in Lyceum Hall.

Our esteemed North Berwick correspondent will please accept thanks for a copy of an interesting and valuable periodical.

You do not see many tenements offered for rent in the JOURNAL these days. Reason: there are none empty to speak of.

The representation of the Portland Vase in Mr. W. W. Hill's collection of reproductions of classical sculpture is a beautiful thing.

It rained again on Tuesday. Seemingly we had more rain than usual this fall. But it is all right we make no doubt.

On account of the storm the attendance on the meeting of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trade was light last Tuesday evening.

Mr. Herbert B. Dow, Principal of the Andover, N. H., Academy, is visiting his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. James N. Dow, on Academy Hill.

Some of our people have been taken in and done for by a pretended canvasser for magazines within the last few days. Look out for all such people.

The 50-candle incandescent lights which several of the stores on Main street have are splendid illuminators. They are made by the Sun Company here.

Mr. Abel Simonds of Burlington has English and meadow hay for sale and rowen. It is of the best quality and will be sold at fair prices for cash down.

Santa Clause has hired Curtis's Bazaar and will make that big store his headquarters during the holidays. He has already put in a great many holiday goods.

and paupers in and around Boston feel uneasy over Mr. Blaine's alleged position on the civil service question, and equally the Mugwumps are delighted. Whatever else Mr. Blaine may be we do not remember of ever having heard anybody say he is a fool. Mr. Blaine believes in practical civil service reform and will give the Nation an exemplification of his ideas immediately after his inauguration in the spring of 1889.

The State is popular with sensible people.

W The rumor of a strike at Mr. Robert Duncan's factory last Monday was entirely without foundation. He has a large force of men at work and every department is running at full blast.

Last year at Thanksgiving time a dreadful storm raged on sea and land hereabouts, and many vessels were wrecked. Boston harbor was a sight to behold on the day of the purchase.

Mr. J. W. Nichols has repaired clocks in town and neighborhood for the last six years and has built up a good trade. People have confidence in his skill and honesty, and therefore employ him.

The Board of Selectmen at a special meeting adopted a memorial resolution on the death of Ex-President Arthur, and ordered the flag to remain at half-mast until the funeral which was done.

— A Missionary meeting will be held in Trinity Episcopal Church, on Wednesday evening Dec. 1st, at 7.30 o'clock. The Rev. Geo. W. Shin, D. D., Rector of Grace Church, Newton; Rev. E. W. Smith, Rector of the Church of the Ascension, Fall River; and Rev. A. H. Amory, Rector of Grace Church, Lawrence, will make addresses. The public are cordially invited.

— The addition to the Central House is pretty well along and will soon be finished. Besides several sleeping rooms, a laundry, etc., it will contain a spacious bath-room, and other conveniences. Landlord Cobb is pleased with the addition.

— It having rained a good share of the time this fall milkmen say it has been an excellent season for their business.

— Mr. John Connolly, of the Executive Committee of the Farmers and Cattlemen's Assembly, K. of L., says matters are getting on in good shape in nearly all the factories in town, and that there is no prospect of a strike anywhere that he knows of.

— Mr. Proprietor Carter would respectfully give notice that on this, Friday, evening, in the intervals between the polo innings, Mr. James Collins will entertain the audience with cornet solos. This will be an enjoyable part of the programme.

— There is nothing that goes to the right spot on a cold day as Fred Ladd's hot coffee, chocolate, and other temperance drinks. He makes the best quality of all kinds of these drinks which are well patronized by the public. His chocolate is the boss.

— The JOURNAL has good friends all over the town and beyond the town's limits even. Among the best of them we reckon Mr. Barnabas Richardson whose present of some fine punkins last week has secured him a high place in the JOURNAL's regards. Be assured, gentle reader, with a plenty of such good friends, the editor is in no immediate danger of starving to death.

— We recommend a careful perusal of an advertisement in this paper in which the COTTAGE HEARTH, an excellent family magazine published in Boston, to each subscriber for the JOURNAL and to each old subscriber, will pay a year in advance. It is a right good offer which we should think hundreds of people would avail themselves of at once.

— Mr. C. C. Coffin ("Carlton") gave a grand good lecture in Lyceum Hall last Tuesday evening under the auspices of Post 161, G. A. R. There was quite a large attendance, especially good sized considering the bad rain storm that prevailed, and the audience was richly rewarded for going out.

— The next day after the romantic episode in Officer Ryan's life reported, reporter remarks on the Boston reporter's account of which may be found duly set forth in these local columns, a warrant was sworn out against the fair but frail Cora, which Chief Nelson and Officer McGee tried to serve, but failed to get reinstated there.

— There was much Thanksgiving day visiting here and there yesterday. Children came back to their former homes, old folks visited their children, friends met again around the well-laden board, good cheer prevailed and many hearts, and people were happy generally.

Do Rubber Boots and Shoes

GIVE SUCH POOR SERVICE?

All of them to not give poor service, but you probably think so, because you do not discriminate between brands in buying your goods.

There are only five or six factories in the United States making strictly first quality goods, the "CANDEE RUBBER CO." of New Haven, Conn., stands at the head of all for Style, Fit, and Durability.

Hence, unless you are posted and use caution, you are liable to supply yourself with a poor, unsatisfactory article.

Among the few Companies making first class goods, the "CANDEE RUBBER CO." of New Haven, Conn., stands at the head of all for Style, Fit, and Durability.

We carry a stock of these most desirable Rubbers, and invite your inspection and solicit a trial.

Woburn Locals.

According to the story of a cool-headed, steady-nerved, and always veracious Woburn reporter of one of the Boston dailies there was a time over on Prospect street last Saturday night.

The narrative was a thrilling one. It seems that when a certain Mistress Somebody went home in a companion that evening her young daughter feared there was going to be a circus and so set up a howl of "order" in advance that no time might be lost when the performance had come to a head.

In response to this urgent appeal for help that was expected to be wanted on the rolling up of the curtain three stalwart guardians of the peace were quickly on the spot and as quickly were set to work to find out what the row was all about. They didn't succeed in finding much of a one, but might have been more lucky had they been less prompt in responding to the screams of the young'un. It wasn't much—only the lady had thrown a lamp on the stove and set the house on fire, and another on the floor which didn't do any damage, after which she ran upstairs, opened a window and hurried herself through it right into the outstretched arms of Officer Ryan. That was the most thrilling act in the great domestic drama and came near proving a serious one to the brave officer, but very lucky for the woman who but for those outstretched arms, the reporter pathetically says, "might have been laid up with one or more broken limbs." The reporter omits to say whether the house was burned down or not, but we infer not, because Officer Walsh was detailed to remain on the premises to a late hour, while Officers Mulken and Ryan went back to their beats.

BURLINGTON.

Thanksgiving services were held in the church, Thursday morning.

Tuesday evening, Nov. 30, at half past seven o'clock, the Literary Union will give an entertainment and supper in the Town Hall. The entertainment, which will occupy the first part of the evening, is to be novel and interesting, and will be conducted by the ladies of the society. At half past eight o'clock, a supper will be served by the gentlemen, and they are especially anxious that all their friends may be present. The admission tickets will be ten cents and supper tickets twenty-five cents.

Mr. T. S. Curtis has been chosen secretary and treasurer of the Union in place of Miss Anna Alley, who declined to serve.

MEETINGS FOR NEXT WEEK.

Woman's Column.

Over fifty women are connected with newspapers at the South and they propose organizing a Southern Women's Press Association.

It is a sad commentary on the perception of equity and justice of civilized man, that the Chickawaw Indians recognized the right of married women to have and hold property, two years before the law was passed securing property rights to married women in Mississippi, the pioneer of States in this particular. And it may be news to many people that in Mississippi this reform was wrought in 1887 by the individual efforts of a woman, Mrs. B. J. Hadley, the daughter of Major David Smith, an old Indian fighter.

There are now only three colleges, Yale, Amherst and Williams, that are not open to women in one way or another.

St. Saviour's Hospital, in London, was founded some fourteen years ago, by a lady who especially devoted herself to the relief of suffering and more particularly to the treatment of cancer. The hospital is not, however, confined to this, but receives all the class of illnesses which may be alleviated by care and medicine. The hospital is mainly supported by the founder, the house being her property, though it holds the position of a public hospital.

Columbia College is renowned as one of the most conservative and prudent colleges in the country, and it has been "chaffed" sometimes for allowing its reverence for tradition to chill its interest in progress. But yet it is one of the few great colleges which have admitted women to examination and to a college certificate of their attainments and it has recently decided by a unanimous vote of the Board of Trustees to confer upon women the various literary and philosophical degrees which, upon examination, they may be found entitled. Consequently, at the late Commencement, this venerable mother of arts, literature, and science, for the first time—and we believe first of any institution of similar standing in the country—conferred upon Miss Winifred Edgerton, who was already a Bachelor of Wellesley College, the degree of Doctor of Philosophy cum laude. As Bellario of Padua, commanding Portia, wrote to the Duke of Venice, so Columbia said to the young Bachelor of Wellesley, to whom she gave the degree: "In loving estimation was with me a young Doctor of Rome. . . . I beseech you let his lack of years be no impediment to let him lack a reverend estimation. . . . I leave him to your gracious acceptance." The young Doctor and Bachelor, as she stood before the President, Faculty and Trustees, and received her diploma, was a harbinger of advancing civilization and of the constant enlightenment which makes this age brighter than its predecessors. Her presence on that academic stage meant that every opportunity of generous development shall be opened to women, and it showed that if Columbia College, cautious, wise and much deliberating, does not refuse her hours to trained and proved scholarship and intellectual attainment, merely because they appear in the feminine form, no other institution need hesitate. Where Columbia dares to lead, every college in the land may dare to follow.

One thousand of the 200,000 farms in Iowa are owned and cultivated by women. In California women are investing largely in real estate, while in Oregon farms owned and operated by women are so common as to excite no comment. Many women work on farms they do not own, especially German women. The passage of new laws giving women additional property-holding rights, has aided them greatly in acquiring lands.

Of the two hundred thousand working women in New York, the highest average earning is $7 a week. Numbers earn but $5 a week. Thousands are unable, with sixteen hours work a day to earn even that.

A woman works in a Kalamazoo (Mich.) cooper-shop, who can make as many barrels in a day as any of the men who work with her.

The British Primrose League has a membership of 400,000.

Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, of Boston, has established twenty kindergartens and seven day schools which require a yearly expenditure of $60,000.

The trustee under Mrs. Stewart's will is to "erect, furnish and endow" a seminary for women, "provided he shall consider it expedient or proper to do so." As the trustee is ex-Judge Hilton, who abandoned Mr. Stewart's woman's hotel project as soon as he conveniently could, there is not much likelihood of any Stewart seminary for women taking shape.

The loss of the woman suffrage bill in the Vermont Senate was not much of a loss after all. The bill proposed to give the ballot only to those women who owned two hundred dollars' worth of taxable property. It would have been well enough in Rhode Island, where male voters are subjected to a property qualification, but anywhere else the discrimination is as unjust as it is ridiculous.

Francis Newcombe, of New York City, has given $100,000 to the Faneuil University, New Orleans, for the purpose of establishing a college for the higher education of white girls and young colored women.

These are sold facts.

LITTEL'S LIVING AGE for 1887. For more than forty years this standard weekly magazine has kept its readers abreast with the most important of the day's current issues and ample space render it an unrivaled compilation of a great and constantly growing literature which embraces the productions of the most eminent writers in all fields. It is indispensable to the American reader as the only satisfactory, fresh and complete compilation of this literature. Supplying the place of many reviews, magazines and papers, it enables one to buy the expense, considering the quality and quantity of the material furnished, to keep pace with the best literature and thought of the time. Its prospectus for 1887 is worthy the attention of all who are interested in reading-matter for the new year. Reduced rates for the other periodicals are given, and to new subscribers remitting now for the year 1887 the intervening weekly numbers are sent gratis. Littel & Co., Boston, are the publishers.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE for December, that favorite, is before us, ahead of all others. It may be called a prize number. It has the most brilliant illustrations, a title-page, as lovely as an over sea, and a title-page, with a beautiful girl's face, also unrivaled; in fact, Peterson's is now the only magazine that can give the expense, all the strength of those colors, and original steel engravings. There is also a mammoth colored fashion-plate, likewise engraved on steel and colored by hand—a perfect love of a thing the ladies would say. Berlin work, such as is now for fifty cents, but which is given, gratis, to subscribers, for Christmas gifts. Beside these, there are some fifty wood-prints of fashion, embroideries, crease patterns, etc. The literary content is more than double the long established reputation of Peterson's as giving the best original stories, Mrs. Ann S. Stephens, Frank Lee Benedict, Edgar Fawcett, John Sherwood, etc., etc., being regular contributors. No man or boy or any boy or any family can be without this magazine; its tone is always high and pure, but it is just the one for the home-circle. The price is but Two Dollars a year. To clubs, subscribers, and corporations for six dollars, and for cents with an extra charge for the person getting up the clubs. For larger clubs, costly premiums are given in addition. Specimens sent gratis, if written for so that there may be no deception. Now is the time to get up clubs. Address CHARLES J. ATKINSON, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

We induce all the proprietors have said relative to the merits of Savinol. It is the greatest cure on earth for pain. Price only 25 cents.

I have used Dr. Ball's Cough Syrup for my children; it is the golden remedy.—Mrs. Dr. Blackwell.

There are no unions that have not their dark days; but, when we have loved each other, we remember it always, and those sweet remembrances, that the heart accumulates, survive love like twilight.

The Mystery Solved.

It has always been understood that Consumption was incurable, but it has recently been discovered that Kämpf's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs is giving more relief than any known remedy. It is guaranteed to relieve and cure Asthma, Bronchitis and Coughs. Call on Charles H. Buss, Druggist, Woburn and get a trial bottle free of cost. Large size 50 cents and $1.

The truth cannot be burned, beheaded, or crucified. A lie on the throne is a lie still, and the truth in the dungeon is truth still; and the lie on the throne is on the way to defeat and truth in the dungeon is on the way to victory.

Cure Yourself.

Don't pay large doctor's bills. The best medicine is a simple diet. Send us an elegant colored plate, will be sent to you on receipt of three cent stamp to pay postage. Address A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

Hommes are like harps, of which one is finely carved and bright with gilding, but ill-tuned and jarring the air with its discord, while another is old and plain and worn, but from its chords strain that are a feast of music.

Captain Mitchell, of the bark Antioche, New York, and Havana trade, came home in May, entirely helpless with rheumatism. He went to the mountains, but receiving no benefit, at his wife's request went to Woburn, and immediately began to improve; in two months his rheumatism was all gone, and he sailed in command of his vessel a well man. Hood's Sarsaparilla will help you. Sold by druggists.

There are now only three colleges, Yale, Amherst and Williams, that are not open to women in one way or another.

St. Saviour's Hospital, in London, was founded some fourteen years ago, by a lady who especially devoted herself to the relief of suffering and more particularly to the treatment of cancer. The hospital is not, however, confined to this, but receives all the class of illnesses which may be alleviated by care and medicine. The hospital is mainly supported by the founder, the house being her property, though it holds the position of a public hospital.

Columbia College is renowned as one of the most conservative and prudent colleges in the country, and it has been "chaffed" sometimes for allowing its reverence for tradition to chill its interest in progress. But yet it is one of the few great colleges which have admitted women to examination and to a college certificate of their attainments and it has recently decided by a unanimous vote of the Board of Trustees to confer upon women the various literary and philosophical degrees which, upon examination, they may be found entitled. Consequently, at the late Commencement, this venerable mother of arts, literature, and science, for the first time—and we believe first of any institution of similar standing in the country—conferred upon Miss Winifred Edgerton, who was already a Bachelor of Wellesley College, the degree of Doctor of Philosophy cum laude. As Bellario of Padua, commanding Portia, wrote to the Duke of Venice, so Columbia said to the young Bachelor of Wellesley, to whom she gave the degree: "In loving estimation was with me a young Doctor of Rome. . . . I beseech you let his lack of years be no impediment to let him lack a reverend estimation. . . . I leave him to your gracious acceptance." The young Doctor and Bachelor, as she stood before the President, Faculty and Trustees, and received her diploma, was a harbinger of advancing civilization and of the constant enlightenment which makes this age brighter than its predecessors. Her presence on that academic stage meant that every opportunity of generous development shall be opened to women, and it showed that if Columbia College, cautious, wise and much deliberating, does not refuse her hours to trained and proved scholarship and intellectual attainment, merely because they appear in the feminine form, no other institution need hesitate. Where Columbia dares to lead, every college in the land may dare to follow.

FRIDAY, DEC. 3, 1886.

The JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of S. Horton, 195 Main Street, A. Robie, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 23, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, North Woburn, Cooper's News Stand at the Centre Depot, and at G. P. Brown's, Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.
All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

Mr. Lucius Tuttle, General Passenger Agent of the Boston and Lowell Railroad Company, has received a flattering offer to fill the same position for the Canadian Pacific Company, which he is now considering. It is a well-known fact that the passenger traffic of the Boston & Lowell road has increased wonderfully in the last two years, particularly the mountain travel, and this, it is equally well known, has been due to the judicious management, enterprise, and liberal policy pursued by Mr. Tuttle. His efforts to accommodate the public, to please the patrons of the road, to advertise its advantages and thus attract business, have been unremitting, and the result is a vast increase of the passenger traffic during his occupation of the responsible office. The Boston & Lowell Company will miss it if they allow Mr. Tuttle to leave their employ.

The Boston Journal published a New York interview last Tuesday with Senator Edmunds in which the distinguished Vermont statesman expressed a desire to "make up" with Mr. Blaine. He realizes at last he has carried his prejudices farther than the Republican party of the country will stand without protest and is anxious for a reconciliation. Mr. Blaine can get along very well without Mr. Edmunds, against his active opposition even, therefore Mr. Edmunds' overtures for a settlement will probably meet with about the same treatment that his proffered hand did at the Arthur funeral.

There are quite a good many applicants for the Speakership of the Massachusetts House and other legislative positions all of which will be settled, so they who pretend to know the most about it say, by a Republican caucus. Likewise, the Senatorship is to be disposed of in the same manner. That is proper and businesslike. The true way to present candidates to the Legislature for election is to hold a caucus, select them, and then stand up to the caucus decision like men.

After standing out nearly five months at a loss in wages of over $400,000, the tanners and curriers of Salem and Peabody held a mass meeting last Sunday and voted to end the strike. On Monday morning the factories were besieged by the returning men, but only a small per cent of them were taken back. And now the question naturally arises, how much good has the strike done the curriers and tanners of those towns?

After declining twice Mr. O'Neil has finally concluded to accept the nomination of the laboring men of Boston for Mayor. This will be apt to interfere somewhat seriously with Mayor O'Brien's walk-over that the Democratic papers have been saying he was sure of.

The Republicans of Boston have nominated Alderman Thomas N. Hart for Mayor, and a very good man people say he is. There is a fighting chance for him to win with a Democratic and Labor candidate in the field.

There was another rain storm Tuesday night with thunder which cleared off some time before morning. The dullest kind of a fog preceded the rain.

Some of the co-operative banks in Boston have Woburn customers. This is not exactly as it should be. We ought to have one of these banks of our own.

Mr. and Mrs. James T. Freeman will please accept our thanks for a box of the bridal loaf, and also our best wishes for their peace, prosperity and happiness.

Rev. Mr. Kendig of Boston gave the first Act of his "Real Life in three acts" at the Methodist church last evening. The other two will be given on December 9 and 16.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet in the parlor of the Unitarian church, on Monday, Dec. 6, at 3 P. M. A cordial invitation is extended to all ladies.

Mr. Curtis, proprietor of the famous Curtis's Bazaar, has opened a branch establishment at Stoughton which is under the management of Mr. Lamb, his brother-in-law.

The Woburn Coal Company keep a large number of teams busy filling the orders for wood and coal left at their office. Mr. Newton, the agent, is well pleased with the patronage received.

Mr. Tabor's fish market looks as nice as a parlor. New floors have been laid and other improvements made which give it a neat appearance. Mr. M. W. H. Cummings did the work.

A capitalist in town wants to build a fine block of stores on Main street, but the owners will not let him have a sight for less than nearly a foot thick of gold all over it. He can't afford that.

Owing to an unavoidable interruption, the Chautauqua Circle will meet on Monday evening, Dec. 6. An interesting address will be given by Dr. Dodge, upon the Structure and Functions of the Eye.

We would call especial attention to the splendid entertainment that is to be given at the Congregational church this evening. Those who stay away will miss a rich treat. The best way will be for every one to go.

Rev. N. B. Fish of Cambridge visited his former parish in Woburn last Tuesday and called at the JOURNAL office. He is recovering from the injuries received last summer quite rapidly, we were glad to know.

Mr. J. W. Maynard, the noted blind pianist and singer of Boston, will give a concert at the Methodist church, Tuesday evening, Dec. 7. He will be assisted by Mr. F. A. Hether, a blind tenor and clarinet soloist of Boston. The programme will be first class in every way, serious and humorous turns, and an enjoyable evening assured. Tickets 25 cents. Under fifteen, 15 cents. Commence at 7.45.

"Ram did it." Well, suppose it did, as it didn't in all cases, that is no reason why poor children should go through the present cold winter without shoes and clothes enough to make them decently comfortable, is it? Many little ones, who are not to blame for their fathers' bad course, cannot go to school because they have nothing fit to wear. Shoes, hats, clothing, etc., left at Police Headquarters for them will be carefully distributed.

There is an ox-team in town that never falls when on the road to arrest and please the eye of all artists who chance to get a view of it. The oxen, cart and driver are in perfect keeping, the whole giving a symmetrical blending of beautiful points seldom witnessed in a country turnout. The cattle are variegated in color, slow of motion, the off one generally travelling several feet ahead of his mate; the driver sits contentedly on the cart-handle with whip over his shoulder; and the cart, with stakes unevenly divided, makes out to bring up the tail-end of the procession in pretty good shape. It is a rural picture that art-lovers never tire of admiring.

The following officers were elected by Mr. Horeb Lodge, A. F. and A. M., last Wednesday evening: W. M., William F. Davis; S. W. Frank G. Richardson; J. W., Charles R. Brown; Treasurer, Abijah Thompson; Secretary, John H. Ropes.

The first entertainment in the Board of Trade series will be given in Lyceum Hall on next Wednesday evening, and will consist of a concert by the best Boston talent, the particulars of which are given in our advertising columns. The names of the artists engaged are a warranty that the concert will be a splendid one. It would be pleasant to see Lyceum Hall filled on that occasion.

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1886.

There is no frost in the ground yet. The man at the head of the Weather Bureau in the absence of Gen. Hazen is doing his duty manfully, but rather partially towards New England, of which section of the Union he is a native. It is Lieut. Greeley.

We have had wonderful weather all the fall and nothing more so than during the week which closes with the working off of the JOURNAL. It has been like Indian summer all the time with a storm now and then, and just as beautiful and balmy as spring.

On Tuesday morning the fog was so thick and dark that trains going in and out of the city had to be flagged over Charles river and there along to prevent accidents. That came tolerable near being the fog that we read about that has to be cut with a knife.

The concert at Lyceum Hall last Sunday evening in aid of St. John's Convalescent was a great success artistically and financially. The music was capital in every part, while the hall was not only filled with people but many were unable to gain admittance.

If it is true, as the post says, that the quiet female of the porcine genus always obtains the largest share of the liquid nutrient from the trough than our friend Burgess must be thriving. He attains strictly to business, makes no noise, and accumulates wealth.

Mr. Charles Cook made a very handsome speech with the chair presentation at the Jackson—Gilead wedding a week or two ago. Those who were present pronounced it a fine piece of oratory. More concerning it may be learned from the Sunday Globe.

The local reporters of the Boston papers have been lazy and idle this week. The Globe man seems to have exhausted himself on the Winchester railroad smash-up and has been resting on our ears ever since. What the other chaps have been doing with the posies bloom in the spring, tra la.

Mr. Curtis, proprietor of the famous Curtis's Bazaar, has opened a branch establishment at Stoughton which is under the management of Mr. Lamb, his brother-in-law.

The Woburn Coal Company keep a large number of teams busy filling the orders for wood and coal left at their office. Mr. Newton, the agent, is well pleased with the patronage received.

Mr. Tabor's fish market looks as nice as a parlor. New floors have been laid and other improvements made which give it a neat appearance. Mr. M. W. H. Cummings did the work.

A capitalist in town wants to build a fine block of stores on Main street, but the owners will not let him have a sight for less than nearly a foot thick of gold all over it. He can't afford that.

Owing to an unavoidable interruption, the Chautauqua Circle will meet on Monday evening, Dec. 6. An interesting address will be given by Dr. Dodge, upon the Structure and Functions of the Eye.

We would call especial attention to the splendid entertainment that is to be given at the Congregational church this evening. Those who stay away will miss a rich treat. The best way will be for every one to go.

Rev. N. B. Fish of Cambridge visited his former parish in Woburn last Tuesday and called at the JOURNAL office. He is recovering from the injuries received last summer quite rapidly, we were glad to know.

Mr. J. W. Maynard, the noted blind pianist and singer of Boston, will give a concert at the Methodist church, Tuesday evening, Dec. 7. He will be assisted by Mr. F. A. Hether, a blind tenor and clarinet soloist of Boston. The programme will be first class in every way, serious and humorous turns, and an enjoyable evening assured. Tickets 25 cents. Under fifteen, 15 cents. Commence at 7.45.

"Ram did it." Well, suppose it did, as it didn't in all cases, that is no reason why poor children should go through the present cold winter without shoes and clothes enough to make them decently comfortable, is it? Many little ones, who are not to blame for their fathers' bad course, cannot go to school because they have nothing fit to wear. Shoes, hats, clothing, etc., left at Police Headquarters for them will be carefully distributed.

There is an ox-team in town that never falls when on the road to arrest and please the eye of all artists who chance to get a view of it. The oxen, cart and driver are in perfect keeping, the whole giving a symmetrical blending of beautiful points seldom witnessed in a country turnout. The cattle are variegated in color, slow of motion, the off one generally travelling several feet ahead of his mate; the driver sits contentedly on the cart-handle with whip over his shoulder; and the cart, with stakes unevenly divided, makes out to bring up the tail-end of the procession in pretty good shape. It is a rural picture that art-lovers never tire of admiring.

The following officers were elected by Mr. Horeb Lodge, A. F. and A. M., last Wednesday evening: W. M., William F. Davis; S. W. Frank G. Richardson; J. W., Charles R. Brown; Treasurer, Abijah Thompson; Secretary, John H. Ropes.

The first entertainment in the Board of Trade series will be given in Lyceum Hall on next Wednesday evening, and will consist of a concert by the best Boston talent, the particulars of which are given in our advertising columns. The names of the artists engaged are a warranty that the concert will be a splendid one. It would be pleasant to see Lyceum Hall filled on that occasion.

There is no frost in the ground yet. The man at the head of the Weather Bureau in the absence of Gen. Hazen is doing his duty manfully, but rather partially towards New England, of which section of the Union he is a native. It is Lieut. Greeley.

We have had wonderful weather all the fall and nothing more so than during the week which closes with the working off of the JOURNAL. It has been like Indian summer all the time with a storm now and then, and just as beautiful and balmy as spring.

On Tuesday morning the fog was so thick and dark that trains going in and out of the city had to be flagged over Charles river and there along to prevent accidents. That came tolerable near being the fog that we read about that has to be cut with a knife.

The concert at Lyceum Hall last Sunday evening in aid of St. John's Convalescent was a great success artistically and financially. The music was capital in every part, while the hall was not only filled with people but many were unable to gain admittance.

If it is true, as the post says, that the quiet female of the porcine genus always obtains the largest share of the liquid nutrient from the trough than our friend Burgess must be thriving. He attains strictly to business, makes no noise, and accumulates wealth.

Mr. Charles Cook made a very handsome speech with the chair presentation at the Jackson—Gilead wedding a week or two ago. Those who were present pronounced it a fine piece of oratory. More concerning it may be learned from the Sunday Globe.

The local reporters of the Boston papers have been lazy and idle this week. The Globe man seems to have exhausted himself on the Winchester railroad smash-up and has been resting on our ears ever since. What the other chaps have been doing with the posies bloom in the spring, tra la.

Mr. Herbert Bryant advertises to rent a nice house with modern improvements on Fowle and Mt Pleasant streets. The rent is comparatively low.

C. A. Smith & Son have an interesting communication in this issue of the JOURNAL. It is particularly recommended to the perusal of the ladies.

There was another rain storm Tuesday night with thunder which cleared off some time before morning. The dullest kind of a fog preceded the rain.

Some of the co-operative banks in Boston have Woburn customers. This is not exactly as it should be. We ought to have one of these banks of our own.

Mr. and Mrs. James T. Freeman will please accept our thanks for a box of the bridal loaf, and also our best wishes for their peace, prosperity and happiness.

Rev. Mr. Kendig of Boston gave the first Act of his "Real Life in three acts" at the Methodist church last evening. The other two will be given on December 9 and 16.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet in the parlor of the Unitarian church, on Monday, Dec. 6, at 3 P. M. A cordial invitation is extended to all ladies.

All of them do not give poor service, but you probably think so, because you do not distinguish between brands in buying your goods.

There are only five or six factories in the United States making strictly first quality of goods, but there are a dozen or more running on poor, low-priced numbers exclusively.

Hence, unless you are posted and use caution, you are liable to supply your goods with a poor, unadvised brand.

The School Board will hold its regular meeting on this, Friday, evening. Ralph Brigham will give an entertainment in the Methodist church this week.

A good many of our young men attend the polo contests at Carter's Academy in Woburn.

The Town Library is now open every evening in the week and on Monday, Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

S. C. Small & Co., whose furniture salesrooms are 71 and 73 Portland street, Boston, and factory here, have opened a repair department, which I think will be a good thing.

If the Star had any enterprise, or even "a habitation and a name" here, let alone the enterprise, it would send a boy around town and count the houses that have been built here this season, and publish the result.

A hint for our station master: A big baggage truck is kept standing under the window of the northern end of the station. One of these dark nights a passenger will walk round the corner of the station in a hurry and tumble over this truck—and then the road will have to pay from three to ten thousand dollars for a smashed head or a broken leg. A word to the wise!

The Reform Club temperance meetings are having a regular "boom". Last Sabbath the Hall was full to overflowing. The singing is led by Mr. Edwin Robinson and is a grand feature in the meetings. Next Sunday Mr. Thomas Leighton of Boston, a very speaker, will give the address and a rich treat is in store for those who are fortunate enough to hear him.—S.

Last Friday the 5.40 p. m. train out, drawn by the "Dublin," a very large new engine, E. P. Pushee, conductor, Frank Davis, Engineer, and George Carson, fireman, was wrecked at this station, and the engine and fireman seriously hurt. Some say the accident was caused by a misplaced switch, others that the engine jumped the track at the frog. No passengers were injured, although the freight was a big one. The engine was turned completely round and faced towards Boston when she keeled over. In a few moments other trains were due and soon there was a great crowd of passengers on the scene. Fortunately the in trains had a free passage, and the delay was less than it otherwise would have been. The engine and fireman were speedily rescued from their perilous position under the wrecked cab, and their serious bruises attended to. They were conveyed to their homes at Stoneham. Conductor Pushee dispatched to the city for a wrecking train, and by morning the tracks were cleared.

It was a serious smashup, but a fortunate one so far as the passengers were concerned. Trains were delayed and ran "wild" all the evening.

Last week's issue of The Shoe and Leather Reporter contained the following respecting the affairs at Mr. John Maxwell's tannery:

At John Maxwell's tannery, Winchester, Mass., matters are running along smoothly. Eighty hands are employed and applications are being made daily for work. The green hands are put on machine work, and are doing remarkably well at it. Mr. Maxwell has put in a whitening machine, Lockwood settler, split and grain leather finisher, and is producing 1,500 sides of glove grain and buff leather, besides about ten tons of splits, weekly. He is erecting a boarding house, which will accommodate 75

Woman's Column.

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe has accepted the editorship of the Bazaar Journal, Music Hall, Boston, Dec. 13 to 19.

The Natick League has selected the following motto for its table banner at the approaching Suffrage Festival: "One half the people is not a republic."

Jennie June says of a friend, "She was not handsome, but she was alive."

It is said that in Charlestown, N. H., the selectmen were petitioned by the ladies to close an offensive saloon; that the selectmen presented the petition to the saloon-keeper and that the latter amused his customers by posting the interesting paper upon his wall. Would a petition bearing the same number of the signatures of voters have received the same treatment?

A course of four lectures is about to be given by the W. C. T. U. of Dover, N. H., speakers and subjects being announced as follows: Abby M. Diaz, "Woman's Work for the Millennium"; Rosa Aldrich, "What the Interests of Modern Society Demand of Educated Women"; Abba Good Woolson, "Dress as Affecting the Health of Women"; Ednah D. Cheney, "The Importance of Names."

The Topeka Capital speaks thus of an address delivered by Rev. Annie H. Shaw before the American Woman Suffrage Association lately convened in that enterprising city: "There is no more eloquent lady speaker in America. The greatest audience listened breathlessly to her splendid address. She was interrupted every few minutes by applause, and when she closed, the applause was continuous and enthusiastic. It was an unanswerable argument for equal rights for women, and converted hundreds of her hearers to the Woman Suffrage cause."

A fine marble statue of "Sister Dora" has been erected by the men of Walsall.

Speaking of the sex distinctions in the salaries of school-teachers Prof. W. H. Cushing says: "There are puerile economists who will tell you that women's wages would be less than men's anyway, and that they ought to be, because women do not stay in their profession, but all have one eye on the eligible young men. It is cant, and it is false. The women teachers serve on the average longer than the men. For every woman who is teaching to earn a dowry, or to fill up her time while waiting for the young man, there are two men who are teaching to earn means to go to school or to enter into business. They don't pay women any more because they don't have to, and some school directors would oppose suffrage just because the present rule is so much more economical. It is economical still if they could make women teach for nothing. But that system of labor was abolished in 1863-4 and this ought to follow it."

A Beacon street lady offers the services of one hundred young friends in making up materials contributed to the Suffrage Fair.

James Fenimore Cooper was great uncle of Constance Fenimore Woolson, author of "Anne," etc.

Madame Fanny Jauschek, the very talented Hungarian tragedienne writes: "I have been thirty-three years on the stage, and I say there is no life like it. It has no happiness; it leaves you no time for domestic or social pleasures, no time for anything but work, work, work. I was once a good pianist but for years I have hardly touched a piano. I have to draw, but there is no time ever. All is work and travel, travel and work. To girls who think of going on the stage, again I say, No! No!"

You have seen the fine photographs representing artistic dress-reform, as advocated and adopted by Annie Jennesse Miller, of Washington, D. C.? They are on exhibition at Office of Womans Journal, 5 Park street.

Active, Pushing and Reliable.

W. H. Hill can always be relied upon to carry in stock the purest and best goods, and sustain the reputation of being active, pushing and reliable, by his splendid articles with well-constructed and well-made articles.

Having the agency for the celebrated Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, colds and coughs, will sell it on a positive guarantee.

It will surely cure any and every affection of the throat, lungs, or chest, and in all cases of consumption, we ask you to call and get a trial bottle free.

The End of Jamestown.

Jamestown began to decline when the capital was removed to Williamsburg, and after it was burnt during the Bacon rebellion of 1676, it was never rebuilt.

The water will eventually eat away the ground upon which it stood. This old ruin will lie at the bottom of the James and no vestige of the first settlement of America will remain. It was an exceptionally bad location.

It is again too low, and a mass of the ruins of John Smith ought to have understood better than to have started a town there.

It takes a steamer five or six hours to go from Richmond to James town, and it is about four hours from Old Point Comfort and Norfolk.

A Generous Firm.

We are informed that the proprietors, Messrs. A. P. O'Dwy & Co., recently sent three dozen of their reliable medicine, Sulphur Bitters, to the Catholic Hospital for the Aged, which is highly esteemed by the directors and inmates. "As you sow, so shall you reap."—Editor Catholic Union.

Teach self-denial and make it practical pleasureable, and you create for the world a destiny more sublime than ever issued from the brain of the widest dreamer.

Every day adds to the great amount of evidence to the curative powers of Hood's Saropurilla. Letters are constantly being received from all sections of the country, telling of benefits derived from this great medicine, and it is used for general debility and as a blood purifier, excelling every trace of scrofula or other impurity. Now is the time to take it. Prepared by C. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all druggists.

A TRAVELER IN EUROPE.

Notes of Things Seen by an Alderman Abroad—Interesting Batch.

Alderman G. W. Elliot ought to have been a newspaper parographer, instead of a city alderman. He closes a recent letter from Europe with the following interesting batch of "Notes of Things Seen."

The Frenchman is known by his cap. There are very few flies in England and France.

In southern Ireland only did I see any large and stately trees.

French locomotives are larger and more powerful than the English.

The French woman is known by the novel and style of her clothes.

What a contrast for hand organs and pianos, and what splendid instruments they are in France.

Dirt boots are never or seldom seen on the continent. The shoe-blacking business must be good.

France is happy under the republic, but is always liable to have a revolution when "times" get bad.

The universal macadam roadways of the continent made an American with the same macadam were more comfortable than his.

Crows, which are very common in Great Britain, do not seem to fancy France. Indeed, wild birds seem very rare in the latter country. Has "fashion" destroyed them all?

English newspapers abound in advertisements, editorials and long "news" letters. French newspapers are short, crisp and sensational with a minimum of "ads" and a maximum of stories and "life."

Public poster advertising in Europe is done in a most ingenious and artistic manner. The boards are controlled by a large company, and a certain sum of money is paid for the display of a poster for a certain time.

Paris recognizes and regulates vice and the social evils with a firm hand. American cities recognize them but do not attempt to control them after the license is paid; hence an infinite amount of mischief is done to the innocent as well as the guilty.

England is the land of all lands in Europe. It is sacred soil. The integrity of this little republic is guaranteed by the powers; its people are prosperous and happy; its hotels are the envy of all travelers; its climate is soft and pleasant; its scenery fills the soul with wonder, and sometimes with alarm; few or no beggars are seen or heard, and you can get a good wholesome glass of water without paying for it.

Music literally fills the air in Europe. Last night in Geneva, Switzerland, probably as good as the best in America, playing upon the hotel stops for the detection of guests? The result is that there is a dreamy, luxurious sense, suggestive of an oriental life of ease, infused into life in such places, and one's constant wish is that Americans would remit part of the exacting duties of business and devote more time to the softer and more refreshing and soul-satisfying amenities of life.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

Great Rivers of the World.

The explorations of recent years have considerably changed our notions of the comparative rank of the great rivers of the world. If we class rivers according to length, both the Nile and the Yangtze-Kiang must be named before the Amazon. The Nile's 4,000 miles of waterway from its headwaters south of Lake Victoria to the Mediterranean make it the largest river in the world, nearly as long as the Mississippi and Missouri together, and about 1,000 miles longer than the Amazon. The Amazon is the greatest river in the world, because it has immense tributaries, some of them larger than the Danube, Rhine, Po, and Yangtze-Kiang must be named before the Amazon. SPECIAL NOTICE.
All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

THE "BLUE LAWS."

It looks now as though a strong effort would be made this winter to induce the Legislature to repeal certain laws that have stood on the statute books of this Commonwealth for many years respecting the observance of the Sabbath. The Sunday closing of the drugstores and barbershops in Boston lately has aroused the opponents of existing laws and they declare the obnoxious statutes must go this winter. We observe that several new papers in the State are taking sides with the Sabbath-breakers and will help carry out their plans, if the plans can be carried out.

The laws objected to are wholesome ones. They were made by people as wise as this generation to preserve the sanctity of the Lord's Day and they are just as necessary now as they were fifty or a hundred years ago. It isn't that the people of the present time are so much more knowing than their forefathers, although they claim to be, but they are looser in their morals and therefore disposed to spurn the legal regulations which the pious and intelligent people of half a century and more ago thought necessary to compel a proper observance of the Sabbath. The laws which are sought to be repealed forbid unnecessary work on Sunday, trading, riding, driving and visiting for pleasure, and some other things that ought not to be indulged in on that sacred day. Our forefathers believed indulgence in these things wrong and they are just as wrong now as they were then. There is danger in breaking away from the old moorings and losing sight of the old landmarks.

Moral, upright, God-fearing people are not heard clamoring for the repeal of what some call the "blue laws" of the State. Not at all: it is those who want to turn Sunday into a holiday, or labor, or business day, and have no regard for its holy character that are at work to abolish them. Let us hold on to the "blue laws."

GOV. ROBINSON MAY RUN.

There are some grounds for believing Gov. Robinson will be a candidate for election to the United States Senate in place of Senator Dawes. True, he has said he will not, but he has the same right to change his mind that other men have and his silence on the subject leads many to suppose he has already done so. There is quite a large number of people in the State who would be glad to see Gov. Robinson succeed Senator Dawes and it is plain to be seen that not a few of them are at work with that end in view. If no Republican caucus is held we will stand a fair chance of being elected, for his three administrations has been in every way so admirable and popular and his ability and integrity have won for him so many warm friends that Democratic members would doubtless come forward and help his supporters elect him. It is by no means a foregone conclusion that Gov. Robinson will not, at the proper time, enter the lists for the Senatorial prize.

"NO" AHEAD.

In the charter elections in the minor Massachusetts cities last Tuesday prohibition came out largely ahead. On the license question thirteen of them voted "no," namely: Brockton, Malden, Waltham, Somerville, Fall River, New Bedford, Springfield, Fitchburg, Gloucester, Haverhill, Newton, Northampton. Four voted "yes," to wit: Lawrence, Chelsea, Holyoke and Taunton, and Cambridge voted no. In each of these cities the good temperance ladies, although a great snow storm raged, were at the polls all day and to their work and effort the encouraging result was mainly due.

VERMONT FOR BLAINE.

A correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat made a thorough canvass of the Vermont Legislature just before it adjourned and found that the first choice of more than three-fourths of the Republican members for presidential candidate in 1888 was James G. Blaine, and that two-thirds of them were for him "first, last and all the time." The result of the canvass was a great surprise to Senator Edmunds and his mugwump friends. It is thought he will be more anxious than ever to co-operate with Mr. Blaine in burying the hatchet.

CONGRESS.

The last session of the present Congress met on Monday with a large share of the members in their seats. In the afternoon each branch listened to the reading of the President's Message. Since then the time has been chiefly devoted to getting ready for business. Leading Senators and Representatives have recently expressed the opinion that nothing of importance will be done this session.

THE MESSAGE.

In another place we give a brief synopsis of President Cleveland's Message to Congress, which is a long, prolix and somewhat prosy document. It treats the usual topics in the usual way, and some of its ideas, without being original, are quite good. In view of his recent acts the President's claim to being a model civil service reformer is rather rich.

Yesterday was as mild and balmy as any early autumn day.

Please read "For Rent" by N. W. Eaton. It is a nice place.

Useful, ornamental and durable presents at Jenkins's Hardware Store.

Mr. W. H. Cummings has a 4-acre farm, with house and other buildings, for sale.

Our readers are respectfully requested to read Mr. Burgess's new card in this paper.

Rev. W. R. G. Mellen will occupy the Unitarian pulpit next Sunday at 10:30 A. M.

Last Tuesday evening the Woburns beat the Somervilles at Somerville 7 to 1. Just think of it!

Currit's great Bazaar is in a blaze of glory with Christmas goods. It looks beautiful in the evening.

We publish the card of M. E. Brande, dentist, of Lawrence, this week, to which attention is called.

Rev. N. B. Fisk of the Cottage Street M. E. Church, Cambridge, will please accept our thanks for favors.

The street cars are nicely and comfortably warmed this cold weather, which makes riding in them a pleasure.

We call attention to the card of Mr. Stephen Grover, piano-tuner, in this paper. He is a perfectly reliable man.

Mr. A. H. Jones of Bangor, Maine, has rented the Trull building above the stores and will keep a hotel and boarding house.

Bear in mind that Mr. Frederick A. Ober will give his splendidly illustrated lecture on Mexico at Lyceum Hall, next Tuesday evening.

The Boston Clothing Company have a very fine line of holiday goods. When in search of them never pass the door of their establishment.

The new snow plow of the N. W. S. R. Co., is one of the plows we read about. It weighs over two tons, and sweeps everything clean about it.

The Woburn Bargain Store will not be eclipsed by any store in town in the matter of holiday goods. Mr. Prior is rolling them in by the car-load.

The Rev. Wm. Sheafe Chase, rector of St. James' Church, Woburn, will officiate at Trinity Episcopal Church on Sunday next.

Read the change in Mr. Amos Cummings's advertisement. Have you seen that beautiful show-window of handkerchiefs? It is the finest thing yet.

If any have failed to examine the art goods which Mr. W. W. Hill has bought for the holidays we would advise them to go at once and see them.

An enterprising reporter of a Boston daily has located the stables of the Stoneham Street Railroad Company on Main street just below Fowle in this village.

About the most attractive show-windows in town are those of J. W. Hammond's clothing house. Great taste is displayed in arranging the goods in them.

Dr. Dodge has a very fine stock of Christmas cards and other holiday goods, which make a handsome display in his show-cases. People will find what they want at his store.

Three young ladies were baptised at the Baptist church, by the pastor, Rev. D. D. Winn, on Sunday last. Three other individuals received by letter the Friday evening before.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Boston and Albany Railroad Company held last Wednesday our esteemed citizen, Hon. John Cummings, was re-elected a director.

The Maxwell Brothers, who now occupy the Pollard factory, have leased the building down the railroad track into which they have or will soon move. Now who will take the Pollard place?

Chairman Lewis ought to get his Board of Trade Business Committee together and reach out for an addition to the manufacturing industries of the town. He should be all ready for spring's work.

Labor matters are all very quiet here. No stories of troubles have reached our ears this week from any quarter, and it looks as though all hands had settled down for a steady winter's work.

Next week the JOURNAL will contain a biographical sketch of Samuel S. Richardson from the pen of Mr. A. Richardson, in which the older part of the people of Woburn and Winchester will be interested.

Mr. Charles M. Munroe tells the public in his new card what can be found at his store in the way of holiday goods. He has a large, judiciously selected and every way excellent stock, and nobody sells cheaper than Munroe.

Had it not been for the very severe snow storm it is probable President Flint of the Board of Trade and several of the members would have visited Wakefield last Tuesday night, at the request of gentlemen who are about to organize a Board of Trade in that handsome and pleasant town, and made some speeches. The experience of the Woburn Board would be valuable to other communities about to organize them.

Boston is going for water from Shawshene river this winter for all there is out. Notice of a petition by the Boston Water Board to the Legislature has been given. Boston ought to have the Shawshene and will probably get it.

Rev. M. Howland, missionary to India, will give a stereopticon exhibition of scenes, people, customs, and missionary work in Southern India, in the Congregational church at 7 o'clock next Sunday evening. It will be interesting.

The stockholders of the Woburn First National Bank, E. D. Hayden, President, and George A. Day, Cashier, will hold their annual meeting for the choice of Directors and other business, in the Bank parlors, on Tuesday evening, January 11.

The Woburn Coal Company respectfully represent that they are selling all kinds of coal as cheap as any dealers in town. They also respectfully represent, by their agent, Mr. E. D. Newton, that no dealers keep a greater variety or better coal than they do.

A great many tramps are given lodgings in the lockup every night just now. The poor fellows are faring rather roughly, and the wonder is that they remain in this hard climate during the winter, instead of going to Florida or some other milder climate.

Liberal people should swell the Police fund to buy turkeys for the needy on Christmas day. We have it on good authority that those who give to the poor lend to the Lord, which consideration ought to open many pocketholes very wide to increase the above fund.

A social entertainment, consisting of songs, readings and tableaux, under the auspices of The Friday Night Club, will be given in the parlors and vestry of the Unitarian church on this, Friday evening, Dec. 10. All members and persons interested are invited to attend.

The Spy says Mr. Austin W. Parker, pattern maker, of Woburn, has been engaged to lecture before the Society of Mechanical Arts of Worcester, on next Tuesday evening. His subject will be "The Manufacture of Nails." He will doubtless give an interesting and instructive lecture.

Our dealers must open out their holiday goods at once or else they will miss it. If the goods are kept stored away until a day or two before Christmas by that time everybody will have made their purchases somewhere else. People want a couple of weeks to look and think about it.

The last lecture in the Y. M. C. A. course will be given by Rev. Mr. Kendig of Boston on next Thursday evening, Dec. 16. The two lectures given, they say, have been very interesting and well attended, and it is hoped our people bear in mind the date of the third and last one, and all turn out to hear it.

H. J. Pippy advertises for 15 or 20 copies of "The Middlesex Journal" of dates Dec. 17 and 24, 1849, for which he will pay well. If any one or more persons in Woburn, Winchester, or neighboring towns have files of that paper (predecessor of the WOBURN JOURNAL) they will do well to address Mr. Pippy.

Mrs. Cheever, the fashionable milliner on Montvale Avenue, Dodge's block, is doing a capital business and really needs more room, which she soon expects to have, to do it in.

She is particularly desirous that the ladies who want stamping done would call at once and have their orders filled before the holiday rush.

What steps, if any, are being taken towards getting a city charter for Woburn this winter? If there is any serious thought of moving in the matter it is high time that preliminary measures were taken. There is not much work to be done on the start, but if that little is not attended to we will have to wait another year for our charter.

The newly elected officers of Post 33, G. A. R., are: Commander, William C. C. Colgate; S. S. C., Oliver M. Wade; J. S. C., William J. Kendall; Surgeon, Joseph Jackson; Chaplain Rev. William A. Johnson; Q. M., Albert P. Barrett; C. D., William H. Phelps; C. G., Thomas Ryan; Delegates, A. P. Barrett, B. F. Whitemore; Alternates, T. H. Hill, C. McDonald.

Charles Rosquinit, 7 Greenwood Ave., is doing a thriving business in picture copying and framing. His work is the best and prices lower than anywhere around here. He has the agency for several kinds of Sewing Machines which he sells at very low figures, among which is "The light running New Home machine" for which he is the only agent in Woburn and surrounding towns.

In a recent article entitled, "Collection of News," it was stated that of the old newspaper heroes who were famous fifty years ago, "Mr. John T. Smith alone remains." This is an error, as his former partner, Mr. Robert E. Hudson, is still in the flesh, hale and hearty, although, unfortunately, totally blind. He may be seen not infrequently upon State street talking with some of his old friends. His brother Edward who for some seventeen years was financial editor of the New York Herald is also living on the Horn Pond estate in Woburn—Boston Globe. A few months since the statement was made in a prominent newspaper that Mr. Robert E. Hudson was the sole survivor of the "old newspaper heroes" who were famous fifty years ago, which the Journal corrected and at the same time gave a brief account of Hon. Edward W. Hudson's connection with the Journal and the Advertiser.

Copeland, Bowser & Co., tell in their advertisement of the preparations made by them to supply the community with holiday goods, which advertising we urge our patrons to read. This popular house has always been noted for the great variety and choice quality of goods for holiday presents, and it looks now as though the proprietors will be determined to more than maintain their excellent reputation this year. People in search of appropriate presents for families and friends will find Copeland, Bowser & Co's an excellent place to visit for they can hardly fail to get what is wanted by them there.

For some unaccountable reason our esteemed contemporary, the Boston Record, is "down" on the Woburn Polo team. It can't say a good word for them to save it. The game of polo at Winslow's rink the last night appeared to be too much of a hippodrome to describe in detail, although the Boston club and manager are undoubtedly in no way responsible for the conduct of the Tanners. The Woburn club played all around the Boston on the floor, but as accepting any opportunity to win it seemed to be out of the question. Great stops were made by Smith of Woburn, but he permitted two balls to enter his cage while he was away from it, and it seemed as though he sent one into it himself, but it rolled out. If the Woburn players were anxious to lose a game, they had better try some other place to do it in. The pool rooms in Boston will probably tell their part of the story.

Had it not been for the very severe snow storm it is probable President Flint of the Board of Trade and several of the members would have visited Wakefield last Tuesday night, at the request of gentlemen who are about to organize a Board of Trade in that handsome and pleasant town, and made some speeches. The experience of the Woburn Board would be valuable to other communities about to organize them.

The stores and shops are beginning to fill up with holiday goods and in the course of ten days will be in their glory. We have an opinion, based on information received, that the stores will be unusually full of these beautiful goods this year, and that each proprietor will try to outdo all others in the variety, novelty and richness of them. Each one of these people, if he wants to sell his gift goods, should not lose sight of the fact that the JOURNAL is, beyond all question, the best advertising medium in Middlesex county. Also, that it is utterly impossible to sell things unless the public know you have them to sell.

Last Sabbath was the first real winter day of the season. It snowed steadily from morning to night. Monday was clear, but the next morning the snow set in again and Tuesday was a howler. The wind blew a gale all day and nearly a foot of snow fell. Lieut. Greeley had neglected to order out storm signals which placed people in bad predicament. The street railroad snow-plow worked all Tuesday night and snow plows were busy on the roads. Trains made fair time, and the street cars lost only a few trips. The report spread that Mc دونough was killed, but Dr. Kelley brought him through all right.

One evening last week there was a rough-and-tumble fight in Mc دونough's grocery and rumshop at Montvale which called for police investigation. Two Stoneham chaps, full of "fighting pizen," originated the row, which was a lively one. Mc دونough had his face laid open in a handsome style, and several switches were required to close up the gap in the scalp of one of the Stoneham roughs. The row was the legitimate fruits of Mc دونough's personal observation during a residence of some years in Japan and Eastern Asia. He compared the appearance, manners and language of the Chinese and Japanese nations, and illustrated his remarks by a series of rapidly drawn sketches on a blackboard. He also imitated very cleverly, Chinese boat-songs and the dances of the women. His hearers regretted that the time did not suffice for him to give the whole of his lectures as there is so much that is novel and interesting to be said on the subject. The next meeting will be held in the vestry of the Baptist Church, Dec. 17th. Dr. Salome Merritt will speak on "Heredity".

Some 10 years ago a gentleman in Woburn sold a female dog to George Walton, a dog-dealer in Boston. Soon after she was delivered to the purchaser she slipped her tether and almost immediately turned up at her home in Woburn, having taken the railroad train on her return, as it was afterwards ascertained. For literary and scientific purposes Mr. W. R. Lord of Woburn, Norfolk county, Mass., is anxious to learn the name and present address (if living) of the Woburn gentleman who sold the dog, and also to whom she returned.

Mr. Douglas Frazer addressed the Women's Club on the 3rd of December, on the subject of "China and Japan." Their Advancement and Civilization." The lecture was a record of the speaker's personal observation during a residence of some years in Japan and Eastern Asia. He compared the appearance, manners and language of the Chinese and Japanese nations, and illustrated his remarks by a series of rapidly drawn sketches on a blackboard. He also imitated very cleverly, Chinese boat-songs and the dances of the women. — One evening last week there was a rough-and-tumble fight in Mc دونough's grocery and rumshop at Montvale which called for police investigation. Two Stoneham chaps, full of "fighting pizen," originated the row, which was a lively one. Mc دونough had his face laid open in a handsome style, and several switches were required to close up the gap in the scalp of one of the Stoneham roughs. The row was the legitimate fruits of Mc دونough's personal observation during a residence of some years in Japan and Eastern Asia. BUTTER.*BUTTER.*WHY*Do Rubber Boots and Shoes*GIVE SUCH POOR SERVICE?

All of them do not give poor service, but you probably think so, because you do not discriminate between brands in buying your goods.

There are only five or six factories in the United States making strictly first-class goods, but these have a dozen or more running on poor, low-priced Rubbers exclusively.

Hence, unless you are posted and use caution, you are liable to supply yourself with a poor, unsatisfactory article.

Among the few companies making first-class goods, the "CANDEE RUBBER CO." of New Haven, Conn., stands at the head of all for Style, Fit, and Durability.

We carry a stock of these most desirable Rubbers, and invite your inspection and solicit a trial.

Mr. James Newman, the well-known florist, is building a double house on Bacon street.

The Boston and Lowell Railroad Company are going to rebuild some of their tracks in town.

The West Side is growing. Twomby, Boynton, and others are building numerous houses there.

It stands our citizens in hand to bolt their doors and fasten their windows at night, for there are thieves about.

Symmes's Corner folks are highly pleased with the prospect of street cars to their neighborhood early next spring.

Mrs. Dr. Church lectured on the Paris hospitals before the Fortnightly Club recently. She is an accomplished lady and very successful physician.

The grandmother of Mr. S. C. Small, who resides in Bowdoinham, Maine, celebrated her 104th birthday on the 10th of November. Mr. Small attended the celebration.

Fourteen young ladies of the Methodist church will give a broom drill in Harmony Hall on next Thursday evening. It will be a nice entertainment which everybody will want to attend.

The fair for Miss Burnap's Old Ladies Home opened at Horticultural Hall, Boston, last Monday evening. Of the Winchester table Mrs. Moses Herrick is President; Mrs. Gray, Secretary; and Mrs. Bradstreet, Treasurer. The fair has been well patronized.

EDUCATIONAL.—The School Board held its regular meeting last Friday evening—Miss Smith and Miss Livingston teachers, have been sick for some time.—79 pupils attend the Evening School.—The schools will close next Friday and remain closed until Jan'y 3.

"Points" carry a level head on his shoulders. Speaking in the Star of the street railway bearing before the Selectmen he truthfully says: "Give Winchester all modern improvements and she will grow in numbers and expand in material prosperity to an extent at present not realized."

Mr. Charles Conant, one of the brightest newspaper men in the State, has been appointed Assistant Postmaster of Boston by Gen. Corse in place of E. S. Tobe Jr. A better choice couldn't have been made by Gen. Corse if he had gone all over the Democratic party with a fine-tooth comb.

Major Wm. to give cover to his many carriages, has built a new shed. The Major and son are alive to public want. For forty-five years the Major has held the ribbons with safe and careful hand. When Winchester was a small child, he drove a team from North Woburn to Woburn to Boston, daily, in year in and out.—"Points" in Star. Major Wm. is a pretty big chunk of the salt of the earth.

WILMINGTON.

Mr. Cyrus L. Carter has built quite an extensive henry which is a model in the way of comfort and convenience.

We had hoped to have seen that building that was talked of at our last March meeting for the manufacture of arms, but we have looked in vain.

The funeral of Mr. Isaac Damon took place Sunday week, from his late residence. The services were conducted by the Rev. Eliah Harmon of the Congregationalist Church who took the occasion to preach a sermon to the non-church goers, but make a practice of attending funerals. Strict conscientious duty compels some ministers to do strange things.

BURLINGTON.

The ladies of the Sewing Society will give a sociable and supper in the Town Hall, Friday evening. The Woburn Orchestra will furnish music.

There was a dancing party in the Town Hall, Wednesday evening.

The Company were represented by Messrs Benjamin Hinckley and Gilman F. Jones, stockholders, and the latter gentleman Superintendent of the road. There was no opposition and the prayer of the petitioners was granted without demur. The extension of the road will be a good thing for this town, and the action of the Selectmen is heartily endorsed by our people.

The streets of Woburn look like a bee-hive, swarming with life and industry; buildings are springing up all around; shops and stores confront each other, great improvements are made, and twelve thousand people must be fed and clothed. Our population is less cosmopolitan, but more select in wants and tastes; in numbers we are outside; in quality we stand erect.—"Points" in Star. So do you, "Points"—erect as "Sawyer's pines." Winchester is as nice as a pin, and she is fully conscious of the fact.

Suffrage Bazaar.

LEXINGTON, KY., Dec. 1, 1886.

Dear Friends of Woman Suffrage—

I dear turn my face homeward to assist you in the final preparation for the Bazaar, to be held in Music Hall, Dec. 13—19. I hope you have all done your share. we need a large fund for work. This we expect to have. We also need to know each other well, so we especially invite you to attend the first evening of the Bazaar. This will be a grand social reunion. The distinguished vice-presidents are expected to be present. We shall have as attractions each evening short speeches, and music by the finest talent of Boston, among whom are Alfred De Saxe, violinist, and Miss Olga von Radieck. Decorations of oil paintings worth $40,000 and $10,000; busts and statues, flowers, County and League banners, with their mottoes and date of organization; the restaurant open at all hours; the 200 waitresses attending the thirty well-filled tables; the Bazaar Journal, edited by Mrs. Julia Ward Howe; the "Woman Suffrage Cook Book," will combine to make the grandest bazaar ever held in Music Hall. We invite the readers of your paper to be with us.

The President devotes much attention to tariff. The indirect manner in which these exactments are made have a tendency to conceal their truth and extent, but we have arrived at a stage of superfluous revenue, which has aroused people to a realization of the fact that the amount raised professedly for the support of the government is paid by them as absolutely as if added to the price of things which supply their daily wants.

The international copyright question is recommended to the attention of Congress, and further legislation as regards the surrender of extradited persons, and the method of naturalization is suggested.

Those who toil for wages are beginning to understand that capital is dull and sluggish until touched by the magnetic hands of labor, when it springs into activity, furnishing an occasion for Federal taxation and gaining value, which enables it to bear its burdens; and the laboring man is brought fully to a condition of affairs which constrain our people to demand that by revision of the revenue laws the receipts of government shall be reduced to the necessary expenses of the immediate administration. This demand should be recognized and obeyed by the people's representatives in the legislative branch of the government.

The President devotes much space to view the elegant gifts to this bazaar.

Every one of which are on exhibition in Music Hall, and will be given away at Christmas Day, to those who have purchased a number of tickets. The tickets will be sold for $1.00, $2.00, $3.00, $4.00, $5.00, $6.00, $7.00, $8.00, $9.00, $10.00, $12.00, $15.00, $18.00, $20.00, $25.00, $30.00, $35.00, $40.00, $50.00, $60.00, $70.00, $80.00, $90.00, $100.00, $120.00, $150.00, $180.00, $200.00, $250.00, $300.00, $350.00, $400.00, $500.00, $600.00, $700.00, $800.00, $900.00, $1000.00, $1200.00, $1500.00, $1800.00, $2000.00, $2500.00, $3000.00, $3500.00, $4000.00, $5000.00, $6000.00, $7000.00, $8000.00, $9000.00, $10000.00, $12000.00, $15000.00, $18000.00, $20000.00, $25000.00, $30000.00, $35000.00, $40000.00, $50000.00, $60000.00, $70000.00, $80000.00, $90000.00, $100000.00, $120000.00, $150000.00, $180000.00, $200000.00, $250000.00, $300000.00, $350000.00, $400000.00, $500000.00, $600000.00, $700000.00, $800000.00, $900000.00, $1000000.00, $1200000.00, $1500000.00, $1800000.00, $2000000.00, $2500000.00, $3000000.00, $3500000.00, $4000000.00, $5000000.00, $6000000.00, $7000000.00, $8000000.00, $9000000.00, $10000000.00, $12000000.00, $15000000.00, $18000000.00, $20000000.00, $25000000.00, $30000000.00, $35000000.00, $40000000.00, $50000000.00, $60000000.00, $70000000.00, $80000000.00, $90000000.00, $100000000.00, $120000000.00, $150000000.00, $180000000.00, $200000000.00, $250000000.00, $300000000.00, $350000000.00, $400000000.00, $500000000.00, $600000000.00, $700000000.00, $800000000.00, $900000000.00, $1000000000.00, $1200000000.00, $1500000000.00, $1800000000.00, $2000000000.00, $2500000000.00, $3000000000.00, $3500000000.00, $4000000000.00, $5000000000.00, $6000000000.00, $7000000000.00, $8000000000.00, $9000000000.00, $10000000000.00, $12000000000.00, $15000000000.00, $18000000000.00, $20000000000.00, $25000000000.00, $30000000000.00, $35000000000.00, $40000000000.00, $50000000000.00, $60000000000.00, $70000000000.00, $80000000000.00, $90000000000.00, $100000000000.00, $120000000000.00, $150000000000.00, $180000000000.00, $200000000000.00, $250000000000.00, $300000000000.00, $350000000000.00, $400000000000.00, $500000000000.00, $600000000000.00, $700000000000.00, $800000000000.00, $900000000000.00, $1000000000000.00, $1200000000000.00, $1500000000000.00, $1800000000000.00, $2000000000000.00, $2500000000000.00, $3000000000000.00, $3500000000000.00, $4000000000000.00, $5000000000000.00, $6000000000000.00, $7000000000000.00, $8000000000000.00, $9000000000000.00, $10000000000000.00, $12000000000000.00, $15000000000000.00, $18000000000000.00, $20000000000000.00, $25000000000000.00, $30000000000000.00, $35000000000000.00, $40000000000000.00, $50000000000000.00, $60000000000000.00, $70000000000000.00, $80000000000000.00, $90000000000000.00, $100000000000000.00, $120000000000000.00, $150000000000000.00, $180000000000000.00, $200000000000000.00, $250000000000000.00, $300000000000000.00, $350000000000000.00, $400000000000000.00, $500000000000000.00, $600000000000000.00, $700000000000000.00, $800000000000000.00, $900000000000000.00, $1000000000000000.00, $1200000000000000.00, $1500000000000000.00, $1800000000000000.00, $2000000000000000.00, $2500000000000000.00, $3000000000000000.00, $3500000000000000.00, $4000000000000000.00, $5000000000000000.00, $6000000000000000.00, $7000000000000000.00, $8000000000000000.00, $9000000000000000.00, $10000000000000000.00, $12000000000000000.00, $15000000000000000.00, $18000000000000000.00, $20000000000000000.00, $25000000000000000.00, $30000000000000000.00, $35000000000000000.00, $40000000000000000.00, $50000000000000000.00, $60000000000000000.00, $70000000000000000.00, $80000000000000000.00, $90000000000000000.00, $100000000000000000.00, $120000000000000000.00, $150000000000000000.00, $180000000000000000.00, $200000000000000000.00, $25000000000000

Mary Mayes Dodge receives five thousand dollars for one year's service as editor of St. Nicholas.

Next to the virtue of those who live in our homes, their happiness should occupy us. In the first place, my creature under our roof should ever be miserable, if we can prevent it. Mistresses of homes, don't let there be a dog or a cat or a donkey or any other creature, in or about your homes, which shrinks when a man or a woman approaches it.—Frances P. Cobbe.

Frances Willard says: "I believe we should in every State Convention of the W. C. T. U. and the Prohibition party declare allegiance to the principle of equal franchise and state our conviction that it will prove one of the sweet methods of prohibiting the liquor traffic and all other sins against woman and the home."

The Woman's Journal never did a greater service than in showing the privilege of a wife to have her share of the family earnings as a regular allowance, without asking for money when she needs or desires it.—N. E. Journal of Education.

Mayor Grace has appointed two women on the Board of Education in N. Y. City. The movement for securing a representation of women upon that board originated in the Teachers' Mutual Improvement Association, and the rational action of the Mayor is said to be largely due to moral pressure of public opinion evolved by the earnest and unremitting labor of women, teachers and suffragists. In this connection the N. Y. Tribune says: "There are many practical details connected with the successful administration of the public schools which require not only womanly instincts but also peculiar powers of discernment that are lacking in men. A sensible woman's experience will be of the greatest possible value and assistance in the determination of educational questions. We confidently expect as the result of these judicious appointments that the number of women in this important council will be steadily recruited until the sexes are equally represented. The public schools contain a larger proportion of girls than boys on the roll of attendance. There is no reason why there should not be as many women in the supreme educational council to supervise the training of girls as there are men to look after the interests of the boys."

A short biographical sketch of Elizabeth Cady Stanton, the first American woman to claim equality of the sexes at the polls, says: "In her early years she was accustomed to spend much time in her father's office, (law) and her attention was first drawn to the wrongs of women by the complaints she heard made to her father of the injustice of the law toward her sex, and though so young she formed the determination to amend the law if possible."

A Captain's Fortunate Discovery.

Capt. Coleman, a.s.c., Weymouth, plying between Atlantic City and N. Y., had been troubled with a cough so that he was unable to sleep, and was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery. After a few days he only gave his invention up, but alayed the extreme soreness in his breast. His children were similarly affected and a single dose has the same happy effect. Dr. King's New Discovery is now the standard remedy in the Coleman house, and the schoolroom. Price, Ten Bottles of the Standard Remedy at W. W. Hill's, Drug Store.

Architect Edmond Legendre, 419 Sutter street, San Francisco, Cal., states that having suffered for a long time with a severe cough, and failing to obtain any relief from doctors and the numerous preparations he took, he became alarmed. Tried Red Star Cough Cure, and one bottle entirely cured him.

Study the grace of silence when provoked. Resolve to defer reply to another day.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had children, she gave them Castoria.

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1886.

The Woburn Journal

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 305 Main Street, F. J. Friedrich, 106 Main Street, John Cummings, 24, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and G. P. Brown's, Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.
All advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

Hugh O'Brien was re-elected Mayor of Boston last Tuesday by nearly 5,000 majority. The labor vote panned just about as everybody thought it would—there was little or nothing of it. The Democrats are famous for their quarrels before election, but they all vote the same ticket when the time comes. No one at all acquainted with the situation had the least idea that O'Brien would be defeated. He had made one of the best Mayors Boston ever had, and many Republicans preferred him to Hart and supported him. Then Boston is a Democratic city any how, and is entitled to a Democratic Mayor.

The opposition to Congressman Long for the United States Senate seem to be getting tired of it. Notwithstanding Senator Dawes has made some concessions to the "reformers" and free-traders his canvass pulls hard but little headway is made. Gov. Robinson does not appear to be in the race really, and who to do the opponents of Gov. Long are puzzled to tell. In the mean time election day is rapidly approaching, and Mr. Long's friends and supporters are ready for it.

Some patriots at West Medford has issued a political leaflet entitled "Dawes or Long?" which takes strong grounds in favor of the re-election of Senator Dawes. The writer is too late.

Congress is doing more work than was expected of it before meeting. An unusual activity has marked the proceedings of the session so far. Next week it will adjourn for the holidays.

Ames Cummings's display window takes the cake.

Josiah Leath has some nice Christmas goods.

The show-window at John C. Buck's is a beauty.

Rev. Joseph Petter will officiate at All Saints Chapel at 3 o'clock p.m.

Rev. Frank Keyes preached in the M. E. Church at Holbrook last Sunday.

The "Boston Tea-party" was held 113 years ago to-day in Boston Harbor.

The days will reach their shortest next Tuesday and begin to lengthen on Thursday.

One of the finest assortments of glassware at C. M. Strout's for Christmas presents.

The trio of ladies is expected to sing again at the Y. M. C. A. 4 o'clock Meeting Sunday.

Rev. J. P. Ware is expected to take charge of the 4 o'clock Y. M. C. A. meeting, Sunday.

Next Wednesday will be Fathers' Day, to be observed by all good and loyal New Englanders.

Mr. C. E. Smith, dealer in paper-hangings on Main street, has gone to Washington on business.

Dr. Dodge's show windows look handsome and inviting. There are nice Christmas presents in them.

You can buy Christmas Cards, and Novelties, Dolls, Games, and Toys, Lowest prices at the Woburn Bookstore.

Rev. F. Slattery of St. Charles church has recovered from his recent lameness and is about the streets again.

The "Advertiser" makes out to publish just about half of the snow stories that come and even to these it don't do justice.

The sleighing had entirely left us, but there was a snow storm yesterday that restored things to a more satisfactory condition.

The Woburn Shoe Store, Prior & Mann proprietors, have a grand supply of beautiful slippers for presents. Go and see them.

The rain and sun were more than a match for the snow, and good sleighing didn't last long.

Frank Silva, who was killed in the great explosion at East Cambridge last Saturday morning, was buried here last Sunday afternoon.

F. Dodge has a beautiful display of Christmas goods in his windows and on the counters. There is nothing handsomer in town.

Mr. Amos Cummings hereby informs the public that his store will be open for business every week-day evening until after Christmas.

We have received from the Pope Mfg Co., Boston one of their handsome and handy "Columbus" Calendars for which we feel duly grateful.

We call attention to the advertisement of Swan, Basford & Co. of Smyrna Rugs, especially the remarkably low prices at which they are sold.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet in the parlor of the Baptist church, on Monday, Dec. 20, at 3 P. M. All are invited.

Rev. Mr. Fisk writes us that the temperance people of Cambridge are delighted over the victory of the pro-temperance at the late city election.

Prior's Woburn Bargain store is heaped full of holiday goods. People can find anything and everything they want at that popular establishment.

We have received a nice 1887 calendar from Mr. W. E. Cummings, dealer in dry goods, on Main street, for which we will please accept our thanks.

Our esteemed friend who drove the first locomotive into Woburn 40 years ago, celebrated his 82nd birthday in a quiet and appropriate way yesterday.

Smith & Son advertise all kinds of beautiful goods for the holiday season, and their store is a regular bazaar. The useful and ornamental abound there.

Mrs. C. A. Pierce advertises "mark-down" in fall and winter millinery to which we direct attention. She will give some big bargains in very desirable goods.

The County Commissioners will give a hearing on the matter of the Winn street railroad crossing in the Selectmen's Rooms at 10 o'clock, a.m. next Wednesday.

When in search of presents for the family or to send abroad be sure and bear in mind that Burgess's store is full of them. He is already having a brisk trade in them.

The Franklin Sentinel has recently appeared out in a new dress and form in which it looks as near as a pin. There is no better country paper printed than the Sentinel.

C. M. Munro has a large and fine stock of umbrellas for holiday presents. Solid silver, native woods, and other elegant handles are to be found in the choice stock.

There is an exceedingly fine display of Christmas and New Year's gift goods at the store of Copeland, Bowser & Co. They have laid in largely of the best quality of wares.

The 32d Mass. Regiment held their annual reunion at the United States hotel, Boston, last Monday afternoon. Capt. John E. Tidd of this place attended and had a grand time.

Leeds displays a large variety of beautiful cards of a new style which will sell well for the holidays. He also has dressing-cases, choice perfumery, and other handsome goods.

The colored population of the town gave a ball and concert last Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Woburn Colored Glee Club, which was a very nice and pleasant affair.

The Stoneham Athletic Club will please accept the thanks of the JOURNAL for complimentary tickets to a private balmasque to be given by the Club at Armon Hall, Stoneham, on Decem- ber 31.

What is more appropriate for a Christmas present than a portrait nicely framed? For anything in this line Chas. R. Rosenquist, 7 Greenwood Avenue, is sure to suit you in work and prices every time.

The police have quite a nice little sum with which to buy turkeys for poor people's dinner on Christmas Day, but the amount ought to be doubled. Every body ought to be happy and merry at Christmas time.

As will be seen by his card there will be given at Carter's Academy a grand concert by famous Boston artists. A splendid programme has been laid out for the occasion. The tickets are only 15 cents.

The improvements on the Central House are nearly completed. The new kitchen is large and handy; a commodious laundry is in the second story, and many other conveniences are included in the new addition.

Who will be the first to move for the organization of a Toboggan Club in Woburn? They are getting them up all along the line and Woburn young people wouldn't look well lagging behind. Boys, here's your chance.

There was a very pleasant surprise party at the residence of Mr. Arthur F. Head on Cambridge street last Wednesday evening. Some 50 to 60 of the good friends gathered in the cheerful rooms, and during the evening Mr. Frank F. Morriam, in behalf of the company, presented Mr. Head with an elegant easy-chair that had been purchased by contributions solicited by Mr. W. C. Tufts, which was accepted with gratitude expressed in a nice speech by Mr. Head. There was a beautiful spread and agreeable evening after it.

Rev. Fr. Murphy of Woburn, Mass., was at the White House this morning in the interest of the candidacy of Lawrence Reade for postmaster at that place—Wash. Corr. of Boston Journal, 15th. That means Fr. Murphy of Hopkinton formerly of Woburn. Are the people of this town, especially the Democracy, going to tolerate the meddlesome and offensive interference of this clerical politician with their affairs without a vigorous protest? Are they going to allow him to thrust on them for their postmaster a person they don't want?

Mr. N. J. Simonds is putting in additional dynamos with a view of extending his lighting system in town. He has already a new engine set to run the additional machines, and when the work is completed he will have as good an electric plant as there is in the country. His idea is to extend his system to private residences and to provide lighting facilities for a much larger area than that covered by his present plant. With the addition some other matters which he has under consideration Mr. Simonds will be able to furnish electric lighting so cheap that it will be an object for people to use it to such an extent as to make it general throughout the town. His new machinery will be finished and in a condition to run within a week or ten days.

It can be safely said that nowhere are customers better served than at the offices and sheds of the Woburn Coal Company. Mr. Newton, agent, is always about to see that people are satisfied with their purchases. The Company is doing a fine business.

Uncle Tom's Cabin is to be given in Lyceum Hall by a first-class dramatic company to-morrow evening, and it ought to be well patronized. We call particular attention to the 100 dolls to be given away, and to what the card says about Daisy Markoe as "Topsy."

W. W. Hill has more of those useful German goods with a view of the Woburn Public Library on each one of them. There is a great variety of things, all useful and all ornamental, which for a Christmas present we know of nothing more appropriate or beautiful.

The stereopticon exhibition of scenes, etc., in India by Rev. Mr. Howland, at the Congregational Church, last Sunday evening, was very interesting. A large congregation was present. Mr. Howland has long been a missionary in India, and intends to return there and resume his work.

His picture in Mr. J. W. Hamond's advertisement shows plainly enough where the headquarters of Santa Claus are going to be during Christmas. The old fellow looks as though he was half tickled to death to find such spacious and pleasant rooms in which to display his holiday gift.

The highway men were out bright and early last Monday morning with their sand carts and it was a good thing. The drizzle of the night before had frozen and formed a thin glassy ice which, without liberal strewings of sand, would have proved very dangerous to pedestrians. Later in the day a warmer rain produced the neatest kind of slush.

Anybody wouldn't think it hardly and yet there is considerable house-building going on in town this winter. Cold weather of course has a backwinding effect, or rather, it prevents work of this kind going on as briskly as in warm weather, nevertheless there is considerable of it scattered about. But, unless all signs fail, look out for a big rush of residence-erecting next season.

Mr. Fred H. Read, foreman of the Advertiser office, a member of the Woburn Bicycle Club, has kept an accurate cyclometer record of the number of miles cycled by him during the year 1886. His first ride was taken April 10th, and the final one December 4th. The total distance covered in that time was 1,903 miles. Most of his riding was done outside of working hours.

Mr. Frederick O. Ober gave an excellent lecture in the Board of Trade course last Tuesday evening. His theme was Mexico which was profusely and splendidly illustrated by some 80 stereopticon views, and admirably handled by the eloquent lecturer.

The audience was much larger than at the first entertainment. The last will be given on the evening of Dec. 30, by the Ruggles Street Church Quartet.

There is no longer any doubt as to who will be appointed to succeed Col. Grammer in the Woburn postoffice. W. F. Kenney is the coming man. It is as good as settled already. Leopold Morse, M. C., says Kenney is sure of it and that's the end of it. Read's book burst early this week, and the other candidate hadn't any sight for it for months past. Accept our hearty congratulations, W. F. Kenney, P. M.

The 32d Mass. Regiment held their annual reunion at the United States hotel, Boston, last Monday afternoon. Capt. John E. Tidd of this place attended and had a grand time.

Leeds displays a large variety of beautiful cards of a new style which will sell well for the holidays. He also has dressing-cases, choice perfumery, and other handsome goods.

BUTTER.*BUTTER.*WHY*Do Rubber Boots and Shoes*GIVE SUCH POOR SERVICE

All of them do not give poor service, but you probably think so, because you are buying from brands in buying your goods.

There are only five or six factories in the United States making strictly first quality of goods, but there are a dozen or more running on poor, low-priced Rubbers exclusively.

Hence, unless you are posted and use, you are liable to supply yourself with a poor, unsatisfactory product.

Among the few Companies making first-class goods, the CANDIE RUBBER CO.*, of New Haven, Conn., stands at the head of all for Style, Fit, and Durability.

We carry a stock of these most desirable Rubbers, and invite your inspection and solicit a trial.

Mr. George H. Carter has gone to Florida for his health.

A company of young ladies gave a flag drill in the M. E. church yesterday.

Our Christian ladies are very deeply interested in the Burnap Home for Old Ladies in Boston.

Students in our public schools are allowed to study in their homes. This is thought to be a good thing.

It turns out that Charlie Conant has not been appointed Assistant postmaster in Boston. The report was a flash in the pan.

Next Sunday the Unitarian Church Temperance Society will hold their quarterly meeting. The pastors of the churches will participate and Rev. Mr. Mayhew, the President, will preside.

The officers of William Parkman Lodge, A. F. and A. M. were elected on Tuesday evening as follows: W. M. W. V. Smalley; S. W. Edwin Robinson; J. W. John C. Cobb; T. W. McConville; Senior Vice: Joseph Butters, Junior Vice: R. S. Carr, Quartermaster: F. Winsor, Surgeon: J. T. Wilson, Chaplain: S. C. Small, O. D.; Philip Maher, O. G.; W. A. Snow, Adjutant.

There is a strong and earnest movement among the young people of our fashionable society to organize a To-bogganing Club and build a chute here. It is the newest "craze" and is taking like wildfire all around us. Boston has gone off with it, and Winchester Upper Crust are bound to be in style, or perish in the attempt. Therefore look-out for toboggan to kill this winter.

The Winchester Unitarian Society have arranged and advertised a course of entertainments to consist of a grand concert by eminent artists to be given on Tuesday evening, Dec. 28, in the Unitarian church; a lecture on Jan. 6; Dramatic Monologues Jan. 21; Lecture Jan. 17; Concert, Feb. 3. Tickets for the course $1.50, and single tickets 50 cents. All to be given in the church. It will be a very fine course.

Everything is as quiet and peaceful as a lamb at Maxwell's tannery. The fight appears to have entirely subsided, and Mr. Maxwell is having everything his own way, as he has from the start of the trouble. It is the opinion of sensible people here that the workers missed a figure when they quit the factory. Maxwell is one of those men that never give in unless they are obliged and which does not seem to have been the case in the controversy now happily closed.

Dr. Daniel March, Jr., Chairman of the Building Committee delivered the new Wyman Schoolhouse to the town last Wednesday afternoon at a gathering of about 75 of the prominent people of the place, and Mr. T. P. Ayer, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, received the same with the keys. Both gentlemen made neat and appropriate addresses also Messrs. Edwin A. Wadeleigh, Chairman of the School Board, R. C. Metcalf, Dr. D. Youngman, N. A. Richardson and others.

Next Sunday the Reform Club temperature meeting will be addressed by Rev. R. H. Shinn, Chaplain in Chief of the Department of Maine G. A. R., a Southern Unionist, a native of West Virginia, who fought on the Union

It is universally admitted to be a valuable and valuable agent, and its reputation is such that it will otherwise. I have been induced that I have read the silly charges that have frequently been made through ignorance or otherwise against it.

These manufacturers who advertise that their powder does not contain it.

Confess that their powder lacks a most useful, wholesome and excellent ingredient.

"Confess that its origin is a mystery."

Its origin and method of preparation are no more filthy than the origin and preparation of bread.

All this talk about ammonia in baking powder is the veriest rubbish. A man disengages himself from the odors of ammonia and statements. It is particularly unfair for baking powder manufacturers to seek to pervert the truth, or prejudice the ignorant or uneducated by statements that it is either ammonia or ammonia.

A man disengages himself from the air we breathe, and is largely present in nature as a wholesome substance.

Woman's Column.

With timely and most creditable enterprise the New York Tribune has undertaken an investigation into the lives of the workingwomen of New York. For this purpose the Tribune has been fortunate enough to secure the services of Mrs. Helen Campbell, who is not only a successful novelist and writer of remarkable power and earnestness, but also for many years a close observer of the sorrows and trials of the unfortunate. No one could be better fitted for the task of examining sympathetically and yet wisely the condition of working women. Of these, exclusive of domestic servants, Mrs. Campbell says, in her first article, there are 200,000 in New York. With epigrammatic force and ringing satire she writes: "The city which claims the largest percentage of habitual drunkards among the toilers is naturally that in which most women are forced to seek such means of subsistence as may be had."

Mrs. Campbell says that all the untrained and more helpless women fall back upon sewing. Here they meet four difficulties. Their own competency may keep them from obtaining first-class work. Middlemen ("swasters") lower the price to a starvation point. Contract work done in prisons or reformatories brings about the same result. Country women having homes of their own take work at any price which may be offered, frequently simply for the purpose of earning "pin money" for personal gratification. There are over ninety-two trades in which women are employed, and in these "clothing in all its multiplied forms takes the first place and the workers on what is known as 'white wear' form the large majority of the always increasing army." First class shirnmakers fortunate enough to have direct relation with the best of the large factories can earn from $7 to $12 a week. In East Side factories, many women working under the worst sanitary conditions earn from $5 to $8 weekly during the busy season, the working week consisting at least of sixty hours. But Mrs. Campbell says that "the greater number of manufacturers on the East and West Sides of the city turn over the work to the middlemen, or send it to the country," and the shirtmakers, we are told, "fare far better than the majority of the workers on any other form of clothing."

The founder of Kindergarten schools in California is Mrs. Sarah B. Cooper, of San Francisco. Mainly by her own energy she has aroused interest on the subject, and has built up nearly a score of flourishing schools. Mrs. Stanford since the death of her son has generously endowed several such institutions and Miss Hattie Crocker maintains a school of this kind from her private purse, for 250 children. It is also stated that one woman has given nearly $1,000,000 for the support of these institutions in Massachusetts.

May Grace has made a notable innovation of far-reaching significance in the appointment of two women as members of the Board of Education. Miss Grace H. Dodge, granddaughter of the late William E. Dodge, a well-known philanthropist, and Mrs. Mary Nash Agnew, wife of Dr. Cornelius R. Agnew, the centur, are in every respect qualified for the important duties of the position. For years they have been known for their energy and sagacity of their self-sacrificing efforts in educating girls and women after improved methods of remunerative work, and also for the excellence and success of their administrative talents.

A new service for the poor has been begun in Boston, the furnishing of nurses to the physicians to those who apply for aid at the Boston Dispensary. A correspondent writes: "It has been seen that the pale and sickly women from shops or factories, the wornout wife of the laboring man and the delicate shop girl, need nursing and instruction how to care for themselves as well as medicine." These nurses teach the women how to prepare food, how to make a bed, and how to administer medicine, beside many simple duties. It appears that this practical and excellent charity is due to the women physicians of Boston. Much of the best work of these physicians is done among the poor, although it seems that there are nine of them whose incomes range from $5,000 to $20,000. Women physicians have proved themselves successful in Boston, and yet there is no medical school for the sex. It is proposed that an annex be attached to the Harvard Medical School for the benefit of the female students. They have been admitted to the privileges of the Massachusetts Medical Society, and it is said there is now little opposition to them as practitioners. They have won their way upon their merits, and the ability of women as physicians has become as well recognized that proper means for their medical education will probably soon be furnished in Boston as in New York and Philadelphia.

The first woman admitted as a student to Brown University is a graduate of the Providence High School, and an undergraduate of Smith's College at Northampton. She will not compete for the degree of A. B., but will devote her attention exclusively to Chemistry.

The Empress of Japan has sent an order for dresses to a Paris milliner to the amount of $75,000. She has authorized the ladies of her court "society" to adopt the European garb; and has herself appeared on a public occasion in a Parisian toilet.

Active, Fishing and Reliable. W. H. Hill can always be relied upon to carry in stock the purest and best goods, and sustain the reputation of being active, pushing and reliable, by recommending articles of the highest quality and such as are popular. Having the agents for the celebrated Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, colds and coughs, will sell it on a positive guarantee. It will surely cure any and every affection of the throat, lungs, or chest, and in order to prove our claim, we ask you to call and get a trial bottle free.

On Dec. 7 the question of license or no-license was decided for seventeen cities of Massachusetts. The result was significant, thirteen of the seventeen voting to close their saloons.

A clear head is indicative of good health and regular habits. When the body is languid and debilitated, however, Ayer's Cating Pills will assist in the recovery of physical buoyancy and mental vigor.

There ought to be no doubt any longer that Indians are capable of development. A writer in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, describing the condition of the Flathead reservation, in Northwest Montana, says: "Many of the Flatheads are given to dismal ways. For instance, they wear good clothes, over fast steppers, possess the showiest kind of blankets, and carry plenty of silver. Some of them own one or more race horses, and do nothing else for a living except gamble with each other on the result of a race, but principally with outsiders."

The First Keen Twinge.

As the season advances, the pains and ills by which manhood makes itself known are experienced after even exposure. It is not claimed that Hoot's Sarapalita is a specific for rheumatism—we don't know that, or can, be such a remedy. But the Sarapalita is devised by Hoot's Sarapalita, which urges us in urging others who suffer from rheumatism to take it before the first keen twinge.

The phosphate beds under the navigable streams near Charleston, South Carolina, are one of the principal sources of wealth to the State. They yielded last year 191,174 tons of rock, of which all but about 11,000 tons were shipped to foreign and domestic ports. The State gets a royalty of a little less than a dollar for each ton of rock removed. However Charleston's other commercial interests may be affected by her recent misfortune, that source of wealth is likely to remain uninterrupted.

Facts Worth Knowing.

In all diseases of the nasal mucous membrane the remedy used must be non-irritating, and the medicine must be slow in action. Nothing satisfactory can be accomplished with douches, snuffs, powder-syrups, astringents or any similar application, because they are all irritating, do not thoroughly reach the affected surfaces and should not be used.

A multitude of persons who had for years borne all the worry and pain that asthma can inflict testify to radical and permanent cures wrought by Ely's Cream Balsam.

"This poor man lost his sight at the battle of Iuka."

A gentleman saw him open his eyes and look at his watch.

"Here, sir, I thought you lost your sight at the battle of Iuka."

"So I did. Lost sight off my gun."

The Excitement Not Over.

The sale of G. H. Bass's drug store, still continues at second-hand prices, affiliated with Conga, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis and Consumption, to procure a bottle of Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs, which is sold on a guarantee and is giving every satisfaction. It is a standard family remedy. Price 50 cents and $1. Trial size free.

An aggrieved individual thrust his head into the editorial sanctum and began his tirade of abuse: "Base minion!" "No," said the editor without looking up, and thinking that he recognized the foreman of the composing-room, "headed nonpareil, please."

for the care of the sick. How to cure disease, how to prevent it, and the duration of great value will be found in old Dr. Kaufman's great book; 100 pages, colored plates. Send three 2 cent stamps to pay postage to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive a copy free.

It is proposed that people who do not wish to be interviewed shall wear a small oyster shell on the lapel of their coat. When a fellow begins to ask questions, point to it, which will signify, "I am dumb."

Caution.

We would caution the public to beware of Dr. W. H. Bass's drug store at less than regular price. Many and all offensives imitations or inferior articles are sold as the genuine in order to enable them to sell cheaply. C. H. Bass, Druggist, is our agent for Woburn. Sample bottle given to you free.

It is said that the human race is destined to be bald and toothless. This need not alarm the people seriously. A great many have been born that way, and the race is none the worse for it.

It was a hungry man who warbled, "Meet me by moonlight alone, oh, Sally, thou fairest of cooks, and bring from the larder a bone to regale your affectionate Snooks."

A restaurant keeper can make both ends meet by serving calf's head and ox-tail soup.

When Baby was sick, she gave her Castor, when she was a child, she cried for Castor, when she became Miss, she clung to Castor, when she had children, she gave them Castor.

You would not perhaps expect it, but it is a fact, that well water will sometimes make people sick.

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1886.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, DEC. 24, 1886.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 103 Main Street, P. J. Goodrich, 158 Main Street, John Thomas, 24, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and G. P. Brown's, Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.
All advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

VOLUME XXXVII.

With this issue the JOURNAL enters on the 37th year of its useful and prosperous existence. The first copy of the paper was printed on October 18, 1851, and some of the original subscribers, a list of whom hangs in a neat frame in our office, have taken and paid for it all the 36 years without a break, and they say, whether to administer to our vanity or not we do not know, that the JOURNAL is a better paper now than it ever was before. At any rate, it never enjoyed a larger patronage or was more prosperous, and this without extra efforts on our part. Unlike the proprietors of almost every other country journal in New England we have never, in the going on seven years of our proprietorship, solicited a dollar's worth of patronage, looking upon such a practice as being beneath the dignity of the profession, besides placing the proprietor under obligations that he cannot well afford to be under. We give full value for unsolicited money received, and that is all a reasonable public can fairly demand of us.

In the future as in the past we propose to make a paper that shall be a credit to Woburn and entirely satisfactory to its large advertising patronage and thousands of weekly readers.

Ladies and gentlemen of the JOURNAL family, for each one and all of you we bespeak "a long life and a merry one."

CHRISTMAS.

To-morrow is Christmas, which the poet says comes but once a year. It is the celebration-day of an event that is held sacred by all Christian people and observed in all civilized countries. Its theme or idea is peace over the whole earth and good will towards all mankind. It is commonly celebrated by particular church services—with sermons and songs of praise, and ceremonies in which joy and gladness predominate. Christmas mingles the heart; men feel kindlier and more charitable towards each other; the children are remembered and made happy; and the sweetest greeting of all the year-round is "I wish you Merry Christmas." And that is what the JOURNAL wishes everybody under the sun.

THE MORRISON BILL.

A motion to take up the Morrison tariff bill in the National House last Saturday was defeated by five majority.

The Republicans made the vote a test of party fealty, and when the result was announced it was received by them with enthusiastic demonstrations of delight.

Hon. E. D. Hayden, member from this District, voted with the Democrats to bring the bill up, for which he has been warmly commended by the Democratic press.

Possibly Mr. Hayden's constituents would be willing to listen to his reasons for voting as he did on this important party question, about this time.

THE LESSER JOURNALIST.

A few of the lesser journalistic lights in the county have criticised more or less severely our position on the threatened repeal of some excellent laws that have graced the statute-book of this Commonwealth for good many years, and derisively called by some, "blue laws," but we notice with pleasure and cordial approval that the Boston Record, no ardent friend itself of those laws, says the enforcement of them in Boston has had such a salutary effect in suppressing vice on Sunday, and everything is now so quiet and orderly there on the Lord's Day, that possibly the opposition to them may change to a general demand for their retention. Quite likely.

THE MASSACHUSETTS GENERAL COURT.

The Massachusetts General Court will meet on the first Wednesday of January next, or one week from next Wednesday. Who the officers are to be will not be certainly known until after the Republican caucus is held.

—Don't forget to call at Horton's Bookstore for your Almanac and Diary.

—Rev. Mr. Ware will preach in All Saints Chapel next Sunday at 3 p. m.

—Mr. John A. Brauer has been chosen leader of the Woburn Brass Band.

—Brakeman Joseph Callahan had two fingers badly injured last Friday by the cars.

—The Lynn Minstrels are the boss. Go and hear them on next Tuesday evening.

—Go to Horton's Woburn Bookstore for the largest variety of Christmas Supplies.

—You can buy Christmas Cards, and Novelties, Dolls, Games and Toys. Lowest prices at the Woburn Bookstore.

—Mr. Amos Cummings has made a wonderful reduction in the price of muffs. They will never be so cheap again.

—The concert at Carter's Academy last Sunday evening drew a very large audience by whom it was highly appreciated.

—Officer P. J. Claffy has built and moved into a nice house on Pond street in which he proposes to take comfort.

—The Woburn postoffice appointment has been postponed until after the holiday to make room for a compromise candidate.

—Carter's sacred concert was such a grand success last Sunday evening that he takes of continuing them through the season.

—The Woburn Five Cents Savings Bank has a notice in this paper which is respectfully referred to the attention of the people.

—Trains were slightly delayed last Wednesday evening by a freight running into the rear of a passenger train at West Medford.

—Our people who love good music and a good time should remember the date of the Post 33, G. A. R., entertainment—Dec. 28.

—The store windows of C. A. Smith & Son look real fine and inside there is a large and handsome display of Christmas goods.

—The exterior of the depot and windows were illuminated with the Sun's electric lights last Tuesday night and looked very fine.

—Principal Hanson of the Woburn High School left town last Tuesday for a sojourn in Florida with a view of recruiting his health. He has many warm friends here and they all earnestly hope that the object of his Southern visit will be fully accomplished and that he may return to his post in the High School in good, sound health.

—Our meat, fish and vegetable markets are in full bloom to-day. There is no need of going to Boston for a Christmas dinner, for everything that the heart of man could desire in the line above indicated can be obtained at our markets. Please bear this in mind, gentlemen, when contemplating the subject of tomorrow's dinner to-day.

—The Police have received from our generous-hearted people over $100 with which to buy turkeys for poor people's dinner tomorrow. We would it were $500.

—There she goes again! Woburn beat the Bostons at Carter's 2 to 1 last Wednesday evening. The Woburns are taking the pennant right along with them.

—One of the prettiest callenders we have yet received is one from Mr. S. R. French, with the compliments of V. L. Tenney, manufacturer of Tenney's celebrated Magic Soap.

—Woburn's favorites, the Ruggles Street Male Quartet, will close the Board of Trade series with a grand concert next Thursday evening. Don't miss it.

—Tabor is well fixed in the line of fish for the holidays. He keeps a full supply of oysters, clams, and all kinds of fish, fresh and nice, and sells the same very cheap. He has a neat market.

—The Mechanic Phalanx will give a concert on January 6th that will be worth attending. It will consist chiefly of War Songs by people who have the ability to ring them out in patriotic style.

—John Johnson and John Warren from their Southern trip last Saturday in good health and spirits. They stopped at Washington and called on the President at the return home.

—The County Commissioners gave a hearing last Tuesday on the petition of L. I. Reed and others concerning the W. Inn street, R. R. crossing, and reserved their decision. Many witnesses were examined.

—The pupils in our public schools are glad to be allowed a rest from brain-work during the holiday season. We dare say they will improve it as do the little busy bee improve each shining hour and have a good time.

—There was a big rain on last Saturday which ruined the sleighing again. Somehow we can't get more than a day or two of sleighing at a time this year. Snow storms are immediately followed by rain and warm south winds, and then the game is up.

—Michael McHugh, who had both legs cut off by the 10 o'clock, p. m. train from Boston at Conn street last Thursday week, died in the Massachusetts General Hospital on Saturday. The circumstances of the terrible accident are not known.

—Our Christmas present from the Boston Herald was a very nice notebook in red morocco covers, and containing statistics of public interest concerning that great metropolitan newspaper. We feel very much obliged for the handsomely little note-book.

—We call attention to the prospects of the Boston Evening Record to be found among our business notices. We have had occasion to state several times that the Record is a lively one and smarter than a whip, and repeat the statement, with pleasure, here.

—Post 33, G. A. R., will give an entertainment on next Tuesday evening for which the Lynn Minstrels have been engaged. They are firstclass musicians and will furnish the entertainment, which will be liberally patronized, with some fine music.

—In our mention of the surprise party at Mr. Arthur F. Head's we should have said that it was Mr. Samuel A. Tufts who engineered the financial part of the programme instead of W. C. Tufts. Mistakes will happen in the best regulated families sometimes.

—As an indication of the high esteem in which Mr. James I. Hanson, Principal of the Woburn High School, is held by his pupils the Senior Class of that institution, on the day of his departure for Florida, presented him a beautiful bouquet of flowers, attached to which was a card bearing this inscription "With the best wishes of the class of '87."

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1886.

—Our esteemed townsmen, Prof. Elmore A. Pierce, conducted a splendid concert of War Songs at East Weymouth lately. The concert was a great success and the local press gave Prof. Pierce warm praise for the admirable manner in which it was conducted by him.

—The final entertainment of the Board of Trade course will be a concert by the famous and very popular St. Church Male Quartet. Our readers will understand that this means a splendid musical treat. It is expected that Lyceum Hall will be filled to overflowing.

—We call attention to the card of "Steinographer" in our advertising columns. The teacher ought to be able to procure a large class here, for it is a very useful art, and one that a great many of our young people would be well to learn. The terms will be very reasonable.

—The Woburn Coal Company are dealing in all the varieties of coal used in this community for heating, steam and domestic purposes, and of the best quality. Mr. E. D. Newton, the Company's agent, respectfully invites the people to call and examine their stock and prices.

—Mrs. Cheever has a nice display of Christmas goods at her neat and cheerful millinery shop on Montvale Avenue, to an examination of which she invites the public. There are beautiful autograph albums, cards, dolls, and many other things, all of which Mrs. Cheever sells very cheap.

—Speaking of the Medford company bank the Riverside News of last week says: "There are now over 200 shareholders and the number is constantly increasing. The bank is being very successfully operated and Medford people can do better in it than they can by going into the corporations in Boston."

—Principal Hanson of the Woburn High School left town last Tuesday for a sojourn in Florida with a view of recruiting his health. He has many warm friends here and they all earnestly hope that the object of his Southern visit will be fully accomplished and that he may return to his post in the High School in good, sound health.

There is no need of going to Boston for a Christmas dinner, for everything that the heart of man could desire in the line above indicated can be obtained at our markets. Please bear this in mind, gentlemen, when contemplating the subject of tomorrow's dinner to-day.

—At its last meeting the Woman's Club was addressed by Dr. Salome Merrill, on the subject of "Heredity." She spoke concisely and vigorously, stating the laws that govern being, showing the tendency of all forms of life to repeat themselves in form and feature, longevity, muscular strength, voice, manner, traits of character, etc., and demonstrating how completely we are controlled by forces which we have no power to resist. The subject is not only very interesting but extremely important and could be treated better by a series of lectures than by an afternoon talk. The paper afforded much instruction and was listened to with great interest. Miss Heloise E. Hersey, Professor of Literature at South College, will address the Club on Jan. 7. Her subject will be: "The Modern Novel and its Relation to the Modern Woman."

—Mr. S. Horton has filled the Old Woburn Bookstore with handsome things for the holidays. There are beautiful books, cards, annuals, toys and other goods for gifts, and besides all these he has just received a great variety of diaries for 1887. Of these all sorts of shapes, sizes and prices may be seen on Mr. Horton's counters, and this is just the time to buy.

—The Novelty Works have a large stock of beautiful pictures appropriate for holiday presents, to an examination of which the public are respectfully invited. Their admirable view of the Woburn Public Library elegantly framed is one of the best articles for a Christmas gift that can be made, and the visitor will find many other things to do for them.

—Last Wednesday evening Mishawum Lodge, No. 61, A. O. U. W., elected the following officers: P. M. W., Thomas J. White; M. W., L. B. Chapman; Foreman, S. E. Kendrick; O., Frank Charman; R., Frank J. Buxton; Fin., Webster Woodman; Rec., Henry F. Davis; G., Albert G. Jones; Med., Ex., Seth W. Kelley; Trus., A. A. Jones; Del., G. L., L. W. Titus.

—Mr. S. B. Goddard has filled the Old Woburn Bookstore with handsome things for the holidays. There are beautiful books, cards, annuals, toys and other goods for gifts, and besides all these he has just received a great variety of diaries for 1887. Of these all sorts of shapes, sizes and prices may be seen on Mr. Horton's counters, and this is just the time to buy.

—Mr. S. B. Goddard has been appointed Agent for the Angle Nevada Insurance Company of San Francisco, California. This Company has a paid-up capital of two millions in gold. This is the only Company ever organized in the United States with so large a capital paid up at the time of its organization. Mr. Goddard has no "pony" companies in his agency. It costs no more to insure.

—The slippery walking of last Tuesday evening at the Chautauqua circle. Yet the session was one of marked interest and profit. Mr. Allen, of the Woburn Advertiser, was present, and gave an informal but most interesting talk upon the process of making a directory, detailing in a very clear and satisfactory manner the various steps. Comparisons are odious, they say, therefore we will not compare our directory with that of any other town, and was nearly discouraged when I providentially came across Dr. Seth A. Achard's "Handy Guide to the Chautauqua Circle." It is a very good guide, and I will not be surprised if it becomes as popular as the one I have used with the great deal of interest, and some of them have gone so far as to even wonder what the Christmas Tree will bear for them. On Sunday there will be a Christmas sermon by Mr. Wright, the pastor, music and appropriate decorations.

—Christmas services will be held in the Congregational church at 6:30 on Sunday evening. "Song of the Christ" will be the chief feature of the service.

WHY

GIVE SUCH POOR SERVICE ?

All of them do not give poor service, but you probably think so, because you do not discriminate between brands in buying your goods.

There are only 6 factories in the United States making strictly first quality of goods, but there are a dozen or more running on poor, low-priced Rubber exclusively.

Hence, unless you are posted and use caution, you are liable to supply yourself with a poor, unsatisfactory article.

For example, making first-class goods, the "CANDEE RUBBER CO." of New Haven, Conn., stands at the head of Style, Fit, and Durability.

We carry a stock of these most desirable Rubbers, and invite your inspection and solicitude.

WINCHESTER.

Mr. Emerson H. Alger from the Acton High School has been elected Principal of the Winchester High School.

The new Chapel is an assured thing. Land has been bought and a contract for the foundation has been made with constitutional prohibition.

The W. C. T. U. are having petitions freely circulated throughout the town asking the Legislature to take steps this winter towards giving Massachusetts constitutional prohibition.

I would have every lover of good music to remember the concert in the Unitarian course of entertainments to be given at the church on next Tuesday evening by some of the most accomplished and popular artists in Boston. The course will comprise five evenings, to which season tickets are $1.50, and single ones 50 cents.

I see the Woburn Journal sometimes quotes from "Points" in the "Star" — a good way to get advertised as the Journal is read long and wide. Editor Hobbs is a live and progressive man, who looks well after the good name of Woburn. He can pick with a pen of iron or smooth with a brush of roses. — "Points" in the "Star." Will somebody please hoop us?

WINCHESTER, Dec. 20, Ed. Journal: The annual meeting of the McAll Mission Circle will be held Sunday evening at the Baptist church. The Rev. J. C. Bracy, an accomplished speaker, who is at present the American Secretary, will deliver the address. A brief report will be read from M. Clouze of Paris, whom the Circle has helped to support during the last two years. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock. —S.

BURLINGTON.

The Literary Union have in preparation a fine entertainment, which will be given on an early date in January. The proceeds will be given to the purchase of street-lamps to light some of the dark corners of the town. Our young people deserve encouragement in their efforts for the benefit of society. From what we already know of the proposed entertainment it will be well worth patronizing. New members are joining the Union and great interest is felt in the plans proposed.

A very nice concert was given in the Town Hall, Burlington, December 8, by the Woburn Orchestra. More universal satisfaction was given by this entertainment than has been produced by any other within our remembrance. That we may again be favored in the same manner at a distant date is the earnest hope of the gratified audience. Any parts desiring first class Orchestra music are most sincerely recommended to give the Woburn Orchestra and we guarantee perfect satisfaction. —X.

Delays are not always advantages, so we advise buying early, as on Christmas week we expect several customers will call on us to look over our stock, and as we will employ only 37 clerks during the week, we fear some will not receive attention. So

Woman's Column.

Steering by Mother's Light.

By REV. EDWARD A. RAND.

Those who visited the Woman Suffrage Bazaar in Music Hall, Boston, last week, must have felt with Warrington that "Woman's hour had struck." Seldom do we see such an assembly of noted people as that which gathered at the opening of the Bazaar Monday evening. It was an occasion of inspiration and promise. Throughout the week, Music Hall was the scene of life, beauty, cheerfulness, and earnest work. The tables presented a striking refutation to the arguments commonly urged against the arguments commonly urged against Woman Suffrage. There were seen articles of use and beauty, essentially feminine in their origin and design. Neither man-like women nor womanly men could have furnished and arranged those tables. True women had presided over all and their handiwork appeared everywhere. So far were these suffragists from seeking to undermine the home, that all their gifts to the Bazaar, seemed designed for use or adornment in the home. Books were few in number, compared with pillows for tired heads, and articles for children abounded. The "Woman Suffrage Cook Book" is a wonder, in its way, and the names of Mary Livermore, Lucy Stone, and women of kindred minds appear under recipes for yeast, hard soap, salt-rising bread, etc., with the same grace and strength which so often emphasize calls for meetings and appeals to the people. Whatever may be the financial fortunes of the Bazaar, we feel assured that such earnest efforts of the reformers cannot fail to reach success in its highest form. We hope for funds to carry on the work, but more earnestly do we desire that those who sewed their first stitch or gave their first dollar for woman suffrage in the interests of the Bazaar may thereby be prompted to greater efforts and stronger belief, in the future.

Ten more years have passed since the holding of the last Suffrage Bazaar in Boston. During that time our gain in legislative votes has been inconsiderable. What we gained in the passage of a decade of years? Individually, a larger experience and a broader outlook. Collectively a sound and advancing position. The views of human right, upon which our claims are founded, have, in this time, been freshly presented to the community. The leaven of awakened conscience is working in the public mind, while no one of us has receded from the position originally taken the world itself has advanced to meet us, and the swing of society is in our direction. Another important gain we have made. A young generation has grown up around us, in which the freshness and vigor which belong to youth are beginning to range themselves on our side. College-bred women, women in business and in the professions, rise up to set at naught the sentences of inferiority, under whose ban our sex has so long rested. The special services which women are able to render to the public become more clearly recognized with every good deed which they achieve with every distinguished record to which they attain. To say that reverence for women has diminished in proportion as the merits of individual women have made themselves more and more felt, would be to affirm that mankind esteem, least that which is most worthy of esteem, and this, which may possibly be true of individuals here and there, is by no means true of society in general.

Nor must we rejoice only in the help which individuals of our own sex are already giving to the advancement of its interests. To noble men who, in public and private life, championed our cause, our thanks are equally due. In the past, those who have been foremost in the advocacy of human rights have placed our cause in the advancing line of true progress. Some of these have passed beyond the veil of the present, yet they are with us still in fearless memory. Thank God for them, and for those who still remain to work with us, and as Dante said in his youth, "I have now set my foot on that part of life from which to retreat is impossible."

A new undertaking always presupposes a new hope. Our suffrage work has now been many years in hand, and we cannot claim for it any new issue. But the younger generation, which is preparing to succeed the veterans of the cause, has in it some elements which are fresh, if not new. These youthful champions of equal rights for men and women have not waited, through long years, for the settlement of claims of which the justice is scarcely questioned. They have not again and again seen the "wolves appear" with which reason in arguments with which reason has had very little to do.

They do not know the fatigues of climbing the State House stairs quite as well as we do, nor the hot air of legislative halls, nor the sting of unmerited abuse, nor the heart-sickness of defeat. These experiences are in the past. The near future may have better things in store for us. Let us then join hands, young and old, new recruit and veteran, and surround the banner of our faith, whose victory is assured to us, by all the promises which lead our race to new endeavors, to new achievements. These promises, this victory, belong to the eternal and ideal Good, whose steadfast attraction controls the world of change and chance. Julia Ward Howe in Bazaar Journal.

Excitement in Texas.

Great excitement has been caused in the vicinity of Paris, Tex., by the remarkable recovery of Mr. J. E. Carley, who was so helpless and confined to his bed or raise him, and everyone said he was dying of Consumption. A trial battle of Dr. King's New Discovery was sent him. Finding relief, he bought a large bottle and a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills; by the time he had taken two boxes of pills and two bottles of the Discovery, he was well again, gained in flesh thirty-six pounds. Trial Bottles of this Great Discovery for Consumption free at W. W. Hill's.

A clergyman told an Indian he should love his enemies.

"Me do love 'em," replied the Indian. "What enemies do you love most?" "Rum and cider."

There are too many who thus cheerfully welcome thieves into their mouths to steal away their brains.

A toilet luxury in every respect, Ayer's Hair Vigor never fails to restore the youthful freshness and color to faded and gray hair. It also eradicates dandruff and prevents the hair from falling. —Forward.

Opisophoria.

By REV. EDWARD A. RAND.

He put his hands to his mouth as if he had put a speaking trumpet there, and then shouted through them: "Hul—! Hul—lo—o—o!"

There was no answer save that of the heavy wash of the sea at his feet.

Neither was there any thing to be seen, only a vast, thick curtain of gray mist falling everywhere over the sea.

He made another speaking trumpet of his hands and shouted again, but there was no response. Neither did the fog break before his piercing cry. Sullen and gray it hung over the sea.

"I don't see," said Pierre, "where the fishing boats are. And, of course, it don't do any good to call, but then, when one don't know what to do, why—why he will try anything. Guess I will go into the house and see mother."

He walked up the hard, sandy beach, climbed the hummocks in the rear, and then dropped down into a cozy valley that several aged willows overshadowed. Under one of these trees was Pierre's home.

"Any word from the boats?" asked a musical voice.

"That is mother," thought Pierre.

She was stooping over the fire, drift-wood that she had begun to make on the broad and blackened hearth.

"Any news from the boats?" she asked again. "It is time for the fisherman to be at home."

"Nothing," he said.

"Three boats went out," Pierre—I see three—your father's, your uncle Louis' and your uncle Pierre's."

Yes, three boats had gone to the fishing grounds just off, a rough, rocky point—three boats rocking on the reefs, surging sea.

"Four of the neighbors went with your uncle Louis."

"I know it mother. All men in a boat."

"And Cosette went in your father's."

"Good as a man!" Pierre's big sister, could manage a boat better than some men.

Besides Cosette, two others of the family were in that boat—Clem and Victor, Pierre's big brothers, strong and muscular.

"I saw the boat off the point, mother, two hours ago, and I could see Cosette standing in the stern of father's boat. Uncle Pierre's was farther out, its sail set and skipping away."

"God keep them!" murmured the mother. "I don't like to have them when the sea is rough. God keep them!"

"I will go out and see how things look now."

He soon came back and reported that the fog seemed to be scattering and the wind rising.

"Could you hear the waves off the Big Rock?"

"Yes, I could hear them."

The mother sighed again and again. The waves off "Big Rock" meant the greatest medical skill to effect a complete cure. "I am not a doctor," he said, "but I am a man of great persistency and often leaves the system polluted and prostrated. Just here Hood's Sarsaparilla does a vast amount of good, expelling impurities from the blood, giving it richness and vitality, while it strengthens and renovates the system.

"I think I will go up stairs," she murmured.

"It won't do any good, mother," cried Pierre, who knew what she proposed to do.

"I wish you only thought it would, Pierre."

He lighted a lamp, set it in the narrow window and then bowed her head in prayer. It was her habit on stormy nights, and Pierre had carelessly joked about it, and yet it was the same old story. The old sufferers from the system are prostrated and prostrated. Just here Hood's Sarsaparilla does a vast amount of good, expelling impurities from the blood, giving it richness and vitality, while it strengthens and renovates the system.

CHINESE ROYALTY'S HOME LIFE.

By REV. EDWARD A. RAND.

The following item is going the rounds of the newspapers:

"Dr. Mazzotti tells of a man who had a scorpion affection, which he set about to cure with whisky. He got well of this trouble, but became a hard drinker, and soon found himself the victim of a rare disease called opisophoria. This curious affection consists in inability to walk forward. When the patient is told to advance, he used every effort to do so, but could only succeed in going backward, and he continued to do so until he died."

This opisophoria is indeed a "curious" disease, but it is a trifling one. The doctor is a man of the Manchu language as his name, and he is a pupil of the Emperor. The tutor rises from his chair, and goes to implore his pupil to receive him, which is then returned in the same form. The tutor takes the seat of honor and when the lesson is learned, the pupil brings up his book, deposits it before his teacher, and returns to his seat to repeat the task by heart. If the lesson is not learned, the tutor requests a bunch in attendance to bring the ferule and make a show of administering correction, and the pupil is then examined by eight fellow-pupils known in the Manchu language as ha-chu, who study the same books as their young master. When it becomes necessary to admonish the latter more seriously, the ha-chu are beaten with the ferule vicariously; but when the imperial pupil achieves a well, then are, on the other hand, commended or rewarded.

It is very sad, but the habit of drinking is sure to breed this disease, and the victim is never able to go ahead in anything. His movement is all backward. He sees his shopmates and old acquaintances getting on comfortably, feeding and clothing and educating their children well, laying up some of their earnings against a rainy day, and gaining the respect and esteem of their neighbors and townsmen; but the poor fellow who takes with the opisophoria can never keep up with them. He is even going the other way by order of the empress. ### SENATOR LOGAN'S DEATH.

Senator John A. Logan of Illinois died at Washington last Sunday afternoon. Although he had been suffering with rheumatism, an enemy of his of several years standing, it was not generally known that his condition was critical until Saturday night, and when his death was announced in the Monday papers the country was greatly shocked. The funeral will be held in the United States Senate Chamber today from whence his remains will be taken to Chicago for burial.

In the sudden and unexpected death of General Logan the Nation has lost one of its foremost statesmen, the Republican party an able leader, and the old soldiers a true friend and worthy comrade. The grief of no class of people over the great public loss will be deeper or more lasting than that of his old companions in arms. Full credit has never been given him for his intellectual qualities, but no one who knew him ever questioned his honesty and moral and physical courage, while his brilliant career as a soldier in the great Rebellion is pointed to as proof of his patriotism and fidelity to the Union. He left his seat in Congress to take up arms in defense of the Republic and never once faltered in the discharge of his high duty on the field or in the camp until the Rebellion was conquered and peace restored to the country he loved so well. He began in the ranks, but his great military talents, his courage, and his devotion to the cause, won for him the highest position and a renown that will never fade away. He was the idol of the soldiers in time of war and afterwards in peace, and in his death they have lost a true, honest friend.

Lacking the polish of tongue and manners which the schools give to men General Logan won his way to the highest and noblest civil positions and for years has been recognized as a great leader in the councils of the nation. He was a man of strong mental powers, of the strictest integrity, earnest and fearless for the right, and commanded the confidence and respect of all who knew him. His influence in Congress was second to that of no other man, and his State loved and honored him for his sterling worth and deeply deplored his untimely death. And thus are rapidly passing away the great men of our country.

A CITY CHARTER.

Considerable interest is manifested in the Town-meeting that is to be held next Wednesday evening to consider the question of a city charter and it looks as though it might be a large one. The sentiment in favor of an early movement to obtain a charter is, so far as we are able to judge, nearly unanimous, the opposition to it being found only among a few local politicians who think they see better opportunities for serving their small ambition in a town than under a city government. The business men and principal tax-payers favor the scheme almost to a man and common sense teachers that our present form of government has outlived its usefulness and ought to be changed for a different one. The whole question has been thoroughly discussed time and again in the columns of the JOURNAL.

Whether Woburn contains the requisite number of people to entitle it to a city charter remains to be proved. The way in which the fact, if it is a fact, shall be demonstrated is yet to be developed. That our population is considerably in excess of 12,000 hardly anyone doubts and so certain of it are those gentlemen who are in the most favorable position to know that they unhesitatingly advise prompt action in behalf of a charter. All signs point to a large increase of population since last May when it was within less than 150 of the number required. We hope the Town-meeting will be composed largely of our prominent business men, manufacturers and capitalists, and that they will go to it prepared to throw all necessary light on the subject, and to do that which may be thought best for the interests of the town.

The election of United States Senator to succeed Henry L. Dawes will take place in the Massachusetts Legislature on January 17. Gov. Robinson having rejected his determination under no circumstances to be a candidate Gov. Long is assured of an easy walk-over. Mr. Dawes a good man although a long way from being a great one or anything above respectable in quality, standing and influence, and having filled the position for nearly 15 years, and being 70 years old and upwards, it is time for him to retire from active political life and give younger and stronger men a chance.

A letter from Gov. Robinson to a member-elect of the incoming Legislature in which he emphatically repeats what he has said several times before, to wit, that he is not and will not be a candidate for the United States Senate this winter was published in the Boston papers last Wednesday. He is not in the race and wants no misunderstanding about it. That is Gov. Robinson all over. What is the Globe going to do about it?

Mr. J. B. McDonald advertises a nice house on Summer street to rent.

The singing at the 4 o'clock meeting Sunday will be led by the orchestra.

Neighbors, friends and patrons, we wish you all a "Happy New Year."

Last Monday evening Lincoln Assembly, No. 4588, elected officers.

Rev. Mr. Bixby of Arlington will preach at the Unitarian church next Sunday.

Rev. J. M. Taylor will preach Sunday in Fraternity Hall for St. Paul's Mission.

Mr. Ernest Richardson will charge of the 4 o'clock Y. M. C. A. Meeting Sunday.

Mr. Burgess publishes a card of thanks this week. Just for the notion of it read it over.

Read notice of loss of sable muff. The finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving the same at this office.

Buckman & White didn't sell quite all of their handsome Christmas goods, and so have some left over for New Year's.

Next week we will publish "Reminiscences of Rev. Joseph Bennett" written by our regular historical contributor.

Mr. P. J. Goodrich has sold his periodical depot and business to Mr. Moore, who will take possession tomorrow.

The boys and girls all know that Jenkins keeps the boss skates and that he is selling them very cheap. He has some daisies.

The Herald says the Woburn Polo team are almost invincible in their stronghold, meaning at Carter's, their home. It is so.

We have had good, close winter weather this week and the prospect is that there will be considerable more of it before next planting time.

The mercury ran down as low as zero on Wednesday night and Thursday morning, which may well be called pretty sharp winter weather.

C. A. Smith & Son publish a New Year's greeting in this issue of the JOURNAL which the good people here and hereaway will do well to read.

No "political significance" should be attached to the fact that Congressman Hayden did not come home and spend Christmas with his constituents.

There was a sprinkling of snow on Wednesday night some time, and it was cold and dreary on yesterday morning. January will be a dry, cold month.

Last Sunday evening David Roach of Salem fell on the sidewalk and was considerably injured. He was taken to the Police station and surgical aid summoned.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet in the parlor of the Methodist church, on Monday, Jan. 31, at 3 p. m. All ladies are cordially invited.

The Rt. Rev. B. H. Paddock D., Bishop of Mass., will make an annual visitation to Trinity Church, this evening. The Bishop will preach and administer the rite of Confirmation.

At the annual election of officers of the Grand Lodge, A. F. and A. M. at Tremont Temple, Boston, last Tuesday evening, William F. Davis of this place was appointed a member of the Committee on Returns.

We suggest a commission in this State on the beet sugar question, and nominate Farmer Marden, Farmer E. Russell and Farmer Harmon Hall of Saugus.—Boston Record, and Farmer Mark Allen of Woburn.

The concert given last Tuesday evening under the auspices of Post 33, G. A. R., by the Lynn Minstrels was a very fine one indeed. The hall was packed full of people, all of whom enjoyed the excellent music first rate.

Messrs. Tripp, the Montvale Avenue undertakers, have moved their residence from Scott street to the 2d house on the right hand side between Mt. Pleasant and East street, as their card next week will declare. They moved yesterday.

Our neighboring town of Woburn is again moving in the matter of securing a city charter. In one respect she is entitled to rank along side of Boston, Lowell, Lynn, etc., the rump element controls.—Arlington Advocate. Rough, but all too true, alas!

The exterior of the depot, walks, and tracks in front are now lighted by gas. The electric lights which were put up by the Sun Company merely as an experiment worked admirably, but as they could not be had permanently gas has been introduced instead.

Last Wednesday evening we received a letter from our friend Capt. Charles W. Converse, who is spending the winter at Marietta, Ga., and evidently enjoying life. The letter, or portions of it, will be printed in the JOURNAL at the earliest opportunity.

The Woburns beat the Parishes of East Boston 7 to 1 at Carter's last Wednesday evening. The Nodle Island chaps were nowhere along side of the stalwart Tanners. The Woburns are away ahead of all competitors and still carrying the pennant right along with them.

The Woburns and New Bedfords will play at Carter's Academy this evening. The Tanners and Whalers make the fur fly when they meet on the surface. It will be a big game this evening. Next Wednesday evening the Woburns and Boston will try it again at Carter's.

— The annual exhibition of the Eastern Middlesex Poultry Association which was held in the Town Hall at Stoneham from last Tuesday to yesterday, was a great success. The display of fowls was much larger than ever before, and all were well satisfied with the exhibition.

— No signs of a toboggan slide has fallen under our observation in the pleasant daily rambles which it is our habit to make about town. No reasons are adduced why this is thus, unless it be that there is no snow to speak of in these parts and no certainty that there will be.

— The Mendlesohn Club have rehearsed a choice selection of music which they expect to present to the public in about three weeks. Dudley Buck's 46th Psalm and Feast of Adonis by Jensen are included in their selection. It is hoped that the public will give them a generous support.

— Mr. E. D. Newton is the accommodating agent of the Woburn Coal Company, a successful business industry of this place. He respectfully invites the public to call and examine the large stocks of all kinds of coal used in this community, their excellent quality, and prices at which they are sold.

— The Barnaby song advertised in the JOURNAL last week was opened and the seeds counted last Saturday. It contained 419 seeds; 23 persons guessed that number, of whom Mr. George E. Fowle of this place was one. The prize was a fine piano, which was divided—not literally—among the 23.

— The finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving the same at this office.

— Buckman & White didn't sell quite all of their handsome Christmas goods, and so have some left over for New Year's.

— Next week we will publish "Reminiscences of Rev. Joseph Bennett" written by our regular historical contributor.

— Michael Ryan of Arlington street jumped from a moving train near the Main street crossing last Wednesday afternoon and was badly bruised. His face and head were cut up, and his whole system pretty well shaken up. He was taken to Hill's drugstore where Dr. Harmon attended to his injuries.

— Naturally trade is dull in town now that Christmas is gone. It is always so. People spent a good deal of their money for holiday presents and now they are compelled to hold up for a little and replenish the almost empty purses. Traders shouldn't feel "down in the mouth" because they are not selling as many goods as they were a week ago.

— Mr. John K. Murdock's new leather manufacturing establishment will be finished and ready to be occupied by the middle of January. It is a large building capable of accommodating 100 workers, which will be about Mr. Murdock's force when running full-handled. The factory is conveniently located near the railroad tracks.

All of them do not give poor service, but you probably think so, because you do not discriminate between brands in buying your goods.

There are only two factories in the United States making such boots and shoes, but there are a dozen or more running on poor, low-priced Rubbers exclusively.

Hence, unless you are posted and use caution, you are liable to supply yourself with a poor, unsatisfactory article.

Among the few Companies making first-class goods, the "CANDEE RUBBER CO." of New Haven, Conn., stands at the head of all for Style, Fit, and Durability.

We carry a stock of these most desirable Rubbers, and invite your inspection and solicit a trial.

A special convocation of Woburn Chapter of Royal Arch Masons was held at Masonic Hall Wednesday evening last for the purpose of installing officers for the ensuing year. All Masonic brethren and their ladies of Woburn and Winchester were invited and over two hundred were present. Alfred F. Chapman, Past grand High Priest of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of the United States, performed the ceremony in a very impressive manner, assisted by Companion Silway as Grand Capt. of the Host. The following are the officers elect and appointed: John W. Hutchinson, Burlington, M. E. H. Priest; C. Alonso Pierce, Woburn, E. King; George S. Littlefield, Winchester, E. Scribe; Frederic A. Flint, Woburn, Treasurer; Sparrow Horton, Woburn, Secretary; Rev. George Cooke, Winchester, Chaplain; James A. Brown, Woburn, Organist; P. Sojourner; Alex Cameron, Woburn, R. A. Capt.; George H. Conn, Woburn, M. D. Vail; Nathan W. Brown, Woburn, M. D. Vail; Edwin Robinson, Winchester, M. I. Vail; Etienne C. Colamb, Forest Hooper, of Woburn; Stewards; Lorcan W. Perham, Woburn, I. Sentinel; John E. Tidd, Tyler. After the ceremony, Nathan J. Simonds, Past High Priest, in behalf of members of the Chapter, presented an elegant Past High Priest Jewel to J. Winslow Richardson, the retiring High Priest. Mrs. M. E. S. Curtis then favored the company with some interesting recitations, which were warmly applauded. The party then proceeded to the Banquet Hall where a collation was enjoyed.

W. M. P.—War Songs.

The Woburn Mechanic Phalanx has arranged with Elmore A. Pierce to give his Grand Concert of War Songs in Lyceum Hall, Jan. 3, 1887, for the purpose of raising money to furnish their rooms at the Armory. This concert will be a great treat to our people. Mr. Pierce has given it in Boston in Music Hall before over 3000 people, and in Mechanics Fair Building to over 5000 people, and in Tremont Temple to over 3000 people, and also in nearly all the large cities in New England, always to immense audiences. It has been pronounced by the press everywhere to be a magnificent concert and the most popular and pleasing entertainment before the public. The soul-stirring War Songs and patriotic melodies when presented by such an excellent company as Mr. Pierce's always create the greatest enthusiasm. The arrangements for the concert are in the hands of the following efficient committee: Capt. Geo. A. Simonds, Lieut. Horace N. Conn, Corporal E. E. Foss, and Privates C. E. Carling and Mark Maddison. This concert promises to be quite an event in the history of this excellent military Company.

The birth column of the London papers is one of interest to thousands of people. A leading soap manufacturer in England sends a handsome cake of baby soap to every baby in Great Britain whose birth is advertised in the birth column of the Times, the leading paper of London.

Now, according to any paper in the world, the Boston Daily Globe, on week days or Sundays, will insert births for the low price of twenty-five cents each. To the parents of each baby in New England whose birth is announced in the Globe, daily or Sunday, will be sent a cake of the celebrated "Baby Soap," manufactured by Robinson Brothers & Co., of Boston. This soap is pure, made of the very best materials and richly perfumed. As many comments are being made in relation to the water pipes lately laid by the water commissioners and some statements made which are calculated to mislead an honest citizen, I just wish to assure the public that all the figures quoted are from the Water Board records.

BURLINGTON.

A social dancing party was held in the Town Hall, Friday evening of last week.

There was no public celebration of Christmas, but several families in town enjoyed the day at home with Christmas trees and the distribution of gifts.

Last Sunday evening, at the church, Mr. A. E. Brown of Bedford, delivered an excellent lecture on "New Resolutions." The subject was appropriate to the New Year season. By a graphic and forcible simile, the lecturer illustrated the various resolves for good which we should make at the beginning of the year. A large audience attended and exhibited much satisfaction with the address. It was expected that Mr. Brown would speak on "Temperance" and doubtless all would be glad to hear him on that subject at a future date.

An Unparalleled Gain.The year 1886 has been a magnificent year for the Boston Daily Globe. The Daily Globe had a circulation of 84,100. Now it has 104,000, a gain of 20,000 in one year. The Sunday Globe had 91,000 one year ago; now it has 105,000, which is about 14,000 more. I trust that the circulation of any other Sunday newspaper in Boston or the Sunday Globe has a larger circulation than any other Sunday paper in the United States, counting out New York. Boston and The Globe are to be congratulated on this achievement. If you do not read The Globe try it for 1887.Christmas.

There was a great rainfall on Friday night, but Christmas day was a typical one—clear, bright, cheery and altogether fairly lovely. Snow enough for sleighing would have been a blessing, but in lieu thereof there were hard roads and excellent wagoning. Bare ground however is not an ordinary Christmas characteristic, or didn't use to be, and many sighed for the good old slippings around on runners that they remembered once to have enjoyed. The suspension of business all about the town, the sort of solemn hush that settled down over the streets and the absence of humanity in them, produced a sort of semi-somnium that generally comes with a holiday and makes it seem so much like anything but what it purports to be. Where everybody goes to on a holiday is a problem that has never yet been solved, but that they nearly all go somewhere is a fact that cannot be truthfully denied.

Here in Woburn there were about the usual goings-on, commencing on Friday evening and ending on Sunday evening. In that period a great many good dinners were eaten here we dare say. There were family meetings and givings where the Christmas goose was picked and holiday pleasures abounded. There were social gatherings, some small and select, others large and more promiscuous, and so far as our knowledge extends Christmas cheer was among them all. The ministers preached Christmas sermons on Sunday, and choirs sang Christmas songs. The Sunday Schools gave Christmas concerto, all of them good, and generally well attended. There was some dancing in the halls, theatre-going, driving about the country, and take it all in all Christmas was well kept and pleasantly spent here.

Woman's Column.

DON'T MARRY A MAN TO SAVE HIM.

BY SARAH E. BOLTON.

A girl comes over from Oregon,
For a cardinal of the world, says,
But women of bold and brain and brawn,
"Come, marry these men to save them!"There are thousand here in these haunts of sin,
Spite and malice in game and gins,
Cupids without wings to make them sin,
"Come, marry these men to save them!"They have been somebody's pride and joy,
Somebody's pet and pampered boy,
Spite for a girl, and then a boy,
"Come, marry these men to save them!"You must be so dirty and pure and strong,
 Able to breast a lion the wrong;
Want to earn a living, and then a boy,
"Come, marry these men to save them!"You must be so gentle and helpless and young,
To be gentle and helpless as love's young dream,
And leaned upon when you seem to lean;
"Come, marry these men to save them!"You must be so ugly and kind and sweet,
Making a path for the greatest heart,
Up to the grace of the mercy-seat;
"Come, marry these men to save them!"O woman, you are sold at a fearful price,
If you are given to a man to save him;
And trust your soul to a chance device;
Don't marry a man to save him!A life that is pure needs a pure one in turn,
A being to love and not to spurn;
At last, love, love, love, always always,
Don't marry a man to save him!A woman's life is a precious thing;
Her love is a rose, withering;With a kiss, a smile, a touch, a spring?Don't marry a man to save him?You can pray for his soul to mourn till eve;
You can win the angels to bring reprieve;But a man's heart, but a man's always grieve
If you marry a man to save him?God gives to woman a right to press
Her claim to a man's best manliness;A woman gives, should a man give less?Don't marry a man to save him!

—Union Signal.

This year 1193 women in this city have registered to vote for school committee, as against 2238 last year, 1119 in 1884, and 701 in 1883. The falling off, so far as can be ascertained, is largely in the Roman Catholic vote. An effort was made, two years ago, by certain politicians to persuade the Roman Catholic women that there was an organized attempt on the part of the Protestant women to keep Roman Catholics off the School Board. A considerable number of Roman Catholic women were induced to register, and this, with the increased interest resulting, caused the women's vote last year to be doubled. The new movement, however, met with ecclesiastical discouragement in some quarters, most of the Roman Catholic clergy being opposed to woman suffrage. The subsequent action of the Protestant women also showed clearly that they had no wish to deprive the Roman Catholics of representation on the School Board. The excitement, which had been from the beginning perfectly groundless, subsided, and the vote this year has dropped about to what it was year before last. That eleven hundred women should show themselves desirous to vote on a question which calls out very little public interest among either men or women, and under special and vexatious hindrances to which men would not submit for a moment, is a rare example of public spirit.

Another cause of the falling off in the woman's vote this year is the unfortunate repeal, last winter, of a provision of the law of 1884 that the facts relating to residence shall be furnished to the registrars each year, prior to the close of registration. That provision enabled the registrars last year to put the names of all women on the list who sent in a certificate, instead of appearing in person. Such certificates were prepared in blank by the registrars, and sent to the office of the Woman's Journal for distribution.

The unprejudiced observer might well ask what manner of woman is it that a man has married, says a writer in Harper's Bazaar, who has so poor an opinion of her that he does not believe she will feel his interests as keenly as he himself feels them, does not perceive that their interests are mutual, and that they are working to the same end; does not want to save a dollar for the common good as much as he does, and is not willing to work as hard and go without as much in her own way. The unprejudiced observer might also ask if the husband, who is so close with his wife, considering it his, and not the family purpose, is actuated by no meaner motive than distrust; if his own outside and purely selfish pleasures would not be interfered with in the abstraction of funds if the wife were allowed to spend as she pleased. She has no cigars to buy, no drinks to take, no billiards to play, no expenses beyond those of her own, and the children's apparel according to her idea of propriety; and what is really a trifle in the way of his own expenditure is a vast sum of money to her. Women do not expect a great deal, speaking of them in the mass, and not of the scattered few who are the children of luxury. We have known a wife to burst into tears of joy at being given $25 to prepare her family of four with clothing for the summer, going without anything new herself; we have known one to take the money given to her by a brother for a needed article of clothing, and to buy with it a barrel of flour, rather than tell her husband the flour had come to an end; and we have known another to cut up every gown but one that she had in order to keep her girls fit for school while the husband appeared to know nothing of what was going on, and she sat in the chimney corner, never going out by day, growing old before her time, knowing and seeing almost nothing of the world through the want of decent apparel. And, if these are isolated instances of their kind, it is only because most husbands are not really mean, although they may have to be asked for what is wanted, and then may give it as a gift, considering themselves generous, while the wives feel that they have a right to the necessities of life, it no more, and that it should be theirs without asking. But in the most frequent case there is no expressed community of interest, so saying or implying that there is just so much available income, and how can it best be used; but in the majority of instances, if the wife wants an article of any sort to wear, she has to appeal to him, giving him a statement of her wishes and reasons, and convincing him of the necessity of it; she has to do the same if it is only a new pair of boots; and at the thought of a new bonnet she has to dread hearing a homily on female vanity and the idleness of fashions, while she would be surprised at herself if she had a 50-cent piece in her pocket with which to answer a call of charity or buy a spool of silk. Nothing could have been devised to make her more surely feel her inferiority, or to teach it to the children who see money doled out to her as it is doled out to them. If, under such circumstances, the wife supplies herself with small change to a surreptitious way, fleching from his pockets a dime or a nickel at a time, till she can at any rate, take a ride in a street car without asking, and if, by means of that, it happens that his children are the children of a thief, and are, perhaps, born kleptomaniacs, he has himself to thank for the baseness that has been achieved—himself and his habit of making the handling of money the criterion of sense and authority.

TROUBLE IN THE CAMP.

A Decision That Has Caused Much Discontent in the Salvation Army.

The recent autumn maneuvers of the Salvation army in England were highly successful. The Amens artillery challenged great admirations and was especially effective at long-range practice. The Hallelujah infantry, which were recently equipped with new drums and tambourines, maintained the old-time esprit de corps.

When the Salvation cavalry came into view a laughable incident occurred, for a religious hobby-horse took the bit in his mouth and caressed and pranced all over the field with a Salvation army lieutenant, who was utterly unable to hold him. Among the corps who were present were the Amens, the Blood and Fire Fencibles, "the Cold Steel Guards" (Baptist), "the Royal Seven Devil Brigade," "the Petticoat Lane Light Cavalry," "the Cheapside Cuirassiers," "the Collection Plate Dragoons," "the Mosaic Veterans," and "the Mount Ararat Invincibles."

A large part of the army are to be armed with repeating sermons. Since going into winter barracks the Salvation Army, to speak disrespectfully of their uniforms, are all the same. The Amens, who are the Amens, the Blood and Fire Fencibles, "the Cold Steel Guards," (Baptist), "the Royal Seven Devil Brigade," "the Petticoat Lane Light Cavalry," "the Cheapside Cuirassiers," "the Collection Plate Dragoons," "the Mosaic Veterans," and "the Mount Ararat Invincibles."

White on the subject of Andros may I be allowed to mention two rather curious superstitions current among the inhabitants of that interesting island? The interior of the northern part of the island consists of a great number of hills interspersed with patches of rocky ground on which the Bahama pine (P. bahamensis) grows thickly. The negroes have a great dislike to entering these pine woods alone, or even in small companies, for they say that a peculiar race of malevolent being, called "little people," inhabit the trees. These creatures are said to be like tiny men covered with white hair. They sit on the pine boughs, and if a man notices them and points them out to his companion, the whole party is rendered immovable for a day and a night; but, if fire is thrown at the "little people," they disappear without doing any harm.

The other superstition also relates to the pine woods. Creatures like enormous hairy men, called by the negroes "Yahoos," are said to march about the island in the winter. The largest coming first; and when they come, they are said to be "the last of the Yahoos."

I have been a practicing physician for twenty-four years, and, for the past twelve, have suffered from annual attacks of Yahoos. After exhausting all the usual remedies.

Without Relief,

I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It helped me immediately, and effected a speedy cure. —G. Stoevel, M.D., Carrollton, Miss.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is decidedly the best for the cure of chronic Bronchitis, and all lung diseases.

M. A. Rus, M. D., South Park, Pa.

I was attacked last winter, with a severe cold, and had to give up my work and finally settled on my lungs. By night sweats I was reduced almost to a skeleton. After exhausting all the usual remedies.

Cured By Using

two bottles of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I am now in perfect health, and able to resume business, after having been prostrated, incurable by Consumption. —S. P. Ordway &amp; Co., Boston.

For years I was in a decline. I had weak lungs, and suffered from Bronchitis and Catarrah. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral restored me to health. I am now in perfect health, and am able to work again.

Two years ago I suffered from a severe bronchitis. The physician attending me became feeble, and the patient would turn to another. After trying various medicines, without benefit, he finally prescribed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which relieved me in a short time, and was cured. —Ernest Colton, Logansport, Ind.

Electricity as a Remedy.

Electricity is becoming the favorite remedy for what might be called the invalid set. It is good for everything, for everything from cancer to mumps.

The husband might be sent to India with his battalion to save and mind the children in the field, and to prevent mortal incursions. Under the old system a child of the Salvation light infantry often married a veteran skirrisher of the "Blood and Fire Fencibles," or a young and pretty tambourine player in the "Flying artillery" gave her hand and heart to an ancient drummer of the "Mosaic veterans." Husband and wife are separated for many years. The husband is different from the wife.
